JAPAN, with the highest baby death rate in the world, appoints a government commission to remedy the evil. This nation, with the highest death rate of any civilized nation for mothers' in childbirth, does nothing to remedy the evil and disgrace.

But if there is mortality among calves or young pigs or their mothers we see to that.

BECAUSE of hold-up men and better banking facilities, 4,700 employes of the United States Bureau of Engraving and Printing work on part time.

Those employes manufacture American money. When put in payrolls, our modern bandits steal it and shoot a few. Many firms now use checks instead of cash.

Last year, seven billion checks were drawn in this country, 70 checks for each of 100,000,000 people.

POSTMASTER - GENERAL NEW broadcasts important facts concerning air travel.

Air mail had only one line, from New York to San Francisco, two years ago. Now it reaches most of the important American cities and spreads out to Canada, Cuba, Panama and other Central American cities.

Government mail pilots fly 25,000 miles every day, the distance around the earth at the equator, and before the year ends daily air mail flights will have increased by 5,000 miles.

ALL this aircraft development is due to the post office, for which the people will be grateful.

Observe that the post office is government-owned and operated. Perhaps other useful developments would come if our "best minds", which means our biggest pocketbooks, would allow government to extend its activities.

Much praised private ownership, represented by railroads, has not done much pioneering, although airplanes interest railroads, since they threaten dangerous competition.

A start in flying has been promised, however, by the Pennsylvania and Santa Fe, and others will wake up, gradually. The New York Central plans a start.

SCHOOLS of investment for "ladies with a little money" are needed everywhere. Women inheriting money keep it, on the average, about two years. Then some kind adviser, a man, of course, gets it, or makes the owner lose it through his foolishness.

IN NEW YORK, a nurse, 52 years old, about to retire from hard work, kills herself. Her life's savings had been lost in a mining swindle. Real estate sharks, oil sharks, all kinds of sharks, swindle women. They believe, poor things, what they want to believe, that they are to be made rich.

WOMEN should not invest in what THEY DO NOT UNDERSTAND. They should not buy land that they have not seen, and having seen it, they should think it over, examine it several times, consult some skeptical friend, then wait a month, and see it again.

DON'T believe fairy tales. Ask yourself, "Just how would I, me, myself, not somebody else, actually make a living out of that land? Or, if it is to be sold at a profit, how do I know that I can sell it at a profit? And why doesn't the man keep it and take the huge profit himself?

If you are leaving money to wife or daughters, fix things so that no other man will be able to get it from them.

RETAIL meat prices in Chicago are highest in years, and the porterhouse steak war price, $1 a pound, is expected.

That suits Republicans, although it does not suit the housekeeper.

Give the farmer $2 wheat and cattle 20 cents on the hoof, and his cares that infest the day will fold their tents like the Arabs, and he will vote the good old Republican ticket.

A NATIONAL committee for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment has sent out 1,200,000 letters.

It might send out 1,200,000,000,000,000,000 letters and still the Eighteenth Amendment would not be repealed. PROHIBITION WILL STAY IN THE CONSTITUTION, because you could never get the necessary 38 states to vote it out.

THE only hope of the thirsty is for a change in Volstead's law and that hope is faint. The real hope is the bootlegger, if you can swallow his merchandise.

OUR innocent government is the bootleggers' best friend. It releases floods of pure alcohol, and is amazed to learn that 30,000 gallons here, 100,000 gallons there, go into bootleg whisky, not into perfumes or hair tonics.

Seventy-five Chicago gentlemen are said to have made $100,000,000 on such transactions. And because it would have embarrassed the government they said nothing about income taxes.

MERCHANTS always have their troubles, even in prosperous times. In this country young gentlemen go bareheaded, thinking it manly or stylish, foolishly permitting ultra violet rays to batter their little brains.

That hurts the hat business.

In France ladies have their legs painted a beige tint in pleasant imitation of South Sea ladies, and that hurts silk stocking makers.

The stocking business fights the leg-painting beauty parlors, producing stockings that imitate zebra skin.

YOUTH, ROMANCE MEET IN LOVE STORY OF TIN PAN ALLEY

CHAPTER I.

TOWARD evening the corner where she worked filled up quickly with soft dusk.

It would roll in a sooty tide on the rough, bare floor, rising along the desks, drowning the typewriter. Last of all it would run up the walls and hang there like gray chiffon against the whitewashed bricks and she would feel herself melting into the vagueness, warm with pleasure.

Her work would be finished then. So she'd sit for a moment, hands together, lashes dropping shadows on her cheeks, thinking of the day just gone. And little thrills of joy would rush over her when she remembered that now she was a part of this great, busy office.

Twilight flowing about her like an artist's brush, painting her hands very slender, very white. Drawing her hair down smoothly, darkly; folding it in black wings against a sweetly chiseled oval of face; whimsically lifting the corners of her lips.

Little Marie Karey, glancing up suddenly over a last envelope on a pile beneath her desk light, would smile into the gray at her dear, dear chum.

"Ione!" And, when there was no answer, "Ione Farr! 'Course I don't blame you for dreaming. Know who you're like, sitting there in the dark?"

"Well—"

"A young St. Cecilia! No—I mean it, Io! If I had your profile!"

Little Marie was all mahogany and pink; red-brown hair and eyes; sea-shell tints in her skin. But a small, pert face was hers to match a small, pert figure. And a gamin nose.

"Why, Marie—" Laughter bubbled and broke in ripples. "Why, listen!"

They looked at each other across the little space between their desks. A dim, steady beating disturbed the air; a muffled sound like the vibration of distant drums. Or heels knocking the floor in jazz rhythm make a noise like that. It murmured beneath snatches of clashing tunes that penetrated the wall at the end of the long room.

"You see? St. Cecilia," Ione giggled, "of Tin Pan Alley!"

"Flippant! But it's true, Io. You are like that sometimes—so calm. I like to look at you."

Ione laughed again, happily. Her first job this was; she had been here only a month. Marie, who also lived up in Lyall on the west shore of the Hudson, and had worked here a year, had brought her in one morning. And they had let her stay.

A music house, the Weimar Publishing Company—greatest in all New York, perhaps. And all of them so kind in spite of the mistakes she made!

"Ah—you'll learn! Don't mind now—everyone has to learn."

Mr. Benz, the big, genial fellow they called "Eddie," always was telling her that. Office manager he was, and he'd stop with his huge shoulders hunched over her desk, laughing down at her, making her feel all fluttery someway.

He would stop here, humor playing over his dark face, white teeth flashing, and drop a broad, sleek hand on her notebook, turning the leaves.

"You like independence, then? Going out in the world? And you, such a child—ah, I've seen no working papers, fair one!"

Her lashes would fly up and a startled look come swiftly into her eyes, so strangely blue beneath night-black hair.

"But I'm eighteen!" All atremble, she would say it again, though she had told him before. "Indeed, I'm all

DOWNTOWN CAFE SAFE CRACKED, $1,000 TAKEN

A gang of yeggs, busy during the last few weeks cracking safes in downtown business houses, added another to their string early today and escaped with $1,000.

This morning it was discovered that the safe in Stouffer's restaurant, 618 Smithfield street, had been dragged into the girl's dressing room and forced open. The moving of the safe and the method of opening it was similar to otther safe cracking in the Clark building and on the North Side.

The combination knob was knocked off, holes drilled around the combination mechanism and then the doors were pried open with jimmies. The robbers had forced a door from a rear hall to enter the restaurant.

James Switzer, manager, discovered the robbery when the restaurant was opened for business.

Four men, believed to be members of the same gang, were fired upon by Patrolman Joseph Zuby when he discovered them attempting to force an entrance to the I. W. Scott Company building, 400 Duquesne way, early today The men fled in an automobile.

CAN A WIFE BE HAPPY WITH JOB, FAMILY, HOME?

"Half Wives" is here!

The opening installment of Winifred Van Duzer's latest, and considered by many her best novel, started in today's Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

"Half Wives" deals with the problem, vital to every young man and woman: "Can a woman have a home, a family, a job, and be happy?"

The problem that "Ione" must solve is her battle with love and a monotonous existence in the city, against a home with babies and a flower garden.

Because the problem is so vital to modern youth, the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph is offering cash prizes totaling $350 for the best opinions of "Half Wives" and similar problems in the lives of its readers. Letters on it, not to contain more than 300 words, should be mailed to the "Half Wives Contest Editor" after the last installment of the story.

CHAUFFEUR DOZES, 2 KILLED IN CRASH

Nathan Friedberg, 52, of 6109 Stanton avenue, secretary-treasurer of the Triangle Theater Corporation of Pittsburgh, and his chauffeur, Earl Webb, Negro, were killed instantly early today when the auto in which they were riding struck a telephone pole and overturned on the Lincoln highway three miles east of Gettysburg. Mr. Friedberg was returning to the city from a vacation at Atlantic City.

There were no witnesses to the accident and police investigating said that the chauffeur apparently had fallen asleep at the wheel.

Mr. Friedberg was a member of the board of directors of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of Western Pennsylvania and was active in the board's affairs. Unmarried, he made his home with a sister, Mrs. Sarah Amdur.

WYKOFF BEATEN IN 100 METERS

OLYMPIC STADIUM, AMSTERDAM, July 30.—(AP.)—Losing out in all three of today's final events in the Olympic track and field competition, the United States athletes saw the Olympic 100-meter championship go to Canada, the 400-meter hurdles to England and the hammer throw to Ireland, all in upsets of varying degrees.

The best the Americans could do in these events was to place fourth and sixth in the dash, second and third in the hurdles and third, fifth and six in the hammer.

The winners were comparative unknowns in two of three events, while Lord Davy Burghley, of England, who won the 400-meter hurdles, was listed as one of the most promising contenders, but was given little chance to beat the American, Morgan Taylor, who was defending his championship won in 1924. Taylor was only third today, being beaten by his countryman, Frank Cuhel, of Iowa, as well as by Burghley. The time was 53 2-5 seconds, which was nearly as good as Taylor has done, but was fast considering the track.

BIG UPSET IN SPRINT

Percy Williams, British Columbia schoolboy, sprang the big surprise in the 100 meters by defeating the world's best, including the highly-rated Americans, Frank Wykoff and Bob McAllister, who could do

DAVIS CUP REMAINS WITH FRENCH TEAM

ROLAND GARROS STADIUM, AUTEUIL, France, July 30.—(AP.)—France won the Davis Cup challenge round, 4 matches to 1, when Henri Cochet defeated Bill Tilden and Rene LaCoste won over John Hennessey, of the United States, in the concluding singles matches today.

Tilden was beaten in straight sets by scores of 9-7, 8-6, 6-4.

With the issue already settled, Hennessey then put up a hard fight only to bow by scores of 6-4, 1-6, 5-7, 3-6.

Tilden won the only match of the series for the United States when he defeated LaCoste last Frday. Yesterday Tilden and Hunter lost to Cochet and Jean Borotra in the doubles.

Cochet thus was the hero of the challenge round, with a perfect record of three victories.

Big Bill put up a gallant fight against his brilliant little French opponent, but showed the effects of

Will Gene Say 'Yes' Or 'No'?

International News Service.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Gene Tunney, king of heavyweight fighters, will formally announce his retirement from the prize ring this week, according to his manager, Billy Gibson.

Tunney will issue a formal announcement of his retirement as heavyweight champion of the world tomorrow, it is expected.

Tunney failed to announce his retirement today, as had been expected in many quarters, the champion explaining to assembled newspaper men that a mistake had been made in scheduling the release of his "important announcement" for this afternoon.

SICK OF CRITICISM

Without exception, his close friends say that this statement will be to the effect that he is through with boxing forever and that he desired to abdicate the championship.

No inkling of such intention has come from Tunney himself. Publicly, the titleholder has stoutly denied the ever-recurring story that he was about to step out.

But behind the scenes, to his close friends, he has been saying that his match with Tom Heeney would be his last appearance in a ring. He is "sick and tired" of the constant criticism and his pride

NIGHT CLUB "QUEEN" AND 107 INDICTED

NEW YORK, July 30.—(AP.)—A Federal grand jury today indicted 108 persons, including Texas Guinan, Queen of the night clubs, and Helen Morgan, another night club hostess, and N. T. Granlund, radio announcer for Station WHN, as an aftermath of the sensational dry raid on Broadway's cabarets last month.

The indictments charge conspiracy to violate the prohibition law and the maintenance of nuisances.

ORDERED BY WILLEBRANDT

The raids, undertaken on orders from Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant United States attorney general, were made by agents, mostly from Washington, dressed in evening clothes, who, it was said, had been frequenting the raided resorts for months posing as wealthy visitors.

Miss Guinan was not athe night club where she is hostess when the raiders arrived.

Miss Morgan, said to have been singing when the squad descended on her place, was reported to have slipped into the cloak room to have changed clothes with the girl attendant and escaped.

Both Miss Morgan and Miss Guinan appeared later before a United States Commissioner and were held in $1,000 bail each on charges of maintaining nuisances. They both pleaded not guilty, claiming they merely acted as hostesses.

The night of the raid all New York's prohibition agents were called to headquarters and kept in a room without communication with the outside until the hour for the raid. Then they were detailed with the out of town agents.

MACHINE STRAW VOTE ENTERS IT'S FINAL WEEK

The final week of the voting machines, on which Pittsburghers have expressed their preference as between Hoover and Smith for President, started this morning. These machines, demonstrated under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, have registered more than 33,800 votes, a generous proportion of the voting public of the community.

In closing the machine straw vote, The Sun-Telegraph is satisfieed that it has given Pittsburghers ample opportunity to study the mechanical ballot and to learn how it operates. In November the people of the commonwealth will decide at the polls whether or not the mechanical voting system will supplant the present box system in elections.

The most satisfactory feature of the balloting is the continued lively interest among all classes of people in the voting machine. The young women attendants were kept busy answering questions regarding the operation, safety and important phases of the machines' use.

Today McKeesport and Braddock received the voting machines, one to remain at each community for the week. The one at McKeesport is in the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Station, and that at Braddock in The Smoke Shop, 735 Braddock avenue. Bridgeville had a gala day last Saturday registering its preference on the machine.

PILOT

CAPTAIN

Thomas Lewis, Troop 238, Mt. Washington, drew the largest assignment of the day. He took over the task of directing the operation of the boat for Capt. John R. Douglas. So he stood on the bridge with binoculars.

ENGINES

Down among the engines, Frank Goss, Troop 1, Glenshaw, was doing his bit. Here he follows instructions from Chief Engineer Cecil Wright. When he is proficient he can use the longer oil can, he was promised.

IMPORTANT

This, the most important job on the vessel, was taken over by Miles Sweeney, Troop 38, Mt. Washington. He helped the second cook and many were the potatoes he peeled during the course of the day's journey!

IMPATIENT

Jody Harris, Troop 56, Wylie avenue, is an eater. He will eat anytime. Impatience overcame him in this instance and he elbowed Chief Cook Middleoff out of his own galley and took a hand in the dinner himself. The Scouts spent almost a whole day on the river trip.

YOUTH WHO KILLED FOR LOSS OF LEG DIES

ROCKVIEW, Pa., July 30.—Hobbling along on crutches, between two priests, Joseph Kamenisky, 20, of Jessup, went to his death in the electric chair at the state penitentiary here at 7 o'clock this morning. He paid for the death of Dr. Gerald Kelly, who had recommended the amputation of the boy's leg.

He was the second cripple to go to the chair and the one hundred and eighty-fourth man electrocuted in the Rockview Penitentiary.

Kamenisky, accompanied by the [illegible] r Francis P. McCreesh [illegible] ev. Father Andrew E. [illegible] latter of Jessup, en- [illegible] death chamber shortly after 7 o'clock this morning. With the straps and electrodes applied he was given one contact at 7:02 o'clock, and was pronounced dead by Dr. C. J. Newcomb at 7:08 o'clock.

As the condemned man marched to the chair, supported by crutches on account of the amputation of his right leg, he repeated a prayer after the priests. A brother of Dr. Kelly witnessed the execution. The body was claimed by relatives and will be sent to Jessup for burial.

LEG AMPUTATED

Injured in a mine accident in 1925, his right foot was so badly mangled that it was necessary to amputate the leg below the knee. Dr. Kelly recommended the amputation of the foot against the protestations of the patient and other members of his family. The boy, only 17 at the time, recovered from the operation, but held a grudge against the physician, it was testified at his trial.

On March 12, last, Kamenisky went to Wilkes-Barre, bought a revolver and the next day went to Scranton, spent the night in a hotel and on March 14 went to Dr. Kelly's office in Scranton. The physician was out at the time and Kamenisky lay down on a couch and slept until the doctor returned. As he started to talk to the doctor upon the latter's return, he whipped out a revolver and fired, remarking, "That is for my leg." After shooting the doctor he went to a motion picture show, where he was later arrested and admitted the crime. He pleaded guilty in May and was sentenced to death by Judge Newcomb. The pardon board refused to interfere and last week Gov. Fisher swept away his last chance for life by rejecting a plea for a reprieve for a mental examination.

has been hurt by his inability to win popularity.

Only once in the history of the heavyweight division has a champion retired, and even he did not keep his word. Jim Jeffries was in a similar position to that occupied by Tunney when he resigned the title in 1905. The California Grizzly had beaten every contender in his division, most of them twice. But even though he had been out of the ring for five years, Jeffries was persuaded to return against Jack Johnson, the Negro, in 1910. He was knocked out.

WOMAN'S CHARGE JAILS FLIRTY PRISON OFFICIAL

Accused of annoying a woman pedestrian in Federal street, North Side, early today, Wilbur M. Yocum, assistant purchasing agent at the Western Penitentiary, was sentenced to pay $50 or serve 30 days in the workhouse by Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court today.

He was arrested on complaint of Mrs. Stella Larimer, 35, of 128 South Beatty street, who testified that Yocum, sitting in an automobile in Federal street, near North avenue, invited her into his auto at 1:30 o'clock this morning. When she refused, he renewed the offer several times, and threatened to arrest her if she did not do so, she told police. She summoned a patrolman.

Yocum told the magistrate he had been drinking.

TO IGNORE WHITE

By RAYMOND I. BORST.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., July 30.—Gov. Al Smith has decided to ignore the latest attack made on his legislative record by William Allen White, Kansas editor, but when he returns to New York on Wednesday he probably will have something more to say to former U. S. Senator Robert L. Owen, because of the latter's announced intention to bolt the Democratic party.

The governor is enjoying a brief vacation at Hampton Bays, a few miles west of here, and he made it plain today that he intends to devote all of his time for the next two days to swimming and golf and to forget about national politics.

WILL IGNORE WHITE

Recently the governor made a bitter attack upon White because the latter pictured his legislative record as being friendly to the saloon and liquor traffic. This brought a reply from White, but the governor will ignore it.

When former Senator Owen announced he would not support Smith because of his Tammany affiliations and his wetness, the governor promptly countered with the announcement that four years ago Owen asked him to induce the Tammany delegation at the national convention to support him for presidential candidate.

When the governor was asked if he would comment on White's latest broadside, he replied:

"No, and that also goes for Owen."

Close friends of the Governor predicted today, however, that he is loading his political gun and that as soon as he gets back to New York he will take another shot at Owen.

He denied he would confer with farm leaders as soon as he returns to the city.

"I don't know anything about such a conference," he said.

The Governor was to play golf today at the Shinnecock Hills golf course with his son, Arthur. When the Governor said he had not played the Shinnecock course in two years, someone asked him if he considered his golf game had improved in that time.

GAME BETTER—ON PAPER

"Off the record," he said, smiling, "it's getting worse every day. But on the record, steady improvement."

With Mrs. Smith and members of their family, the governor went to St. Rosalie's Church yesterday, a short distance from Hampton Bays

"I'll write part of your story for you," the governor told reporters afterwards. "Take this down."

"When the governor left church, he was greeted on the highway by visitors to the summer resorts adjacent to Hampton Bays and by many permanent residents of Long Island who have known the governor and who have seen him going back and forth to church for 20 years."

The governor leaned back in his chair and asked:

"How is that for reporting?"

As soon as the governor returns to Albany he will settle down to work in earnest on the final draft of the address he will deliver on August 22, when he is to be formally notified of the nomination.

no better than fourth and sixth, respectively. McAllister and Legg, of South Africa, who was given fifth place tentatively, finished so close together that the final award of places had to be postponed until movies of the race could be studied. Jack London, British Negro, and George Lammers, the German, took second and third in the race, which was won in 10 4-5 seconds, one-fifth second slower than the Olympic record.

DON GWINN PLACES

Irish-Americans had been romping off with the hammer-throwing championship for Uncle Sam repeatedly in past Olympics, but this time an Irishman, throwing for Ireland, won when Pat O'Callaghan got the ball away 168 feet 7½ inches, to beat Ossian Skold of Sweden by four inches. Edmund Black, the best of the Americans, was a poor third, more than seven feet behind, while his teammates, Don Gwinn of the University of Pittsburgh and Frank Conners trailed the Italian Poggioli, who was fourth.

FORD, 65, SAYS WORLD NEEDS MEN PAST 50

International News Service.

DETROIT, July 30.—Without the guidance of men over 50, the "youngsters" would make a mess of running this old world, Henry Ford indicated today as he celebrated his sixty-fifth birthday by attending to his routine tasks at the Ford Motor Company.

Ford was up early and went for a short walk. Later he met newspapermen while making the rounds of his various plants. Ford appeared to be in the best of health and declared he expects to do more in the next five years than in the last 20.

Ford returned to Detroit at midnight Saturday after paying a flying visit to his old friend, Thomas A. Edison. He made the trip by automobile via Delaware Gap, Pa. Ford denied that he was a spectator at the Tunney-Heeney fight, as reported over the radio.

"Some men of 65 perhaps should not do too much running and jumping," he said, "but that is no reason why they should not do as much work with the mind as ever—and better work."

"Isn't there an age limit somewhere?" he was asked.

"I haven't found it yet. You take all the experience and judgment of men over 50 out of the world, and there wouldn't be enough left to run it. Youngsters have their place and are necessary, but the experience and judgment of men over 50 are what give purpose and meaning to younger men's efforts."

Ford is wrestling with the problem of increasing the daily production of his new cars. He is now employing more men and has the largest payroll in his history.

Ford startled newspaper men by declaring that he regards the gigantic surplus of the Ford Motor Company as simply a public trust which must be put back into the manufacture of something that will help men and women to better and more productive lives.

Firemen Needed To Get Patient Out of Hotel

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., July 30.—Firemen were summoned to aid Charles E. Stout, a retired actor living alone in the old Yough house last night, when he suffered a severe attack of rheumatism. The doorway proved too narrow to permit him to be carried to a hospital ambulance and the firemen raised ladders to a second-story window.

LOTTERY RAIDED

In an effort to rid the Hill district of lotteries before school opens, police today renewed their drive on alleged leaders of the ring.

Police Lieut. Charles Cahill and a squad of patrolmen raided three places in Wylie avenue, arrested three proprietors of lottery headquarters, 11 visitors, all Negroes, and confiscated tickets with a selling value of $9,000.

At 2312 Wylie avenue, according to the police, a padlock was found on the front door that had been placed on order of the Federal District Court for liquor law violations. They gained entrances by a rear door, and arrested James Hughes, six men and a woman.

At 2340 Wylie avenue, Albert Fitzpatrick and two visitors were arrested, and at 2122 Wylie, Walter Lewis and an equal number of visitors were taken into custody.

At Center Avenue station the three alleged proprietors were charged with operating lotteries and were released in $1,000 bail each.

According to Lieut. Cahill, the tickets seized are all based on figures of the New York Stock Exchange and are similar to those which, it is alleged, have been sold to school children of the Hill.

FIGHTING TENTH UNIT IN NEW ORGANIZATION

WAYNESBURG, Pa., July 30.—Two hundred former members of Company K, One Hundred and Tenth Pennsylvania National Guard, one of the original units of the old "Fighting Tenth," formed a permanent organization at a reunion here yesterday. Harold Whyte, of Waynesburg, was chosen president. Auditor General Edward S. Martin, former commander of the One Hundred and Tenth, was the principal speaker.

SMITH BOLTERS LOSE IN TEXAS PRIMARY

DALLAS, Tex., July 30.—(AP.)—Dan Moody, youthful red-haired chief executive, who was swept into the Texas Governor's chair in 1926 on a campaign based on opposition to Gov. Miriam A. (Ma) Ferguson, has been renominated on the Democratic ticket, which is tantamount to election.

The vote in 236 of 253 counties, including 53 complete in Saturday's Democratic state primary, as tabulated early today by the Texas election bureau, gave Gov. Moody a majority of nearly 120,000 votes over his three opponents.

Strength of a heavy field of candidates apparently had cost Lieut.-Gov. Barry Miller a clean-cut nomination in his race for re-election, although he led his most active opponent by nearly 100,000 votes.

SMITH FOE LOSES

The race drew chief interest because State Senator Thomas B. Love, who ran second, had announced he would not vote for Gov. Alfred E. Smith on the national ticket in November, and whose name subsequently was left off the ballot in several counties.

The returns gave Miller 241,304; Love 155,278; J. D. Parnell, 59,110; H. L. Darwin 35,299; John D. McCall 32,165.

Election observers pointed to Love's lack of support and to the hopeless defeat administered Judge Hawkns and Mrs. Wilmans in the gubernatorial race as indicative that the much-discussed threat of a bolt from the national ticket in November was negligible among the Democratic electorate. The two gubernatorial candidates had aligned themselves with the bolting element, and their names also were dropped from the ballot in several counties.

All of the eight incumbents in the House of Representatives who had contests seemed renominated except Congressman Eugene Black, who was trailing Wright Pattman by 1,211 votes. Black has served in Congress since 1916.

Among the congressmen whose re-election appeared certain was John N. Garner, who has been mentioned as a probable speaker of the House in the event of a national Democratic victory in November. He has served 13 terms in the lower House.

United States Senator Earle B. Mayfield was given a plurality of the votes in his race for re-election, but lacking a majority will enter a run-off primary August 25 with Congressman Tom Connally, of Marlin, for the nomination.

"COOTIE" WAR FLARES AGAIN AT NEW CASTLE

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 30.—County officials simply must take care of city prisoners infested with "cooties." That is the ultimatum issued by Police Chief C. C. Horner in reply to the county commissioners' edict that the city must take care of its own prisoners found to have vermin. The police authorities disclaim any responsibility for the possibility that a prisoner's clothes may be housing more than a rough exterior or a heart of gold. Therefore, say the police, they will continue to send such persons to the county jail.

SELL LIQUOR TO BURY FRIEND; FREED IN COURT

"We had to get money to bury our dead friend, so we decided to hold a party and sell moonshine," explained Dorot[illegible] Allen, 28, Negress, to Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Mor[illegible] Court today, following a raid on her home at 1227 Past[illegible] street last night.

Receipts of the "party," the Allen woman said, were to be used to bury Frank Jackson, Negro, of 2424 Fifth avenue, who died four days ago. Brandon discharged the women, three male and two female visitors, all Negroes, upon their promise that they would attend to the burial of Jackson.

BAR TRAIN WRECK HURTS PGH. 5

International News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30. Nearly 30 persons were being treated here today for injuries received when the Cascade Limited, crack coast train of the Southern Pacific Railroad, crashed into the rear of a special train of the American Bar Association at Cortena, three miles north of Williams, late yesterday.

Rounding a curve at a speed estimated at 50 miles an hour, the huge locomotive of the limited ripped into the observation car of the Bar Association special as it stood before the station at Cortena. The Bar Association train had been halted for minor repairs to its locomotive.

On the special train were 170 lawyers from all parts of the country, with their wives and members of their families. Many were gathered in the observation car at the time of the crash.

The towering locomotive of the Cascade came so swiftly and suddenly around the curve, witnesses declared, that there was no time for the passengers on the Bar Association special to escape. The huge black bulk of the engine tore into the observation car.

The terrific impact flung the locomotive of the Cascade Limited from the rails.

Among the injured are:

W. S. Dalzell, president of the Pennsylvania Bar Association, 6101 Kentucky avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa.; extent of injuries not reported.

J. F. Kane, 3354 Stratford avenue, Pittsburgh; fractured right clavicle and rib.

Mrs. J. F. Kane; wrenched back.

Mrs. William S. Scott, 5349 Northumberland street, Pittsburgh; suffering a bruised chest.

Mrs. H. L. Snyder; head cut.

Civil Trial Granted Toral

MEXICO CITY, July 30.—(AP.)—The case against Jose De Leon Toral, 23-year-old art student, who assassinated President-elect Alvaro Obregon, is ready for the courts. The slayer is to be turned over to the district court at San Angle where the crime was committed, but it was thought possible today that the case might be transferred to a court in Mexico City.

Gen. Antonio Rios Zertuche, named chief of police after the crime, stated that he would make public the results of his investigation when the assassin had been turned over to the civil authorities.

Gen. Zertuche desired that the slayer be given a civil trial rather than a military one as had been customary in crimes of this nature although an amparo or writ of habeas corpus had been granted on behalf of Toral police allowed a week after its expiration to elapse before bringing him before the courts.

25 Killed In Poland Blast

BERLIN, July 30.—(AP.) Twenty-five persons are reported to have been killed in an explosion of benzine at a chemical factory in Lodz, Poland. Hundreds are said to have been injured.

Many houses were wrecked. Windows were shattered for a mile around the factory.

THUG VICTIM IDENTIFIED

Mrs. Margaret Smith, of 817 Federal street, today in the Allegheny General Hospital identified an unconscious man found early this morning in East Stockton avenue as her husband, Charles F. Smith, 42. Smith, with his skull fractured and badly bruised, was found, according to North Side police, by a nurse employed by the Allegheny General Hospital. Police believe the man was struck by a hit-run driver or was slugged. Physicians said Smith likely would recover.

YACHT IN OCEAN RACE LOST

NEW YORK, July 30.—(AP.)—Fears for the safety of the racing yacht Azara, which has failed to arrive in Santander, Spain, were expressed today by seamen, believers in a century-old superstition that shoal-draft vessels, such as the Azara, are unseaworthy.

On the eve of the start of the race to Spain July 7, part of the Azara's crew deserted because of this superstition.

The Azara, built in 1904 of bronz, was the smallest boat entered in the Class A or larger boat division. She is a three-master, manned by a professional and amateur crew. In charge of her owners, George J. and Francis E. Baker, brothers, of Detroit, Mich. They sailed the boat to New York from Detroit, traveling through the Great Lakes up the St. Lawrence and down the Atlantic coast.

The yacht, designed by A. Cary Smith, is 113 feet over all and 85 feet water line, with extreme breadth of 21.4 feet, and draft of 5.10 feet. The Elena, winner of the race, had a drawt of 16.11 feet.

The Azara is the only boat unaccounted for. All craft in both classes, except the tiny Rofa, have crossed the finish line. The Rofa was dismasted at sea and her crew, including Mrs. William Roos, of Pelham Manor, N. Y., wife of the owner, were rescued by an oil tanker.

SUNDAY MORNING DANCE IN ROADHOUSE RAIDED

Twenty-three guests were dancing and having a gay party in the roadhouse of Raymond Whitehouse, Library road, early Sunday morning when Constable Ben W. Smith, of Bethel township, and two deputies swooped down on the place, Smith reported today. All were arrested and will receive hearings tonight before Justice of the Peace J. F. Smith, of Beadling.

According to the constable, Whitehouse was absent when the raid was made, his wife being in charge, and an information will be made against the proprietor.

Complaints against the dances in the place had been filed with the constable and he served notice to stop the music at midnight. At 1:30 Sunday morning, Smith, with his two deputies, Thomas H. Dithrich and Joseph Zimmer, broke up the party by arresting the participants.

COOLIDGE CITES UNITY

SECTIONALISM AT END, SAYS PRESIDENT

CANNON FALLS, MINN., July 30.—(AP.)—Beside a new monument rising from the Civil War, President Coolidge pronounced his doxology here yesterday for the end of sectionalism between the North and South and spoke the hymn of a reunited nation.

Dedicating the memorial to Col. William Colvill, Union hero of the Battle of Gettysburg, the President emphasized the recovery of the "new South" and the common interest of each section in the other.

"The day of sectionalism is passed," he said. "We are a united nation."

DENOUNCES SECTIONALISM

Mr. Coolidge denounced those who "for many years" kept alive sectional animosities for political advantage and declared that era had ended. Otherwise, there was no reference to politics in his Sabbath day address, the first he has delivered since leaving Washington.

He mentioned, however, the uplift of labor after the World War and significantly recalled the practical unanimity of the North in helping to pass the recent flood control bill for the Mississippi River.

"One result of the war (Civil) which retarded our national progress for many years was the bitterness, hatred and sectional animosities that it left in its wake," he said. "For many years, both for the North and for the South, these were unfortunately stimulated and kept alive for the political advantage that the sponsors of such action hoped to secure. The time has long since passed when to hold or express such hostile sentiments should ever be permitted to work to the advantage of any one.

HELP EACH OTHER

"Those who resort to them should find that their standing in the public confidence is thereby seriously impaired. While isolated outbreaks may continue to occur in responsible quarters, I am firmly convinced that the responsible elements both in the North and the South each look with pride and satisfaction upon the brilliant contribution which the other is making to the national welfare and are just as eager to help the other as they are to help themselves."

The President looked back on the Civil War as inevitable. He realized that "some of the ablest minds of the country honestly differed" in interpretations of the nation's demarcation line separating authority of the states and of the Federal Union. It was "humanly impossible," he declared, for either section of itself to furnish adequate solution and it could be accomplished only "through an immeasurable sacrifice made in the tears of our women and the blood of our men."

The war, he continued, left the North depleted and the South "entirely prostrate.

Citing the increases in bank deposits, public improvements, public schools outlay and manufactured products in the South in recent years, he declared "it is perfectly apparent that in progress and prosperity the South is going forward in a way which it could never have done under the old system."

PARTED 10 YEARS, MAN 71 FIRES AT WIFE, ENDS LIFE

FRANKLIN, Pa., July 30.—(AP.)—Leander McQuaid, 71, shot and killed himself last night after firing two shots at his wife, Laura, 68. The bullets missed the woman, who had been separated from her husband for 10 years.

The shooting occurred at the home of Mrs. Charles S. Miller, daughter of the couple at Rocky Grove, near here. Mr. and Mrs. McQuaid arrived for visits yesterday.

McQuaid, it was said, had been ill for a long time and the belief was expressed that he had become deranged. The coroner issued a verdict of suicide.

DANCERS GO 647 HOURS

WHEELING, W. Va., July 30.—Miss Garnet Lee Hall, 16, and her brother, John William Hall, 22, of New Martinsville, W. Va., claim the world marathon dance championship. Their record, established at the State Fair Park dance pavillion, is 647 hours, 45 minutes and 45 seconds.

Three couples who started the dance July 2, dropped out the last day of the affair.

The champions have been offered a vaudeville contract. They said the money they earned in the dance would be used to pay for an operation on their mother, who has been seriously ill.

14 SURPRISED IN TRYST RAID

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 30.—Fourteen persons were found at Brownfield cottage, near Laughlintown, when county detectives raided it as a trysting place for young girls and boys.

Charles H. Alexander 32 of Ligonier township, was arrested on a liquor charge. Sara Brady, 24, of Ellsworth, Washington county, and John E. Emmert, 22, of Whitsell, Pa., are held also. The other persons were eleven men from Greensburg, Mt. Pleasant, Ligonier and Latrobe.

WOMAN HELD FOR SELLING HOME BREW

Admitting that she supported herself by selling home brew, police say, Mrs. Catherine White, 38, of 7313 Susquehanna street, was held for court on a charge of violating the Snyder act by Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court today. Three male visitors, arrested when police raided the house, were sentenced to pay $5 fines. Police confiscated a case of home brew and a small quantity of moonshine.

SHUN TYPHOID-LADEN SPRINGS, DOCTOR WARNS

ANTI-SALOON HEAD LAUDS HOOVER, CURTIS, PLATFORM

CONNEAUT LAKE PARK, Pa., July 30.—(AP.)—Dr. F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of America, described the Republican presidential candidate, Herbert Hoover, as "standing four-square upon the four-square platform Kansas City gave us," in speaking last night before the Y. P. C. U. convention here.

Dr. McBride was the principal speaker of the day. Th[illegible] sessions were held with Dr. J. Kelly Giffen, president of Knoxville College, Knoxville, Tenn., and Dr. John E. Bradford, of Chicago, speaking at the other two sessions.

In telling of the work of the dry forces to the Houston and Kansas City conventions, Dr. McBride urged the church members to get out to the polls and cast their ballots because, "The church people will have to register and vote to accomplish their aims, but all the wets have to do is estimate what they need in places like Philadelphia and New York and they have it."

The Anti-Saloon League head in speaking of the Republican vice presidential candidate, Curtis, said the Kansan had suggested to a conference of dry leaders in Washington some time before the Eighteenth Amendment w[illegible] submitted to the states, that the time was ripe for a final national prohibition drive. Mr. Curtis was termed by McBride as "one of the best friends the Anti-Saloon League has."

PROBATES 12-WORD WILL WRITTEN IN BANK BOOK

NORRISTOWN, Pa., July 30.—(AP.)—A few words written on the flyleaf of a savings account book was admitted to probate here as the last will and testament of Edward Dewess of Whitpaim, disposing of a $1,500 estate. The words were: "Only Edward Dewees withdrawal during life. At death to Mrs. Georgge Matters."

TROLLEY CARS HIT 2; WOMAN BADLY HURT

An outbound Bellevue street car at noon today knocked down and seriously injured Mrs. Maud Karnes, 34, of 817 East Diamond street, as she attempted to cross Federal street near Park way. Picked up by pedestrians and William Coffield, motorman of the car, she was taken to the Allegheny General Hospital, where physicians said her skull was fractured and that she had suffered internal injuries. Her condition is said to be serious.

Struck by a street car near Kennywood Park last night, Motorcycle Officer John Abbott, of Mifflin township, is a patient in Homestead Hospital, suffering from cuts and bruises about the head and body. The side car of his cycle was demolished.

NO PERIL IN CITY WATER, SAYS HEALTH HEAD

"If you drink city water you will not get typhoid fever."

So declares Dr. R. G. Burns, director of the Department of Health, in a warning against drinking water from wells and springs. Dr. Burns stated that there are now 51 cases of typhoid fever in the city.

"While we have not definitely traced all of these cases, most of them seem to be caused by contaminated wells and springs," he said. "The unusually heavy rainfall has, in some cases, washed sewage into such supplies. Some of the cases probably are what we call vacation cases—patients who drank contaminated water while they were away from the city."

Director Burns referred to the year 1921 when there were 250 cases and 25 deaths from typhoid fever in the city. Of the total number of cases, 123 were in the Fifteenth Ward and were traced to springs and wells there. Last year there were only 77 cases and 13 deaths in the city, the lowest rate in history. The peak year, as far as the records are available, was 1906, when there were 5,730 cases and 508 deaths. In August of that year, 506 cases were reported.

MAIL ROADS WIN PAY INCREASE

WASHINGTON, July 30.—(AP.—Railroads carrying mail for the Postoffice Department were awarded an increased pay of approximately $15,000,000 a year under terms of an Interstate Commerce Commission order today, and were granted a lump sum of approximately $45,000,000 for under-payment which the commission held the government had made since July, 1925.

FRANKLIN MERCURY 46, COLDEST FOR SIX WEEKS

BUGS BAER Says

C. C. PYLE, the boy who promotes the ankle excursions and marathon hopping expeditions, is in Europe.

ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Pyle ain't over there on business. He's just seeing who he can annoy on a pleasure trip.

C. C. looped over into Holland. He wants the Kaiser to run from Berlin to Paris.

Bill turned the proposition flat. He tried it once.

But C. C. is determined to do something big. In another week he will have those Frenchmen jumping off Eiffel Tower to see who can bounce the highest.

Civilization reaches its humanitarian climax when Pyle is absent. The ordinary methods of life do not suffice for the promoter of events extraordinary.

C. C. eats one dozen eggs for breakfast and hopes they're all bad.

He shoots canary birds because they don't sing at night.

If there were only one oasis in the Sahara Desert, Pyle would fill it with concrete, smooth it off and have one hundred thousand Arabs dancing on it for 52 days.

We advise Mussolini to watch his army for C. C. is sure to offer 'em more money.

We caution King George to keep a royal monocle on Prince Eddie while C. C. is in England. Pyle is liable to have Eddie riding a porcupine without a saddle.

When he gets to Constantinople he will promote those Turks plenty. We know that around August the world will be startled by the news that the Sultan and the Grand Vizier have challenged each other to a sack race in the Bosphorus.

There are 20,000,000 Bolshevists in Russia. Each one has a beard. C. C. will toss chewing gum into their whiskers and then take a day off to figure the profits on 20,000,000 pairs of scissors.

No statue or work of art is safe while C. C. is in town with a check book. He will pull the feathers out of the winged lions of Venice, hitch the horses of St. Marks to a plow and will peddle seedless raisins for dried Alpine echoes.

When he gets to the Louvre he will leave with the picture of Moaning Lizzie under his vest and will probably have an option on the Tomb of Napoleon.

OWED $1, HE SAWS OFF END OF CANOE

KITTANNING, Pa., July 30.—Because Herbert Croyle still owed a dollar on the canoe which he had purchased from James Meade, the latter, it is alleged, sawed off the [illegible] f the craft, damaging it beyond repair. Meade, unable to furnish bail on a charge of malicious mischief, was committed to jail.

FAMOUS HOTEL RAFAEL BURNS; GUESTS IN PERIL

SAN RAFAEL, Cal., July 30.—(AP.—The famous old 5-story Hotel Rafael, noted as a social center in the nineties, is in ruins today. It burned yesterday with an estimated loss of $500,000, understood to be fully covered by insurance. The loss includes belongings of some of the 200 guests who were forced to flee for their lives. The fire is believed to have started between the fifth floor and the roof of the hotel which covered approximately three-quarters of an acre of ground.

NAME FORD CITY MAN JURY COMMISSIONER

KITTANNING, Pa., July 30.—W. R. McCutcheon, for years Pennsylvania Railroad agent at Ford City, has been appointed by Judge J. Frank Graff as jury commissioner to succeed John T. Montgomery, deceased.

AUTO THEFT SUSPECTS WAIVE EXTRADITION

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., July 30.—Carl Baker, 22, and Charles Powell, 18, under arrest at Dennison, Tex., on charges of highway robbery and auto theft in connection with the holdup of Charles H. Rising and son, Harold, on July 16, waived extradition and agreed to return to Ohio, the local police were advised today. They were driving the stolen [illegible] when arrested.

Electric Power in North Wales

AN artificial lake, three square miles in extent and as beautiful in its surroundings as any natural lake in the country, is part of the North Wales scheme for providing electric power.

HALF WIVES

by Winifred Van Duzer

through high school, and I'll be nineteen next birthday. And I'm not a child.''

He would roar with mirth then and call back, "Good girl!" in his hearty voice on the way to his private office.

And when he came outside the door again his glance would seek her. For he, too, liked to look at Ione Farr.

Even "Papa" Weimar—famous old Max Weimar himself—turned his eyes her way sometimes as he went trundling through the outer office, wheezing with asthma and fat. Such a young face he would see, so flushed with eagerness, bending over the typewriter; a bit of freshness, of old-fashioned genuineness, come to Broadway!

Once he puffed through the narrow aisle, knocking over baskets, brushing loose a shower of papers, and paused beside her with the expression of a benevolent St. Bernard.

"So, Maedchen! How goes it?"

Blood dashed her cheeks; her voice trembled. "Why, ever so nice, Mr. Weimar. It's a lovely position."

"So? That is good." And he rolled away, seeming somehow puzzled, as if trying to awaken a long dormant memory.

Only one there was who came in sometimes and sent blithe glances to her corner, but never followed them—one she never saw.

A tall boy, light-haired, with such an air of rollicking good humor that no one could glimpse him and not smile. He would stroll into this, the business office, from the place of a million noises, the "professional studios" at the other end of the building.

He would come a-sauntering, with his grin, and not a stenographer, a clerk, an office girl in the place but whose fingers would lag and whose thoughts would wander.

Even little Marie, deeply, deeply in love with someone else, would bring up a sigh and flash a look of exasperation at her friend's drooped head.

But Ione saw him one day. Heart melting, though chiming as with remembered music, she saw him step into a picture her fancy had drawn and stand there like a young god, center of all her radiant dreams.

It was a noon when Marie took her to the Van Rex for lunch. From Marie, wise in the ways of finance, Ione learned that a sandwich at the soda counter five days a week leaves capital for something rather gorgeous on the sixth. A small table in the restaurant of the Van Rex Hotel—gleaming crystal—shaded lights—fashion—beauty—adventure.

A bit frightened, with a great show of boldness they would go there, thrilled to the fingertips.

"Io—" Marie's pert little face leaned swiftly across the table. "we decided last night, Palmer and I. These autumn days—what's the use of letting them all go by? In a little while now! Next month, some time."

"Oh, really? It's beautiful, dear. But I thought you were going to wait till he got his raise? And you haven't your ring!"

"Oh, that! We're going to buy furniture for the living room instead. I'll keep on with the job. Lots of married girls do now; more all the time.

"It's going to be fun, sort of; starting out mornings to work together, helping each other housekeep nights. Partners. Oh, we'll be happy!"

She dropped into a flushed silence, and Ione's thoughts kept turning.

Not happiness for her—going out to work mornings, rushing back to throw dinner on the table, living helter-skelter. Well—sometimes she had a vision of a pretty cottage. One on the River road, maybe. And herself in a pink dress—always pink it was—working about the flower garden—going to stand at the gate evenings when it was time for him. Always sweet and fresh in her pink dress, waiting for this mysterious someone. . . .

"And successful," Marie ran on. "Oh, my yes! Think of your sister. Home, family, wonderful career—what hasn't she, anyway?"

"Jenepher has a lot—" Only, with all her success, she'd never stand at a garden gate of an evening in a pink dress, dreaming of love!

Ione saw herself watching so, almost sensed the odor of syringas, felt the cool touch of pickets under her hand. Down a bright road he was coming. Quite plainly she saw him, swinging along; tall, lithe figure, hat in hand, sun glinting on light hair.

The picture faded as Marie turned sharply, gave a pleased little laugh. But the tall boy was real! Standing by the table—a bonny lad—with his eyes piercing down through hers, striking a light in her heart.

"Ah, ha-ah!" Marie fluttered, but on a high, triumphant air. "Ione—well, it's Mr. Alan Blake!"

CHAPTER II.

HE took her hand with a jaunty look; pressed her fingers together, leaning down and laughing all the while.

"Better practice saying 'Lanny' two or three hundred times. Nice word with an easy sound, very non-irritating to the vocal cords if used persistently—a trial will convince you. Always efficacious—improves with use." He broke off, sent her a pleased, inquiring glance.

All in a turmoil she saw the spirited lift of his chin, the reddish shadows where light shone down through his hair, little hazel flecks in his merry gray eyes. She still was confused with her dream of the garden, feeling his gaze, searching her so.

"Well—" She put her hand up, smiling uncertainly. "Oh—you said Lanny? Well—why—"

"Ah! Extra special, you see. Name I keep for them as just can't do without me!" He winked at Marie, laughed again, turned a warm, happy look at Ione.

She felt herself swept on a swinging lightness, buoyant as foam, with a queer breathlessness in her thought.

"So I'm one who just can't do without you, Mr. Lanny? Now, do you know I'd not have thought of admitting it on a Thursday noon! After all this time!" She smiled up at him, red running along the clear white of her face, eyes very blue.

He reached over and drew the tips of his fingers along the back of her hand. "All this time! And me hanging around, that wistful, flashing out SOS's—and you with never a glance for a fellow. Tell me, who is so industrious? Sure it can't be you're fond of toil?"

"Indeed, and my first job, I'll have you know. You work there, too? Oh, really? Well, how nice! I don't remember."

"How could you when you see nothing but the typewriter keys? I'm over in the studios." And at her look of wonder. "Nothing grand—not a song writer. Just accompanist. My first job, too."

Something sensitive about his mouth when he looked down, not smiling; a spirit to be wounded easily—a personality to be swayed this way and that by one he loved.

He glanced up, saw Marie holding her handbag, pulling her hat at an angle. "Know what time it is? And me with 20 pages of dictation waiting! First job indeed—will be the last for all of us, I'm thinking."

He gathered them debonairly, swept them out through the lounge, went hurtling into a taxi.

They crowded into the back seat, Alan in the center, and rode jolting over the cross-town street, laughing at bumps, at each other, at everything they saw.

The car lurched around an L post, throwing them violently toward Ione. He said, "Can't have that now—can't have her crushed all at once." And he slipped his arm along the back of the seat, holding her fast.

Hours sliding by. Three o'clock—four o'clock—still she felt the pressure of his palm on her shoulder. Once she reached up, ran her hand over the place—felt an odd, exultant thrill.

When dusk began to rise along her desk, flinging its gray chiffons over the walls, she closed her eyes and fancied him leaning down across the table, laughing and saying, "Ah—name I keep for them as just can't do without me!"

Mary was staying in town that evening, meeting Palmer Elliott for dinner and the theater. She had brought a silk dress packed in a box and now Ione must come to the dressing room—help her with the hooks—tell her how clever she was, marrying and keeping her job all at the same time.

"Since Pal is satisfied, I think you're clever, Marie. Many girls get along. Jenepher wouldn't quit work and keep house—oh, my no! Says she can't get market value for her brain away from home. I don't know; there's Tom and Janey—no one happier—"

"Oh! A great difference when your father and mother married, Io. Girls had no chance at good salaries; no careers for women then. Their job was to get married quick, and out of luck if they didn't. Had to go and live with some married relation and be old maids.

"Things were all against them. They had to cut their lives down to their husbands' earnings and some had to wait years and years till their young men could take care of them. Mother knew a girl who waited 10 years—imagine an engagement standing 10 years today!"

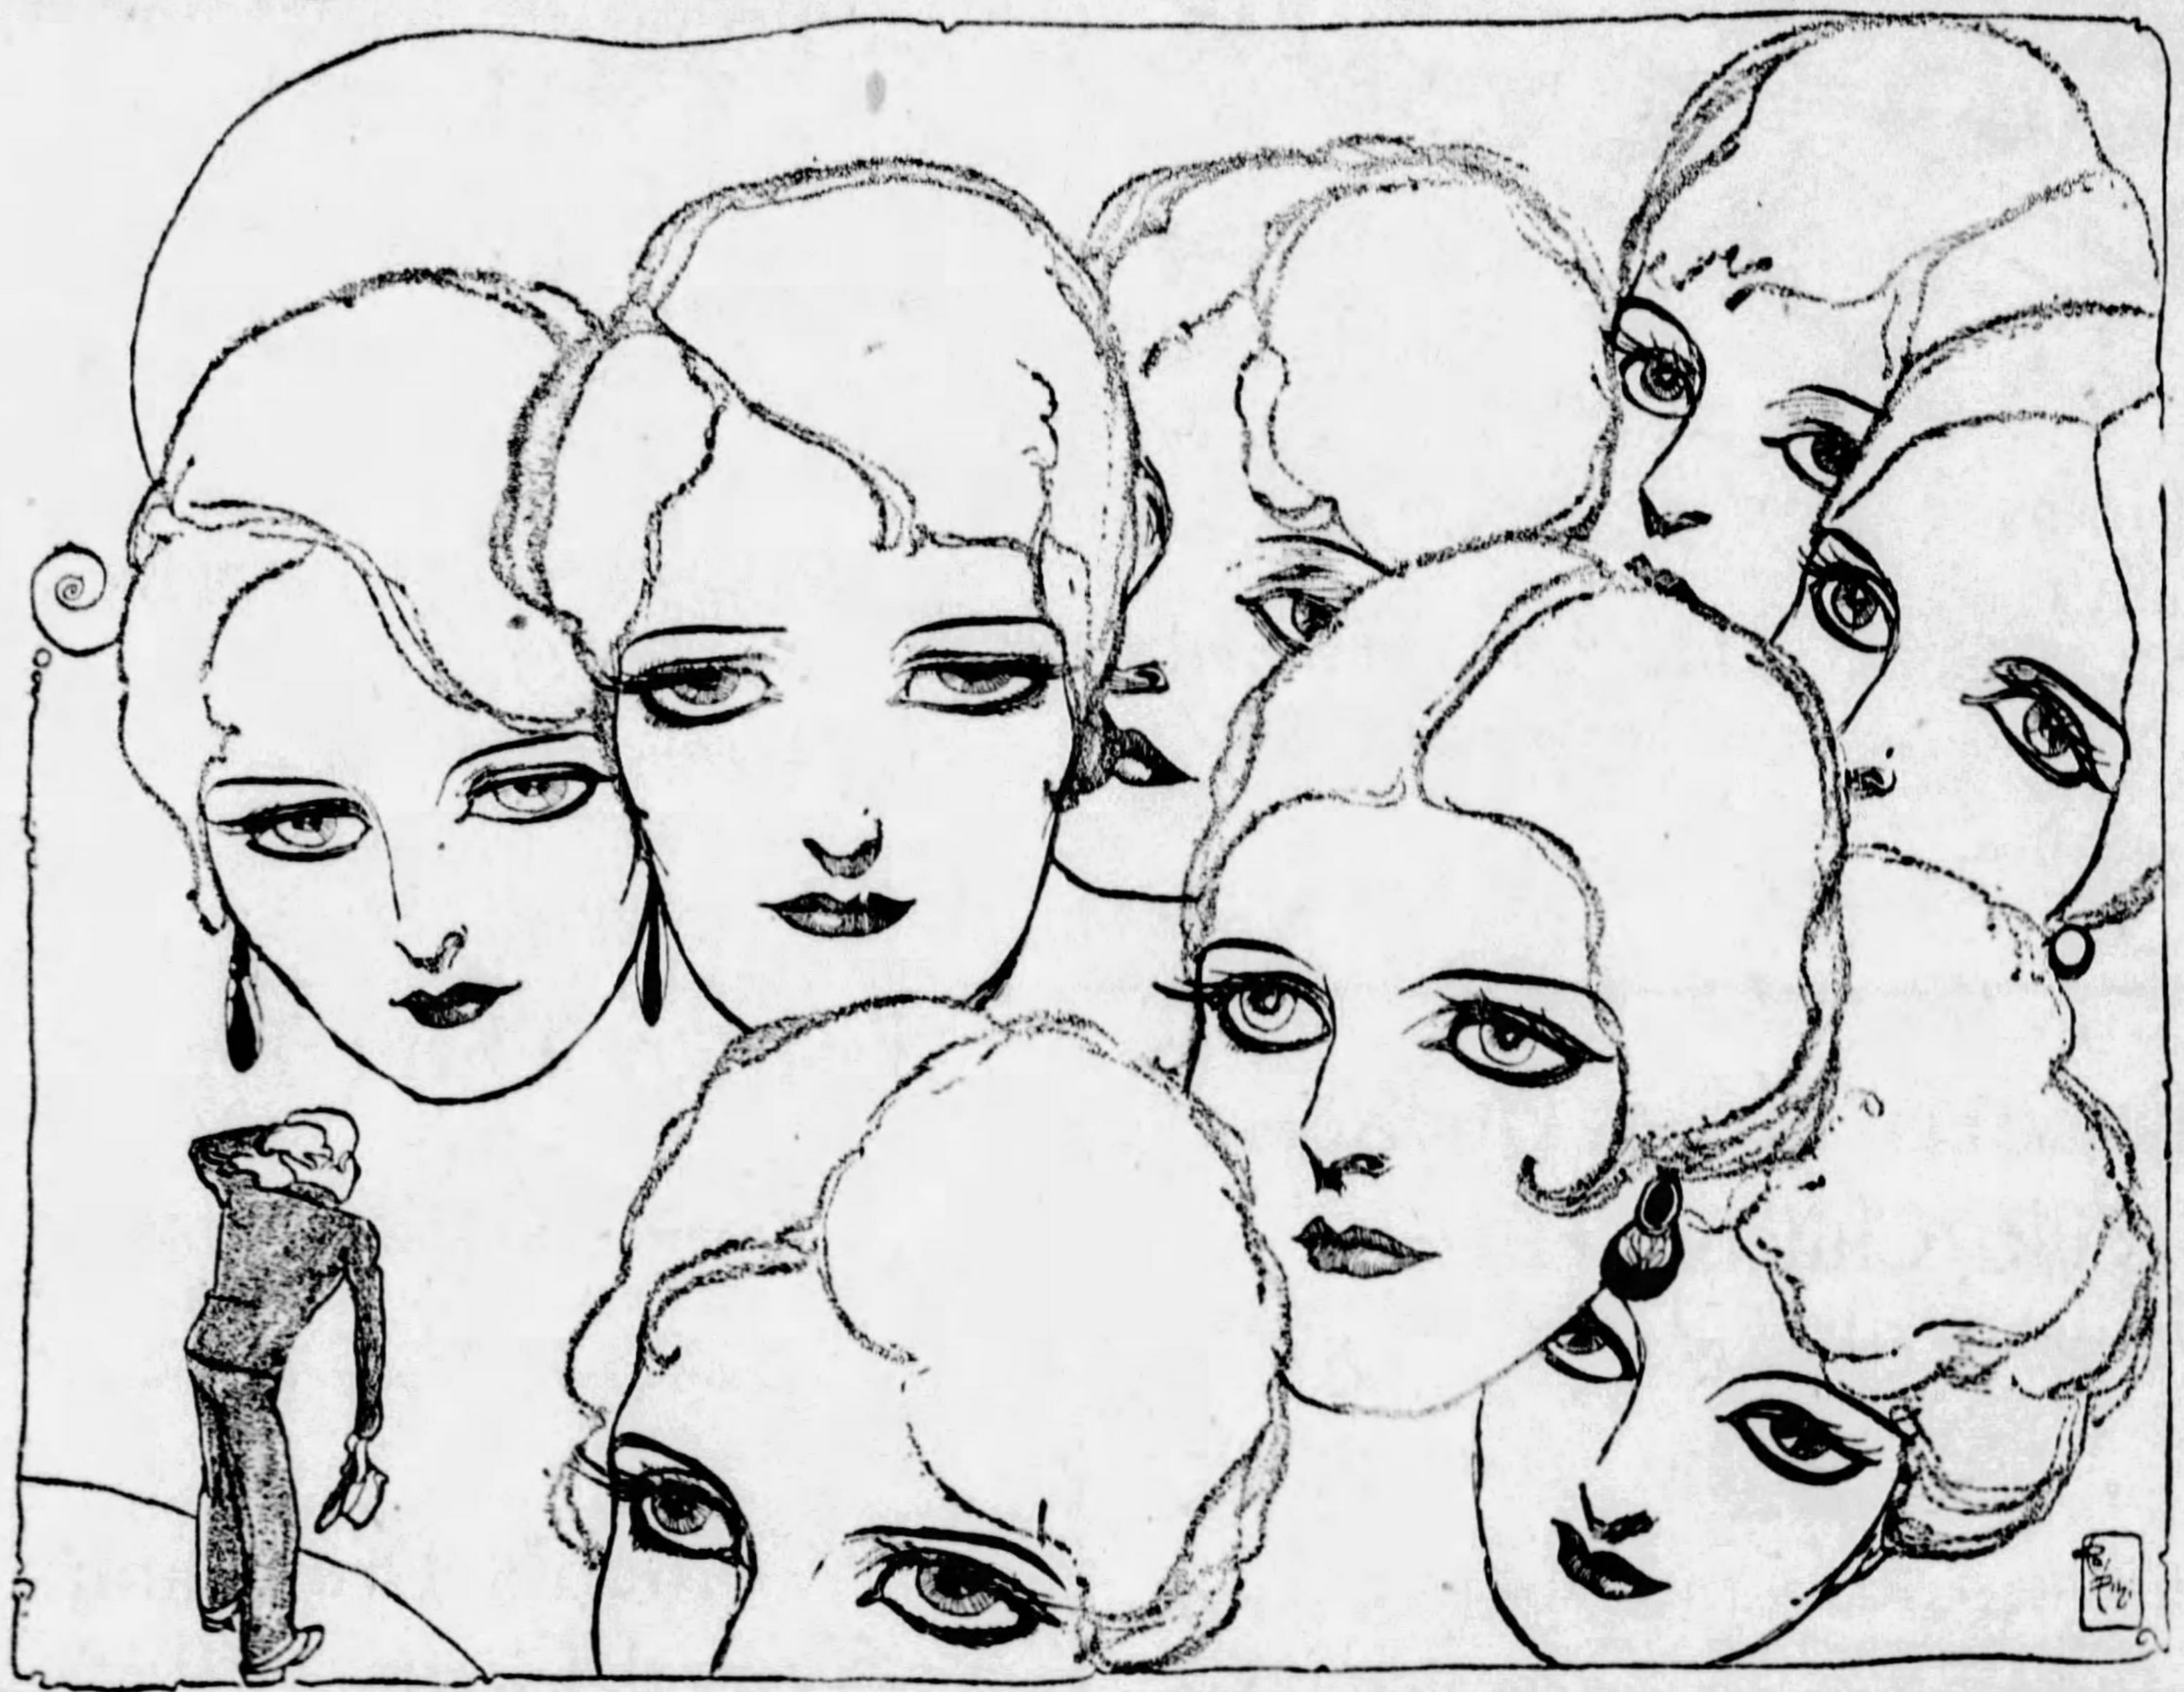
The Age of Confusion

By Popini



POOR man! Is it any wonder he can't make up his mind? Wherever he is, whatever he does, whatever he thinks—it is girls, girls, girls. Brunettes, blondes, titian-haired, tall, short, slender, chubby, blue-eyed, brown-eyed, he loves them all. His mind is all in a whirl. They are all so pretty and irresistible that they almost look alike. All his eyes see is a profusion of pulchritude and he is more confused than ever. They all seem to beckon to him, draw him on and enchant him. He is entirely under their spell and is utterly helpless to break it. It seems to him that never before has there been so much beauty and loveliness in existence. This seems to be the age of youth, beauty, charm and therefore—confusion.

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

Phil Veritzen Seems to Direct Mary's Actions

NOEL VERITZEN came out of one bath house at the same instant that Mary appeared at the door of the other. Both saw the empty beach and then both looked out into the bay where Eleanor Lincoln and young Mr. Jackson were swimming together.

Even at the distance at which Lillian and I were standing we could see the expression of puzzled chagrin which flashed into Mary's lovely face at this unexpected defection of the young man who, ever since his first glimpse of her, had made no secret of being her devoted admirer. She, of course, had no means of knowing that sudden frightened chagrin at Eleanor Lincoln's impetuous call to her old playmate in their own language had sent the two scurrying into the water, and she patiently concluded that the young man had chosen Eleanor Lincoln for a swim in preference to herself.

But the expression on Noel Veritzen's face was one of relief and sudden hope, albeit a bit tremulous. He crossed directly to Mary and held out his hand, rapidly uttering what we knew was an invitation to go into the bay with him.

That Mary was embarrassed, even distressed by the request, was patent. She smiled at Noel, but she drew back from his outstretched hand, and her voice was almost shrill and perfectly audible to us as she answered.

"Oh, I'm sorry, but I'm not going in yet," she said. "I promised to—to—wait for Mrs. Bickett"—this so palpable a falsehood that she flushed to her ears as she uttered it. "And, besides, I want to talk to my grandmother a little while. Don't wait for me."

She was not even looking at him as she talked, instead—I caught my breath as I "trained my eyes on her" as Lilliam had bidden. She was watching the boy's father intently. And after Noel had turned away and Mary had gone to her grandmother's side, Lillian put her hand upon my arm and drew me away from the beach to a grassy nook beneath a gnarled old tree.

"Was Mary watching Phil while Noel was talking to her?" she asked tensely.

"Yes, she was," I answered. "all the time after her first glance at Noel."

"I thought so," she answered, "and I saw Phil distinctly shake his head slightly when Noel first came up to her, and then at her refusal of the boy's request, I saw him nod ever so slightly. Of course, he may have used those gestures in the course of his conversation with Mother Graham—he never stopped talking to her while Noel was asking Mary to swim with him—but I don't think so. I think he was forbidding Mary to go in the water with Noel. Now the next thing I want to find out is whether he means that as part of a general prohibition against her playing around with young men—he's mighty strict with his prospective stars, you know—or whether Noel's the only one who's banned. If he puts up the bars against young Mr. Jackson also, then I'll know I'm on the wrong track. Keep an eye out for me along that line, will you?"

"In your own classic language, I shall be 'Tabby at the rat hole' all day," I promised.

"Then let's go for a dip now, while everybody else is in the water," she said. "I need to get cooled off, for I expect to be exceedingly warm, at least under the collar, several times during the hours to come."

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

ON HUSBANDS—AND OTHER ACCESSORIES

MANY a beautiful moonlight evening has ended in a sigh of relief instead of in a sigh of ecstasy—because it lasted just an hour too long.

When a modern woman has learned how to operate a vacuum-cleaner, a percolator, an electric sewing machine, a can-opener, a cocktail shaker and a motor car, she may not be an ideal housewife, but she is certainly an expert mechanic.

HELEN ROWLAND

There is nothing like a diet of potatoes parsilade and pommes de terres O'Brien to make you sigh for an honest baked potato—and nothing like an unexpurgated view of other women's husbands at a house party to make you appreciate the plain he-man you left behind in the city.

You can't judge a husband's love by the way he kisses his wife these days, but you can by the way he refrains from kissing other men's wives.

Lots of men who seem irresistibly fascinating against the glittering background of a fashionable summer resort, would bore you to death in one long, rainy day around a city apartment.

The man who goes through life without marrying escapes a lot of annoyance and expense, but then the man who goes through life bald-headed never has to worry about falling hair or to spend his money on haircuts and tonics.

Some husbands are almost as unbearable when they are trying to be good and noble as when they are peevish and natural.

Funny how much money a man will spend to doll a woman up in order that other men may enjoy staring at her!

HOW TO KEEP WELL

by Royal S. Copeland M.D.

U.S. Senator From New York

Bacteria May Lurk in Drinking Water

JUST because the baby drinks milk is no reason why it needs no water. As a matter of fact its digestion cannot be perfect without water. This tiny morsel of humanity needs water to dissolve the wastes and carry away the poisons of the body. For health's sake it must have an abundance of water.

DR. COPELAND

Everybody knows how necessary it is that the water supply should be pure. No city is considered a civilized community unless it has an abundant water supply. The highest progress the city is making in the protection of health is proven by the care given to securing a supply of pure water. In most communities is is safe for grown-ups to make use of the city water for drinking purposes.

But what is true of adults is not true of babies. The digestive processes of infants are so delicate that they are more easily disturbed than adults are. It is not safe to give to tiny babies water which the adult may safely drink. The city water may be quite good enough and safe enough for us, but it will probably be entirely unsuited for the infant.

I want you to appreciate this because it involves a lot of trouble to prepare the drinking water for an infant. It must be boiled and then cooled and kept in a perfectly sanitary place in order to have it safe. This is true, you know, of all foods and beverages given to a baby. Boiling kills the germs, so if the foods and beverages are exposed in intense heat the dangerous elements they contain are destroyed.

Regardless of all the care given to the water supply, most drinking water is more or less contaminated. It may contain the colon bacillus. This is a germ which is capable of producing diarrhea, and an infant must not be exposed to this danger.

Being a mother is an exacting job. It requires many sacrifices and much time. It is time well spent, however, because there is no greater reward than to have this precious life developed under the observation and care of the parent.

I can give you no better advice at this season of the year than to make sure that every drop of water given to the baby is water which has been boiled and is free from the danger of carrying the germs of disease.

It is only a little while ago that I told you about this, but I want to impress upon you once more the significance of the baby's supply of drinking water.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Tuesday, July 31.

ACCORDING to the sidereal operations for this day unusual initative and enterprise may be predicted, but these adventures may also open up the possibility of fraud or misrepresentation, especially through letters, documents, or complicated agreements. With prudence and controlled judgment all may prosper by constructive effort.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of enterprise and progress, but they should be on guard against fraud, duplicity and underhand methods, especially through letters, agreements or documents.

A child born on this day may be bold and adventurous and should make a success of its undertakings if it will observe and enforce probity and integrity in its dealings.

Planetary law is a guidepost on the way that men may see the trend of the times.—BROWNELL.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

HIS BOTTOM DOLLAR

By RICHARD G. SWARINGEN

MADISON WEAVER entered his office and wearily lowrede his lanky length into a chair. Thence he eyed the telephone wistfully. But no orders came in for his Superba Brand soft drinks.

Back in the plant his second-hand but costly machinery rumbled. The cases of bottled varicolered ales, that should have been going out to the retail trade, were being stacked to the ceiling in the storeroom. Madison began opening the mail he had just brought from the postoffice.

Not an order. Not even a note from Grace Phillips! Well, she would stick to her father, naturally! Madison mused bitterly on just how foolish he had been to quit the Phillips Bottling Company and set up a rival busines merely because the old man had cursed him for wanting to marry Grace!

He reached for a bank statement that made him wince. His nest egg of $11,000 had shrunk to less than $1,200. Even though he had gotten a tremendous bargain in his slightly used equipment, he had made the prize blunder of his life by buying it.

In reality, the moment was more critical for Madison than even for his business. A sense of failure was sapping his will. He did not realize that this was partly the normal letdown of the excitement of new endeavor before the grind of steady application. Madison wanted to quit.

But in his anger he had sworn he would teach old Phillips a lesson, if it took his last dollar. Madison had a sometimes inconvenient habit of trying literally to keep his word.

So now, while realizing his inability to buck a firm as strongly intrenched as that of Mr. Phillips, he saw nothing else to do but keep up the bluff. But Madison longed mightily to be once more on somebody's payroll.

The street door opened, and Madison turned hopefully. His hope faded at sight of the tall, sandy-haired man who greeted him with an amiable smile.

"How's everything, Madison? Ready to buy a new truck yet?"

Madison shook his head; then hesitated, a look of speculation dawning in his eyes. He had just been wishing himself free from his silly vow to stick as long as he had a dollar. Why not free himself by spending it all in one last grand splurge? That would be dodging the issue, of course, since he would still have his property. But Madison argued that his bombastic threat had spoken only of money. It showed that Madison was already nearly beaten, that he even entertained such an idea. He thought of Grace, and hastily tried to avert his thoughts elsewhere.

"What are your trucks worth, Garner?"

"Thirteen hundred, delivered."

"That lets me out. I have just $1,189. If you'll sell me one for that—"

"Glad to take your note for the balance," smiled Garner.

"No. Eleven eighty-nine, flat. Take it or leave it."

"I have a slightly used machine that I could sell you for—"

"Nothing doing. A new one or none."

"Over half my commission!" groaned Garner; but added: "All right, you robber; I'll do it. Don't you ever mention this to a soul!"

Two hours later Madison himself was loading his new truck, and singing. He was free! He could close up any time he liked! Enough cash would come in by Saturday to pay off his help, and then—

Then he would put the plant in charge of an agent for sale, leave town, and try to attach himself once more to a regular salary. He sang partly from relief—partly to keep from thinking about leaving Grace.

One of his men called that he was wanted in the office. Madison quitted his task reluctantly. He liked to work with his hands; dreaded even a momentary resumption of business responsibilities.

At the office door he paused in surprise. Stalking about the room was no less a person than Charles Phillips. A glance through a window showed the old man's car outside. Madison felt warm and a little giddy. Grace frequently drove for her father, who had never learned to drive a car himself. Even now she was following him into the place. Madison realized what a fool he had been to imagine he could ever give her up.

Mr. Phillips' greeting was short and devoid of amenities:

"Madison, Garner tells me you've bought a new truck. Business good?"

"Listen to those machines!" Madison smiled. "Bottling all I can!"

"Bottling isn't always selling! But I didn't come to argue. I need this plant and location. What'll you take for it?"

Madison smothered a gasp of delight. "Haven't said I want to sell."

"Anybody'll sell anything if he can get enough. How much?"

"If I sell out, what am I going to do? No, I guess I'd better—"

"Run this plant for me, of course! Talk figures, boy!"

"Twenty-seven thousand dollars!" said Madison, without a blink.

"Don't be an utter fool!" Mr. Phillips eyer him shrewdly. "Give you $18,000."

Madison shook his head firmly, suppressing an inclination to shout for joy. "No, sir! I can't—"

"No time to dicker! Nineteen thousand, and that's final!"

"We—ll, I'll consider that—on two conditions: First, that I may marry Grace—provided she's willing. Second, that you pay me half cash and half in stock in your company."

"Don't want much, do you?" snarled the other. "You can go to—"

But Madison was watching Grace, where his biggest anxiety lay.

"I'm going to marry him anyway, dad," said Grace, smiling at her parent sweetly. "A man who can make you come to him is a good enough risk for me."

The old man's glare was superseded by a rather sour chuckle.

"All right, Madison—if you want such a hard-headed female on your hands – let's fix up the papers."

How To Be Beautiful

by Maria Jeritza

ARE your finger-nails as lovely as you would wish?

They must be beautiful, with delicate half-moons, even, smooth cuticle and perfectly clean white rims, filed to an oval, polished until they gleam, if you hope to live up to the standards of modern cleanliness and beauty.

Of course a good manicurist will quickly solve your problems, provided you can afford to place your nails in her care.

But, even though you must take complete care of your own nails, do not despair. You can, if you will, keep them flawless in dainty loveliness. You will need a nail-brush, an orange-wood stick, a file for shaping the nail-ends, a buffer, cuticle remover, and perhaps a little rosy-tinted polish and polish remover.

Every morning, shape your nails with a few strokes of a long, flexible file such as professional manicurists use. These are advisable because they do not cut down too much of the nail, and are easy to use. Then scrub your hands and nails and underneath your nails with a nail brush and warm, soapy water. The friction will rub away all dried-up particles of cuticle. While drying your hands, push back the cuticle as far as you can with the towel.

In addition to this systematic morning care, once or twice each week apply your liquid cuticle remover with the little brush that comes for the purpose. Let it remain on a few seconds, then press back the cuticle with the blunt point of your orange-wood stick wrapped in absorbent cotton. Cuticle clippers will remove any tough bits of dead cuticle from the sides of the nails and under their rims. You may also like to apply at this point the bleaching strings that come for bleaching underneath the nails.

The liquid nail polishes now on the market are a sensible, harmless means of imparting a sophisticated sheen.

Here is a home-made nail polish, if you prefer to make your own toilet preparations:

Paraffine wax, 1 dram; chloroform, 2 drams; your favorite perfume, a few drops.

Apply a small amount of this preparation to your nails with a camel's-hair brush or bit of chamois. It makes a sort of varnish over your nails, protecting them and imparting the dainty gloss that is the finishing touch to well-manicured finger-nails.

WEDDING ATTENDANT

PRISCILLA HALL

Miss Priscilla Hall was one of the attendants at the wedding of Miss Helene Hostetter and John S. Griffith, solemnized in Pasadena, Cal.

ENGAGEMENT OF SOUTHERN GIRL OF INTEREST HERE

IN THE early summer, in the month of June to be exact, young folks marry, and in the later summer, in July and August, young folks become engaged. Often the June weddings are the result of the late summer betrothals, though in recent years more and more of those who plight their troth under the star-studded summer night are marrying in the autumn.

But to come back to engagements. I'm sure you're going to be interested in the engagement of a lovely southern girl. Mrs. John Cunningham Postell, of Savannah, Ga., announces the engagement of her daughter, Ellen Euphemia Postell, to Marshel Clarke Reed, of Gulf, Tex., formerly of Pittsburgh. Mr. Reed, as you know, is the son of the Thomas McKennan Reeds, of Edgewood.

And their marriage will take place in the early fall. The wedding will be one of the notable autumnal social events of Savannah, I hear.

Ellen, the younger of the two daughters of Mrs. Postell and the late Col. J. C. Postell, is one of the lovliest young girls in society. She graduated from Virginia College, at Roanoke, Va., and made her debut several years ago. Even in Georgia, a state renowned for the charm of its women, she is noted for her sweetness of manner.

Ellen is no stranger to Pittsburgh folks. During her visits to her college chum, Mary V. Flood, daughter of the M. B. Floods, of Forbes street, East End, she made many friends.

Mr. Reed is a graduate of Penn State College and a member of the phi Kapna Sigma fraternity.

EVERY few days we hear of another society summer resort where a Pittsburgher is taking a prominent role in the social life.

In Watch Hill, I believe, one would find the greatest number of Pittsburgh's society folks, but there is hardly a smart resort in which the city does not have representation. At York Harbor, Maine, Eleanor Chalfant, daughter of the Henry Chalfants, is a prominent representative. She is taking part in all the activites there, I hear. On August 15 the social colony will give a carnival, you know, for the benefit of the Grontier Nursing Service of Kentucky, on the bathing beach at the Harbor. Eleanor is one of the three women in charge

PERSONAL DONATIONS SWELL MILK, ICE FUND

As July draws to a close and the even warmer days of August come nearer, the generous people of Pittsburgh seem to grow more eager to help the unfortunate babies through the medium of The Sun-Telegraph Milk and Ice Fund.

Some of the donations are, of course, the proceeds from benefits given by groups of interested children who like to help the babies every summer.

Other gifts are sent in by Pittsburghers who understand how badly the babies need aid during the warm weather and how high the bills for milk and ice can be, when a youngster or two are to be kept healthy.

One of today's donations is $50 from Sarah R. Wright and another is a gift of $10 from H. V. Natcher. Mrs. E. has sent in a gift of $2 for the fund and some Woodmont street children have turned in $10.56 to help the babies. These gifts bring the fund far over thfe $1,000 mark, $1,172.36—and still growing!

Fashion Takes a Fancy to Transparent Velvets

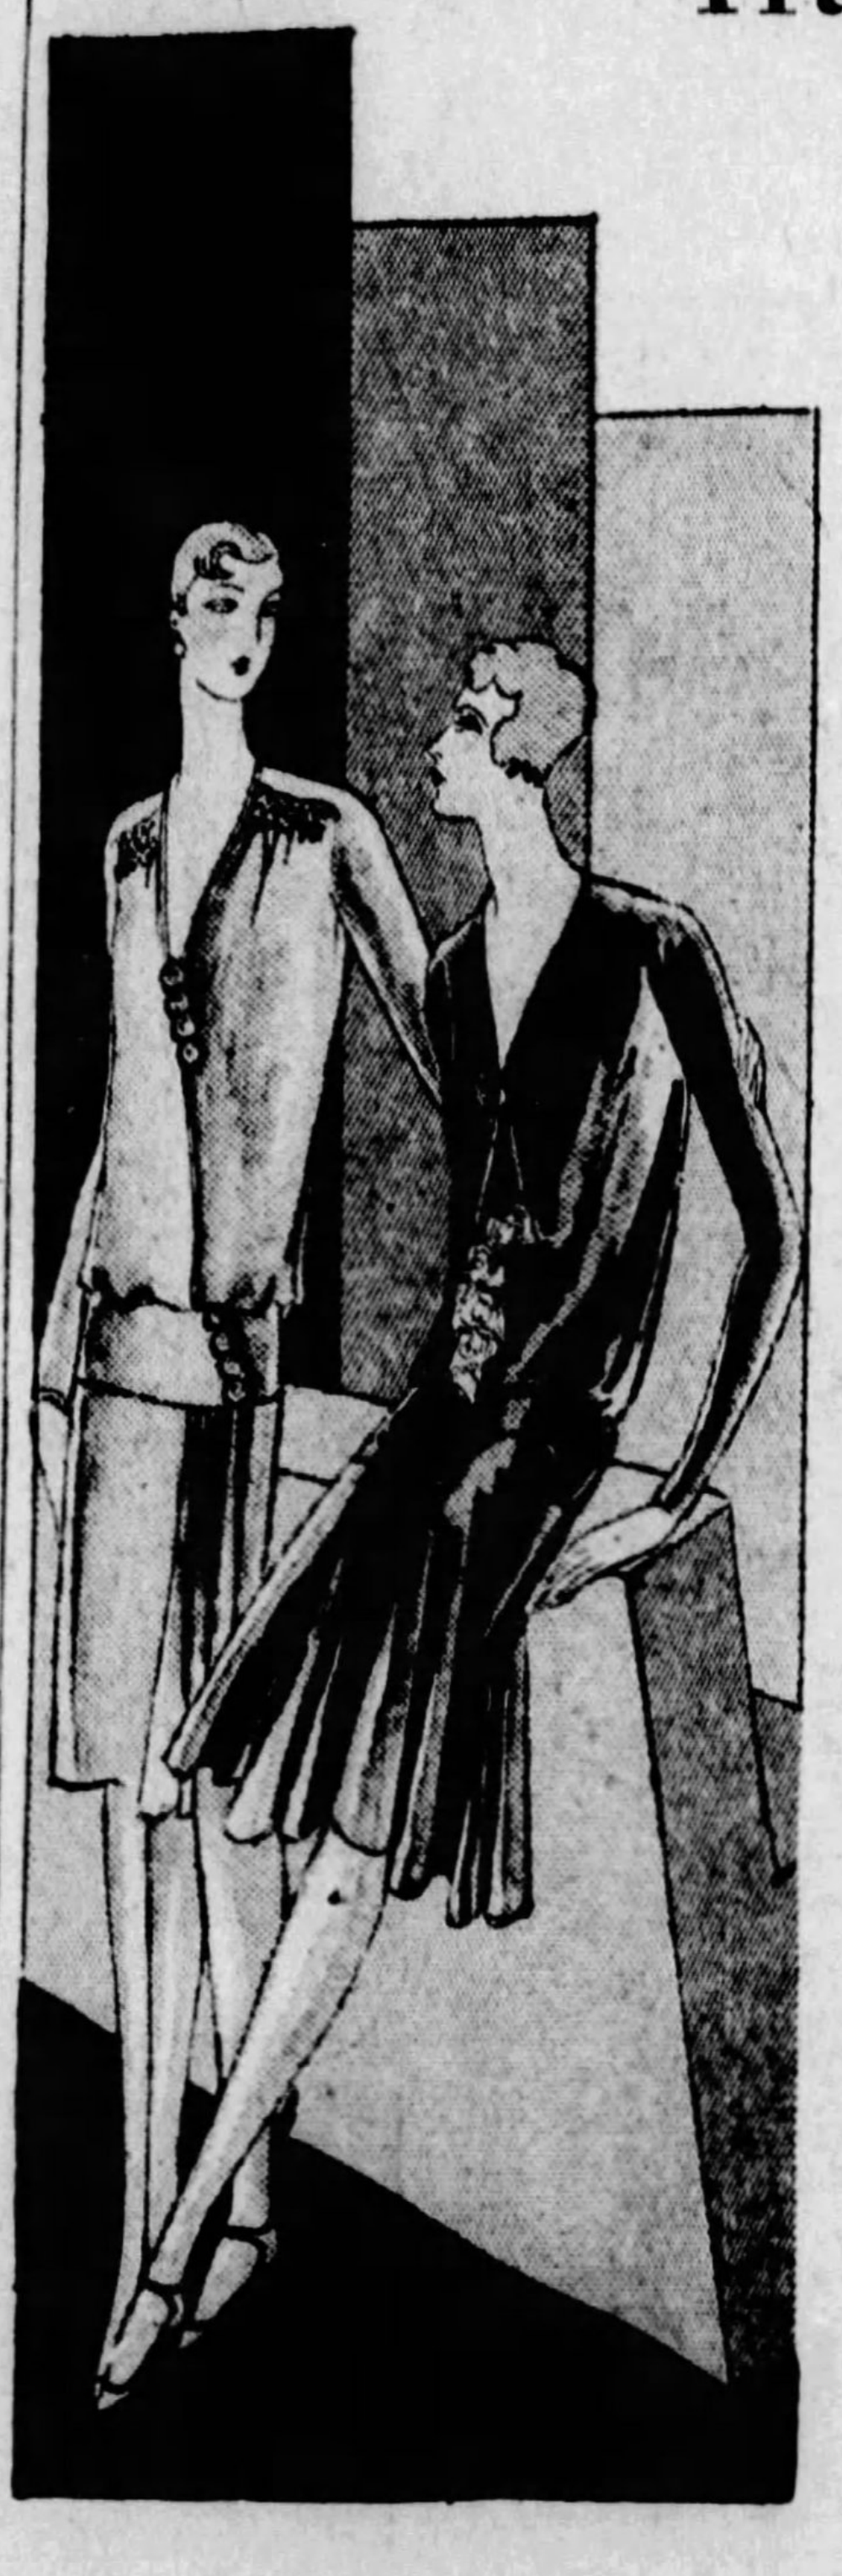
For Early Autumn Wear



And no wonder transparent velvets are destined for popularity! Fashion loves the beautiful. Fashion loves the slim and gracious. Fashion loves the whimsical. And transparent velvets have those very qualities.

Beautiful. There's a rich brown that catches golden lights in its folds. A blue . . . such a blue! It has jewel tones in its depths, that grow softer in candlelight. And there's black, aristocratic and distinguished.

Slim and gracious. Transparent velvets are so lightweight and so subtly clinging that the hipline is smartly satisfactory. The fuller skirt ripples graciously and slenderly. Even shirrings are as soft as if the fabric were satin.

And whimsical. Little touches of Fashion's finger leave their mark! For instance, there's the skirt that's longer in front than in the back. There's the exquisite great-grandmother inspiration of using cream lace on black velvet. And there's the new tassel that the famed Worth has created. All in all . . . you haven't seen anything prettier in many a moon than these women's and misses' transparent velvet frocks.

Two charming models for women are sketched.

WILLIAM NEDDE

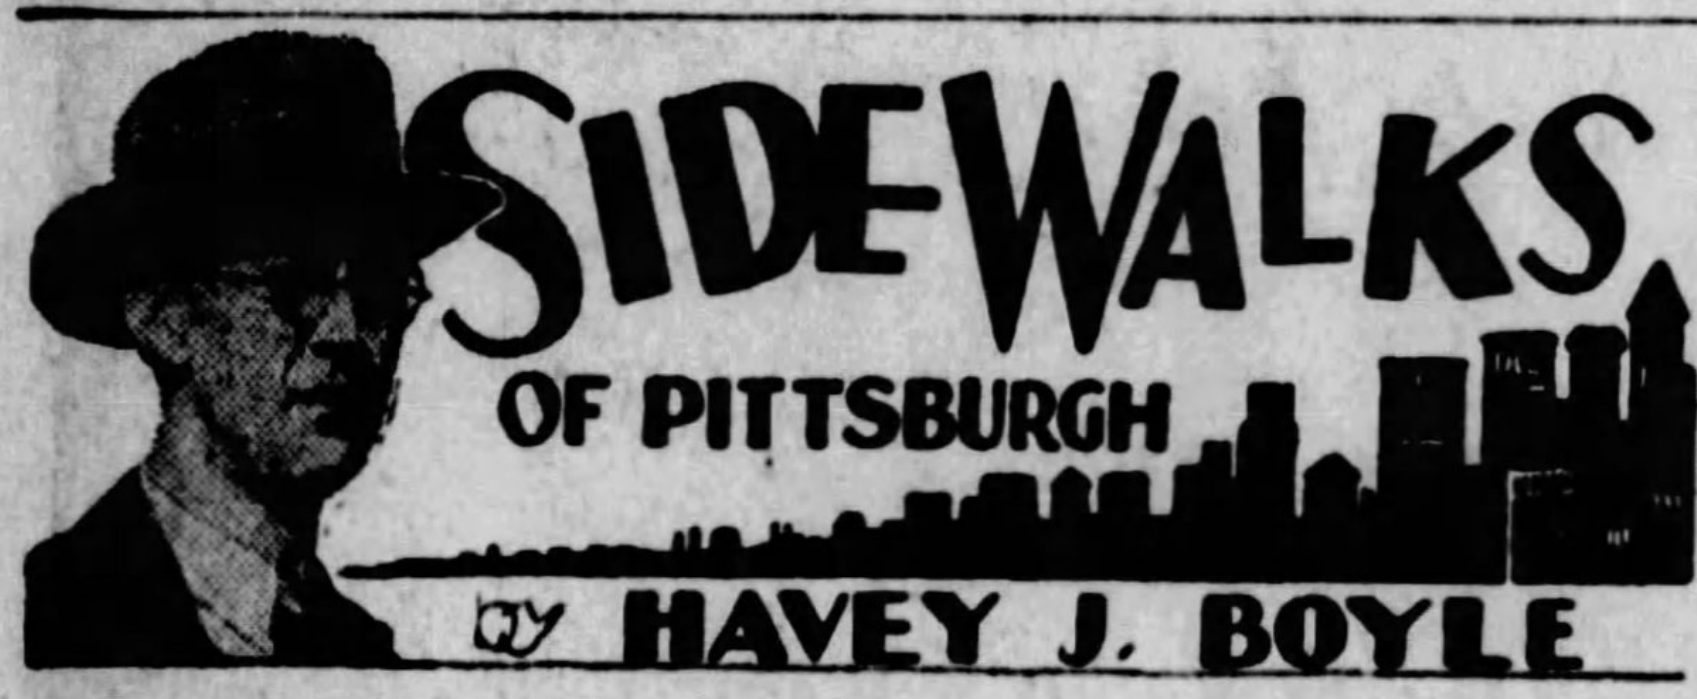
Aid of police has been asked in the search being made for William Nedde, 50, retired barber, 109 Capitol avenue, who has been missing since he left his home last Friday. "I'm going for a walk," he remarked. He is described as being 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighing 150 pounds and having dark brown hair mixed with gray.

BOMB SENT TO PILSUDSKI

BERLIN, July 30.—An attempt to assassinate Marshal Pilsudski, Polish minister of war, was frustrated through discovery of a time bomb in the Polish army office, according to private advices from Warsaw today. The bomb was in a package addressed to Marshal Pilsudski. The dispatches said news of the affair was kept secret in Warsaw and that, when it leaked out, there were rumors that Pilsudski, in a rage, had shot one of the soldiers on guard at the army office.

WAYNESBURG AIR FIELD APPROVED BY EXPERT

WAYNESBURG, Pa., July 30.—W. O. Snyder, airway extension superintendent of Washington, D. C., favorably passed on Worley Field, the airport site one mile east of Waynesburg. He recommended improvements in the site when discussing it with the Chamber of Commerce committee. He pointed out that the field is on the army airway between Washington and Dayton, O.



SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

By HAVEY J. BOYLE

MORALS COURT has a list of steady clients in the women who divide their time in serving sentences for drunkenness and getting drunk. A number of them are in middle and old age. One woman is proud of her record, which shows she has been out of the hoosegow only five days this year and these five free days were taken up with getting "boiled."

It is a serio-comic procession of sots that passes before the eye of the magistrate. Hopeless and helpless, and not caring much about their plight, they live only for a cupful of forgetfulness they find in the cheaper booze places.

SPEAKING of courts, there is the legend of the traffic cop who in a moment of absentmindedness tagged his own car the other day.

An insurance man, concerned with compensation insurance, reports that his company continually investigates "accidents" which have the earmarks of not being accidental. From time to time the probers uncover cases where men have deliberately allowed themselves to be hurt to collect compensation.

IN THE Carnegie Art Gallery the other day a man was overheard saying to his wife: "Come on, let's get out of here—there's nothing here but pictures."

A man recently wrote in to suggest that a sketch of a street scene here was dangerously similar to a scene in Theodore Dreiser's "American Tragedy." To make matters worse we must confess we read the book in question, but if there was a parallel it was the work of the unconscious and not of the conscious.

ONE or two of the restaurants in town give handouts to the hungry. The hungry ones are usually old men who have a difficult time restraining eagerness as they reach for a bread plate, piled high. The cheaper restaurants do more of this charity work than the high-class places.

One of the derelicts on the city streets is an omniverous reader. He can be seen in various hours of daylight and darkness, rummaging through the rubbish stacks, picking out old papers.

ANOTHER queer and strange figure is the middle-aged woman who walks briskly, and almost proudly, although dressed in the most strange attire imaginable. Her coat and dress have the appearance of having been burned. They say she is a bit touched over the death of her husband on their wedding day. The suit she wears was the suit she had on on her wedding day. We see her frequently in Fifth avenue beyond Ross street. She is oblivious to the curious stares of men and women and children who turn to gaze as she passes.

TWO BUSSES OVERTURN; PRIVATE CARS COLLIDE

Three persons were killed and more than two score injured in auto accidents in the city and on nearby roads yesterday. In the city a girl was killed and a man was killed near Erie. A Carnegie girl died in Ellwood City Hospital.

Margaret Fox, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Fox, 307 Run street, Carnegie, died in Ellwood City Hospital yesterday of a fractured skull. While spending her vacation in that city she was struck by an auto. She had a perfect attendance record during the six years she attended the Carnegie schools.

Emory Coffin, 40, said to live at 5523 Elsworth avenue, met death when his machine struck a pole near Erie. Coffin, who had offices in the Commonwealth Building, was en route to a picnic.

The girl killed in Pittsburgh was Margaret Snyder, 20, of 856 Concord street. Two others hurt at the same time were Mary Sokol, 1701 East Ohio street and Thomas Harris, Center avenue, driver. Joseph H. Popson, of Connellsville, owner of the machine which collided with Harris' car, was arrested and detectives went to Connellsville to arrest the alleged driver.

20 IN BUS HURT

On the Lincoln highway between Greensburg and Ligonier, 20 persons riding in a bus of the Hebrew Institute of Pittsburgh were hurt when the machine overturned after being struck by a smaller car. Max Goldstock, 22, of 3880 Parkview avenue, suffered the loss of four fingers, and Miss Hanna Brown, 18, of 911 Kirkpatrick street, suffered severe lacerations. Both were taken to the Greensburg Hospital.

A little further, near Jenners, Albert A. Bialas, of 4729 Wallingford street, general salesmanager of the Wyckiff Drawn Steel Company, of Pittsburgh, four members of his family and a maid were hurt when their machine overturned on a steep grade. The others injured included Rieta Bialas, 9, fractured skull; Alberta A. Bialas, lacerations; Virginia Bialas, 17; hip injured, Stella Marie Bialas, 13; Stella Bialas and Anna Salesi, the maid. May Bialas, 20, was the only one unhurt, although she was hurled about 20 feet.

A phone call from Mrs. Bialas to her mother, Mrs. Ida Farrell, of 4732 Baird street, at noon today held little hope for the recovery of 9-year-old Rita. The other children and the maid were brought home and all except May, 10, are in bed under the care of a physician. The mother, who preceded her family to Atlantic City to look for a cottage, rushed to Johnstown to join her stricken family yesterday.

Several passengers in a Pittsburgh-Buffalo bus were hurt when the big machine upset about five miles north of Mercer. One woman was said to have had several teeth knocked out and another suffered cuts on the arm. Other passengers were bruised. The passengers continued in another bus.

SOUTH SIDE ACCIDENTS

Seven persons, including two children, were injured in three South Side accidents yesterday. David Weigenhof, 3, was hurt when an auto driven by Ralph Barton, 327 Michigan avenue, struck a machine driven by Fred Weigenhof, 314 Watson street, at the Twenty-second Street Bridge.

Five persons were slightly injured when machines driven by Stanley Brutes, 2418 Berg street, and C. E. Bender, 204 Emerson street, crashed at Sarah and South Twenty-second street. Those hurt included Bender, Mrs. Elizabeth Bender, Gismonde Bender, 18, and Mr. and Mrs. William Bender, of 7328 Hermitage street.

Florence Davis, 5, of 1097 Brownsville avenue, was struck by an automobile said to have been driven by Dr. H. F. Zinster, 5134 Butler street.

Mrs. Mary Adamson, 54, of 1318 Illinois avenue, Dormont, injured in a crash on July 16, died yesterday in the South Side Hospital. Samuel Bales, 11 East Main street, Carnegie, driver, was held by police.

Weather Conditions.

A well defined high pressure area now covers the states east of the Mississippi River; highest barometer, 30.34 inches at Toledo. It is attended by generally clear skies, and moderately cool weather.

Low pressure covers the northern plains, the adjacent Canadian Provinces, and the Rocky Mountain states. It is producing considerable cloudiness over the central and southern plains, and thunderstorm conditions. The rains during the last 24 hours were light, and were limited to Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas and Louisiana, and at several other widely scattered places.

The temperatures are generally somewhat below the seasonal normal.

River Conditions.

The rivers are falling everywhere in the Pittsburgh district. Stage at Pittsburgh is 11.1 feet; Dam No. 2, 8.4; Dam No. 6, 8.5 feet. All dams are up.

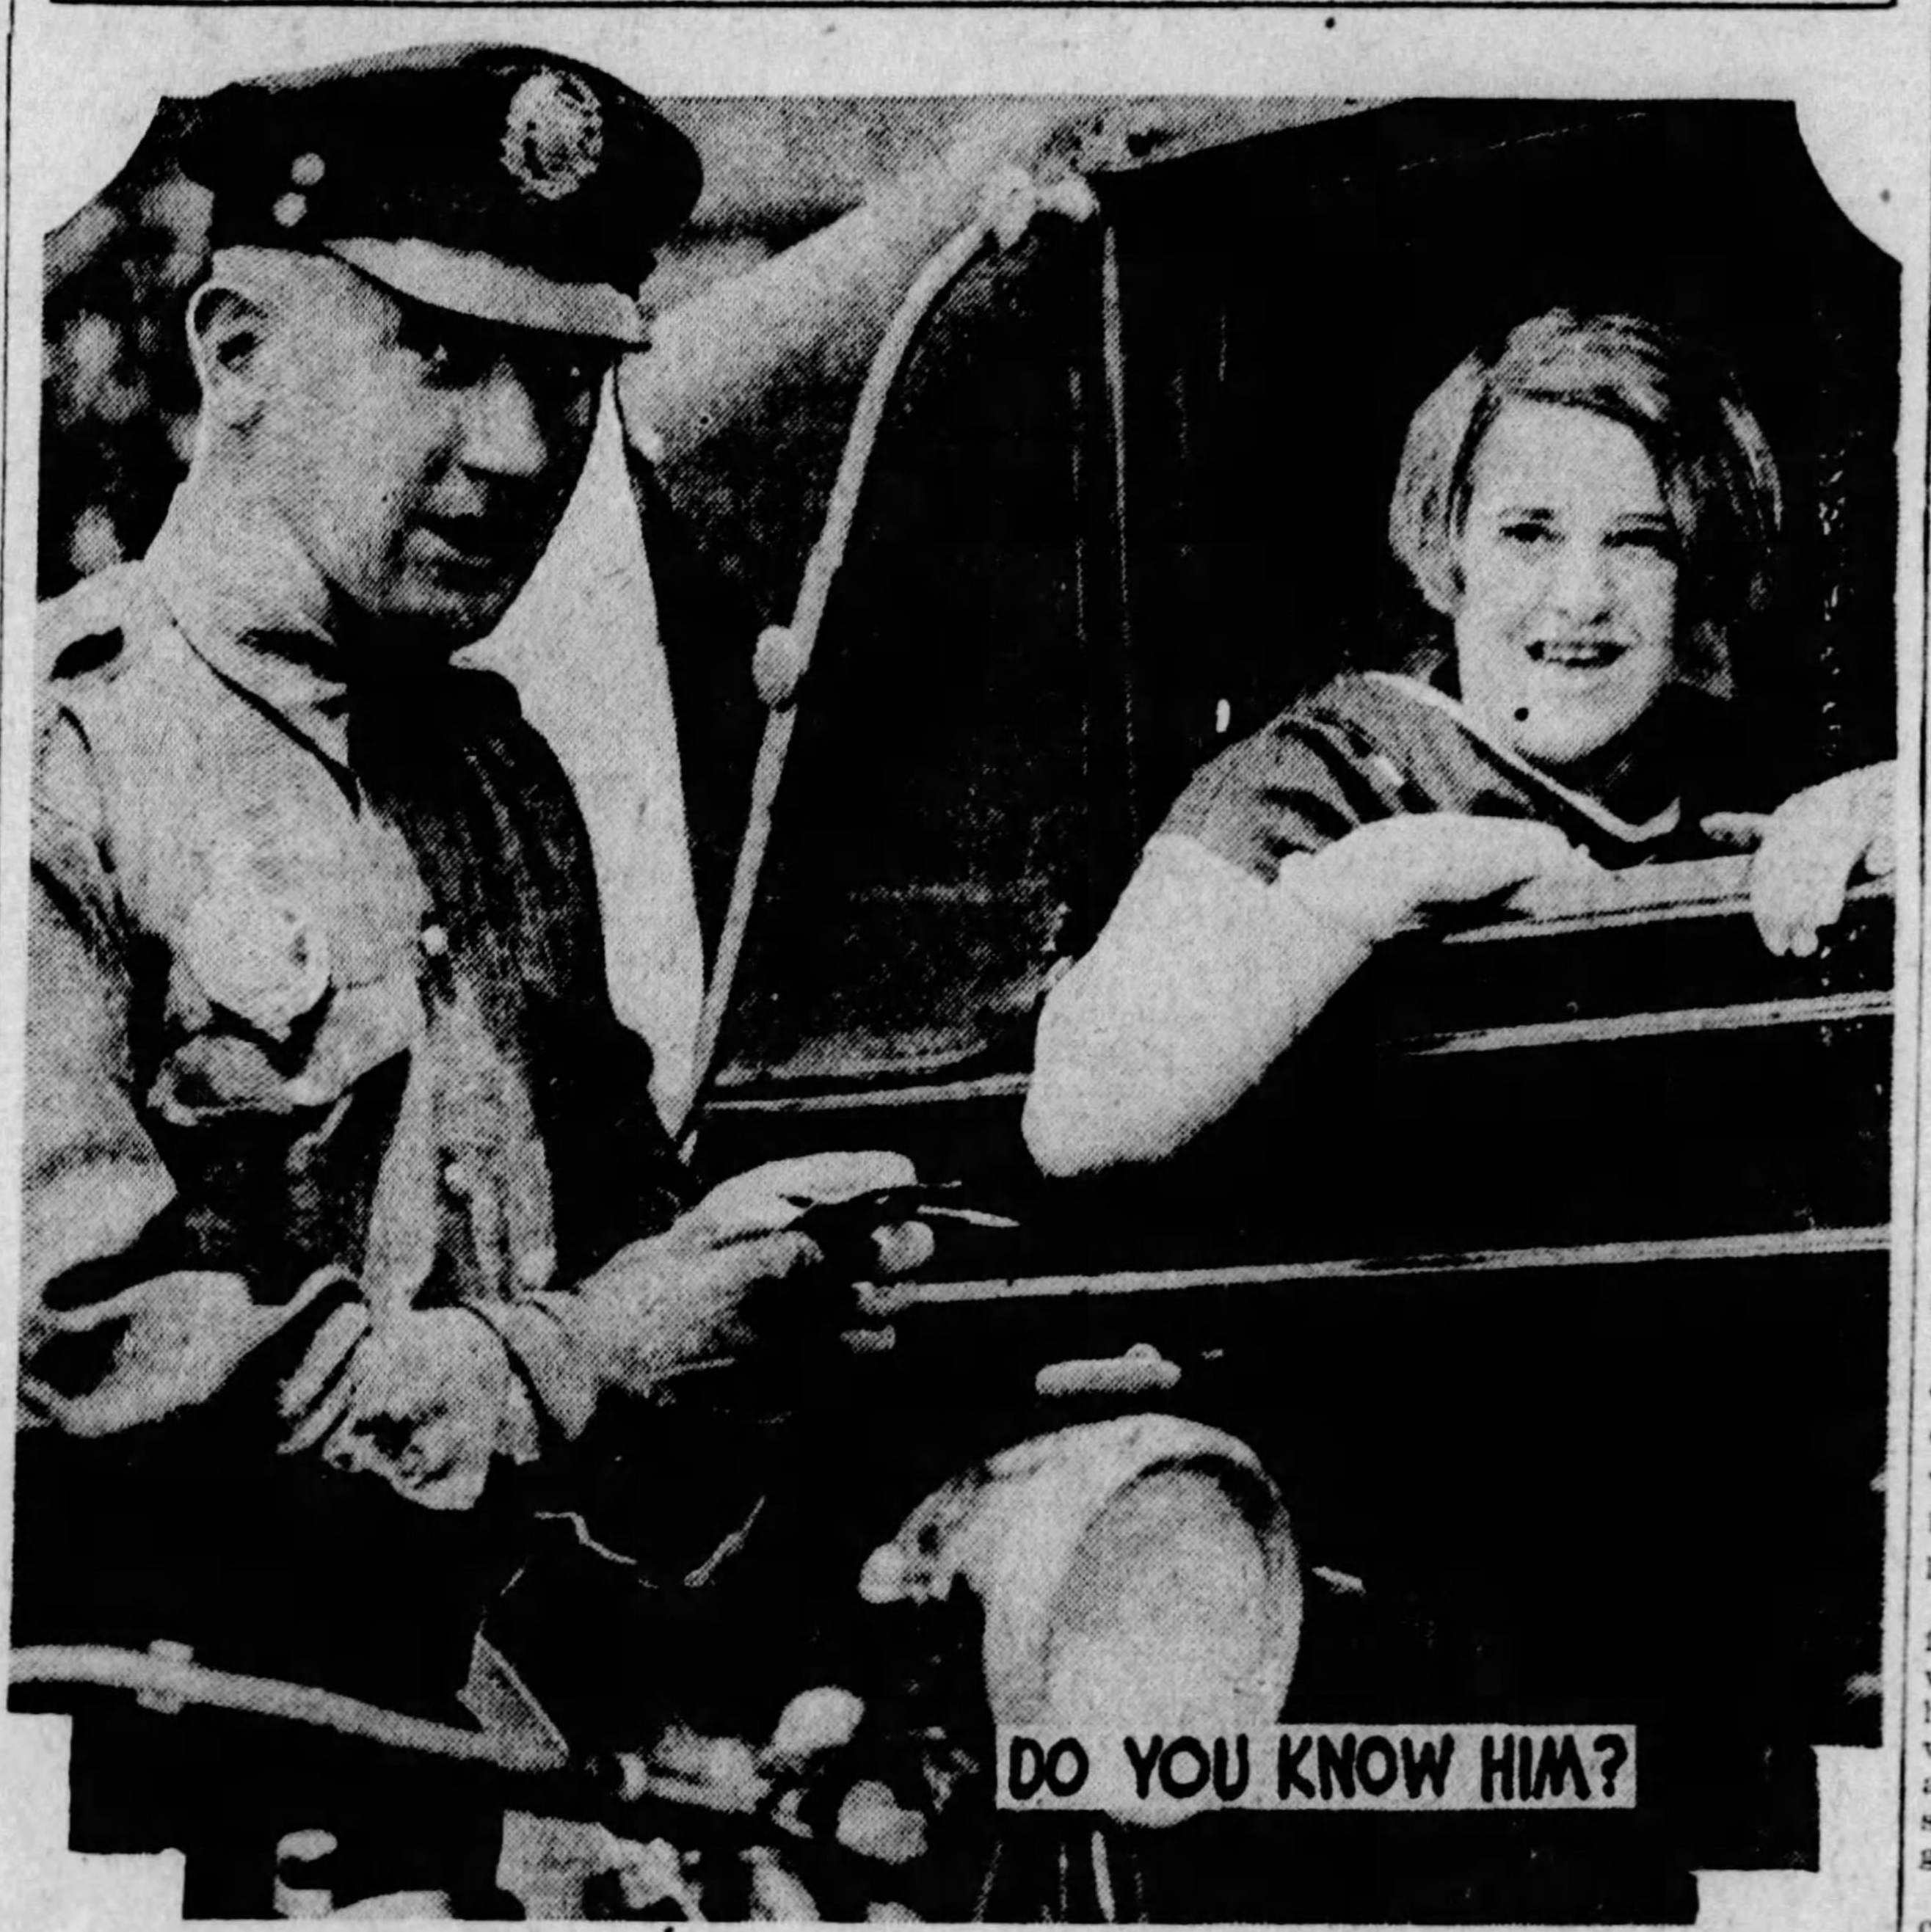
DO YOU KNOW YOUR "TRAFFIC COP?"



DO YOU KNOW HIM?

MAKE HIS ACQUAINTANCE

You do not know the corner "traffic cop" who sweeps you through with a smile every day, do you? Would you like to know him, know his name and a little about him? The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph is publishing a series of pictures of Pittsburgh "traffic cops." Here is one for today. His name tomorrow!

SATURDAY'S "TRAFFIC COP" WAS PATRICK J. FITZGERALD, MARRIED, 5923 ALDER STREET, WHO HAS SPENT TWO YEARS AS A CORNERMAN. HE HAS BEEN POLICING FOR 23 YEARS.

Puts New Stoppers On Beer

Announcement at Washington Saturday that special guards are being established at many large near beer manufacturing plants to stop "leakage" of real beer, is seen here as a step taken to prevent any output of "good" beer incidental to the November election.

So far as known by government prohibition authorities in Pittsburgh no special guards have been assigned to watch cereal beverage plants in Western Pennsylvania. Acting Secretary of Treasury Seymour Lowman, in charge of prohibition enforcement, said "leakage" in New York was greater than in Pennsylvania and Illinois.

At the office of Prohibition Administrator John D. Pennington it was said that a well organized brewery squad has been operating for many months under the direction of Assistant Administrator Joseph A. Frayne. The members of the squad keep constant surveillance on near beer plants in this division.

SAILOR FOR 50 YEARS, FOUND DEAD IN CABIN

PHILADELPHIA, July 30.—(AP.)—Capt. Benjamin Benson, a follower of the sea for more than 50 years, was found dead yesterday in the cabin of his ship, the Adonis, in dock here. Death was caused by a heart attack. He was 69 years old and a native of Philadelphia.

Non-Stop Try Ends Half Way

OMAHA, Neb., July 30.—(AP.)—H. J. "Jack" Knight, air mail pilot, failed in an attempted New York-Los Angeles non-stop flight when his Buhl plane blew out a spark plug somewhere in Kansas early yesterday.

Knight returned to Grand Island, Neb., and took off at 1:30 p. m. for Omaha, his home town, arriving here at 2:15 p. m.

With Knight was Ettiene Dornay, designer of the plane.

Knight and his passenger plan to return to Maysville, Mich., home office of the Buhl Aircraft Company, today, the flier related.

"The first attempt at rising was a failure," he said, "because of the crowd, but the second was all right and we climbed well."

"We were about in the middle of Kansas, when the plug blew out, and we turned and hobbled into Grand Island."

Knight will be prevented from a new attempt by the end of his leave of absence as an air mail pilot, it was stated here.

JURY PUTS MURDER ON OHIO PAIR

LAKE CITY, Fla., July 30.—(AP.)—An 18-year-old Ohio bride of four months and her husband stand charged by a coroner's jury with the murder of the girl's aged grandfather.

Mrs. Helen Booth, the bride, and her husband, Elzie Booth, are named in warrants charging them with first degree murder in the death of George W. Simmons, 78, of Steubenville, O., whose body, with the skull crushed, was found beside a highway two miles from here.

The jury after hearing testimony from several witnesses, returned a verdict that the aged man came to his death by blows from "a deadly weapon in the hands of E. L. Booth and Mrs. Helen Booth, and the same was murder in the first degree."

Witnesses testified before the coroner's jury to seeing the Booth car traveling along the highway at a high rate of speed with the young husband standing on the running board beating the aged man over the head, while Mrs. Booth drove the machine.

Simmons and the couple had spent two weeks in a one-room cottage at a tourist camp here and during that time witnesses related many quarrels took place. The trio left the camp last Monday night, and Tuesday Simmons' body was found by C. B. Messer, operator of the camp where they stayed.

The blood-stained Booth car was found abandoned in Jacksonville and since then no trace of the missing couple has been found.

Authorities believed the old man was robbed of a large sum of money which he was reported to have possessed. Simmons was said to have sold a large amount of Ohio real estate for cash before leaving his home to accompany the couple on their honeymoon trip to Florida.

The Booths were married at Follansbee, W. Va., March 30.

MEYERSDALE PASTOR TO RETAIN CHARGE

MEYERSDALE, Pa., July 30.—The Rev. T. Rodney Coffman, for 11 years pastor of the Church of the Brethren here, who resigned to accept a call to Windber has withdrawn his resignation, following the unanimous decision of the church council not to accept the resignation. Pastors and members of other churches also asked Mr. Coffman to remain here. The Windber church then released Mr. Coffman.

Hundreds Flee Kans. Floods

HAYS, Kan., July 30.—(A. P.)—Three hundred families were forced to flee their homes here early today when flood waters of Big Creek inundated about one-third of the town, following heavy rainfall.

Only the second floors of many houses were above the flood and water was reported to be from three to six feet deep in buildings of the Kansas State Teachers' College.

TOPEKA, Kan., July 29.—(AP.)—Flood conditions existed in Northern and Central Kansas tonight following rains over the week end reported unofficially as heavy as seven inches.

A report from Holsington in Central Kansas said most of the city was flooded following a seven-inch rain. Residents of South Hoisington were said to be moving to higher ground. One mile of track on the Missouri Pacific Railroad was washed out there.

At Ellis, Kan., Big Creek overflowed the countryside, washed out a mile of Union Pacific tracks and inundated portions of the town. About 100 families were forced to flee to higher ground.

FOUR ARRESTED HERE ON NARCOTIC CHARGES

Four men were arrested by Federal narcotic agents and city detectives over the week-end. They are Ray Mandrier, 24, of 28 Magnolia street; Albert Hahn, 37, 5147 Keystone street; John Freeman, 36, of 1837 Tustin street, and William Mangan, 28, of 95 South Eleventh street. Drugs and paraphernalia were seized. The men were held on Federal charges.

FOUR HOURS IN AIR, BREAKS U. S. GLIDER RECORD AGAIN

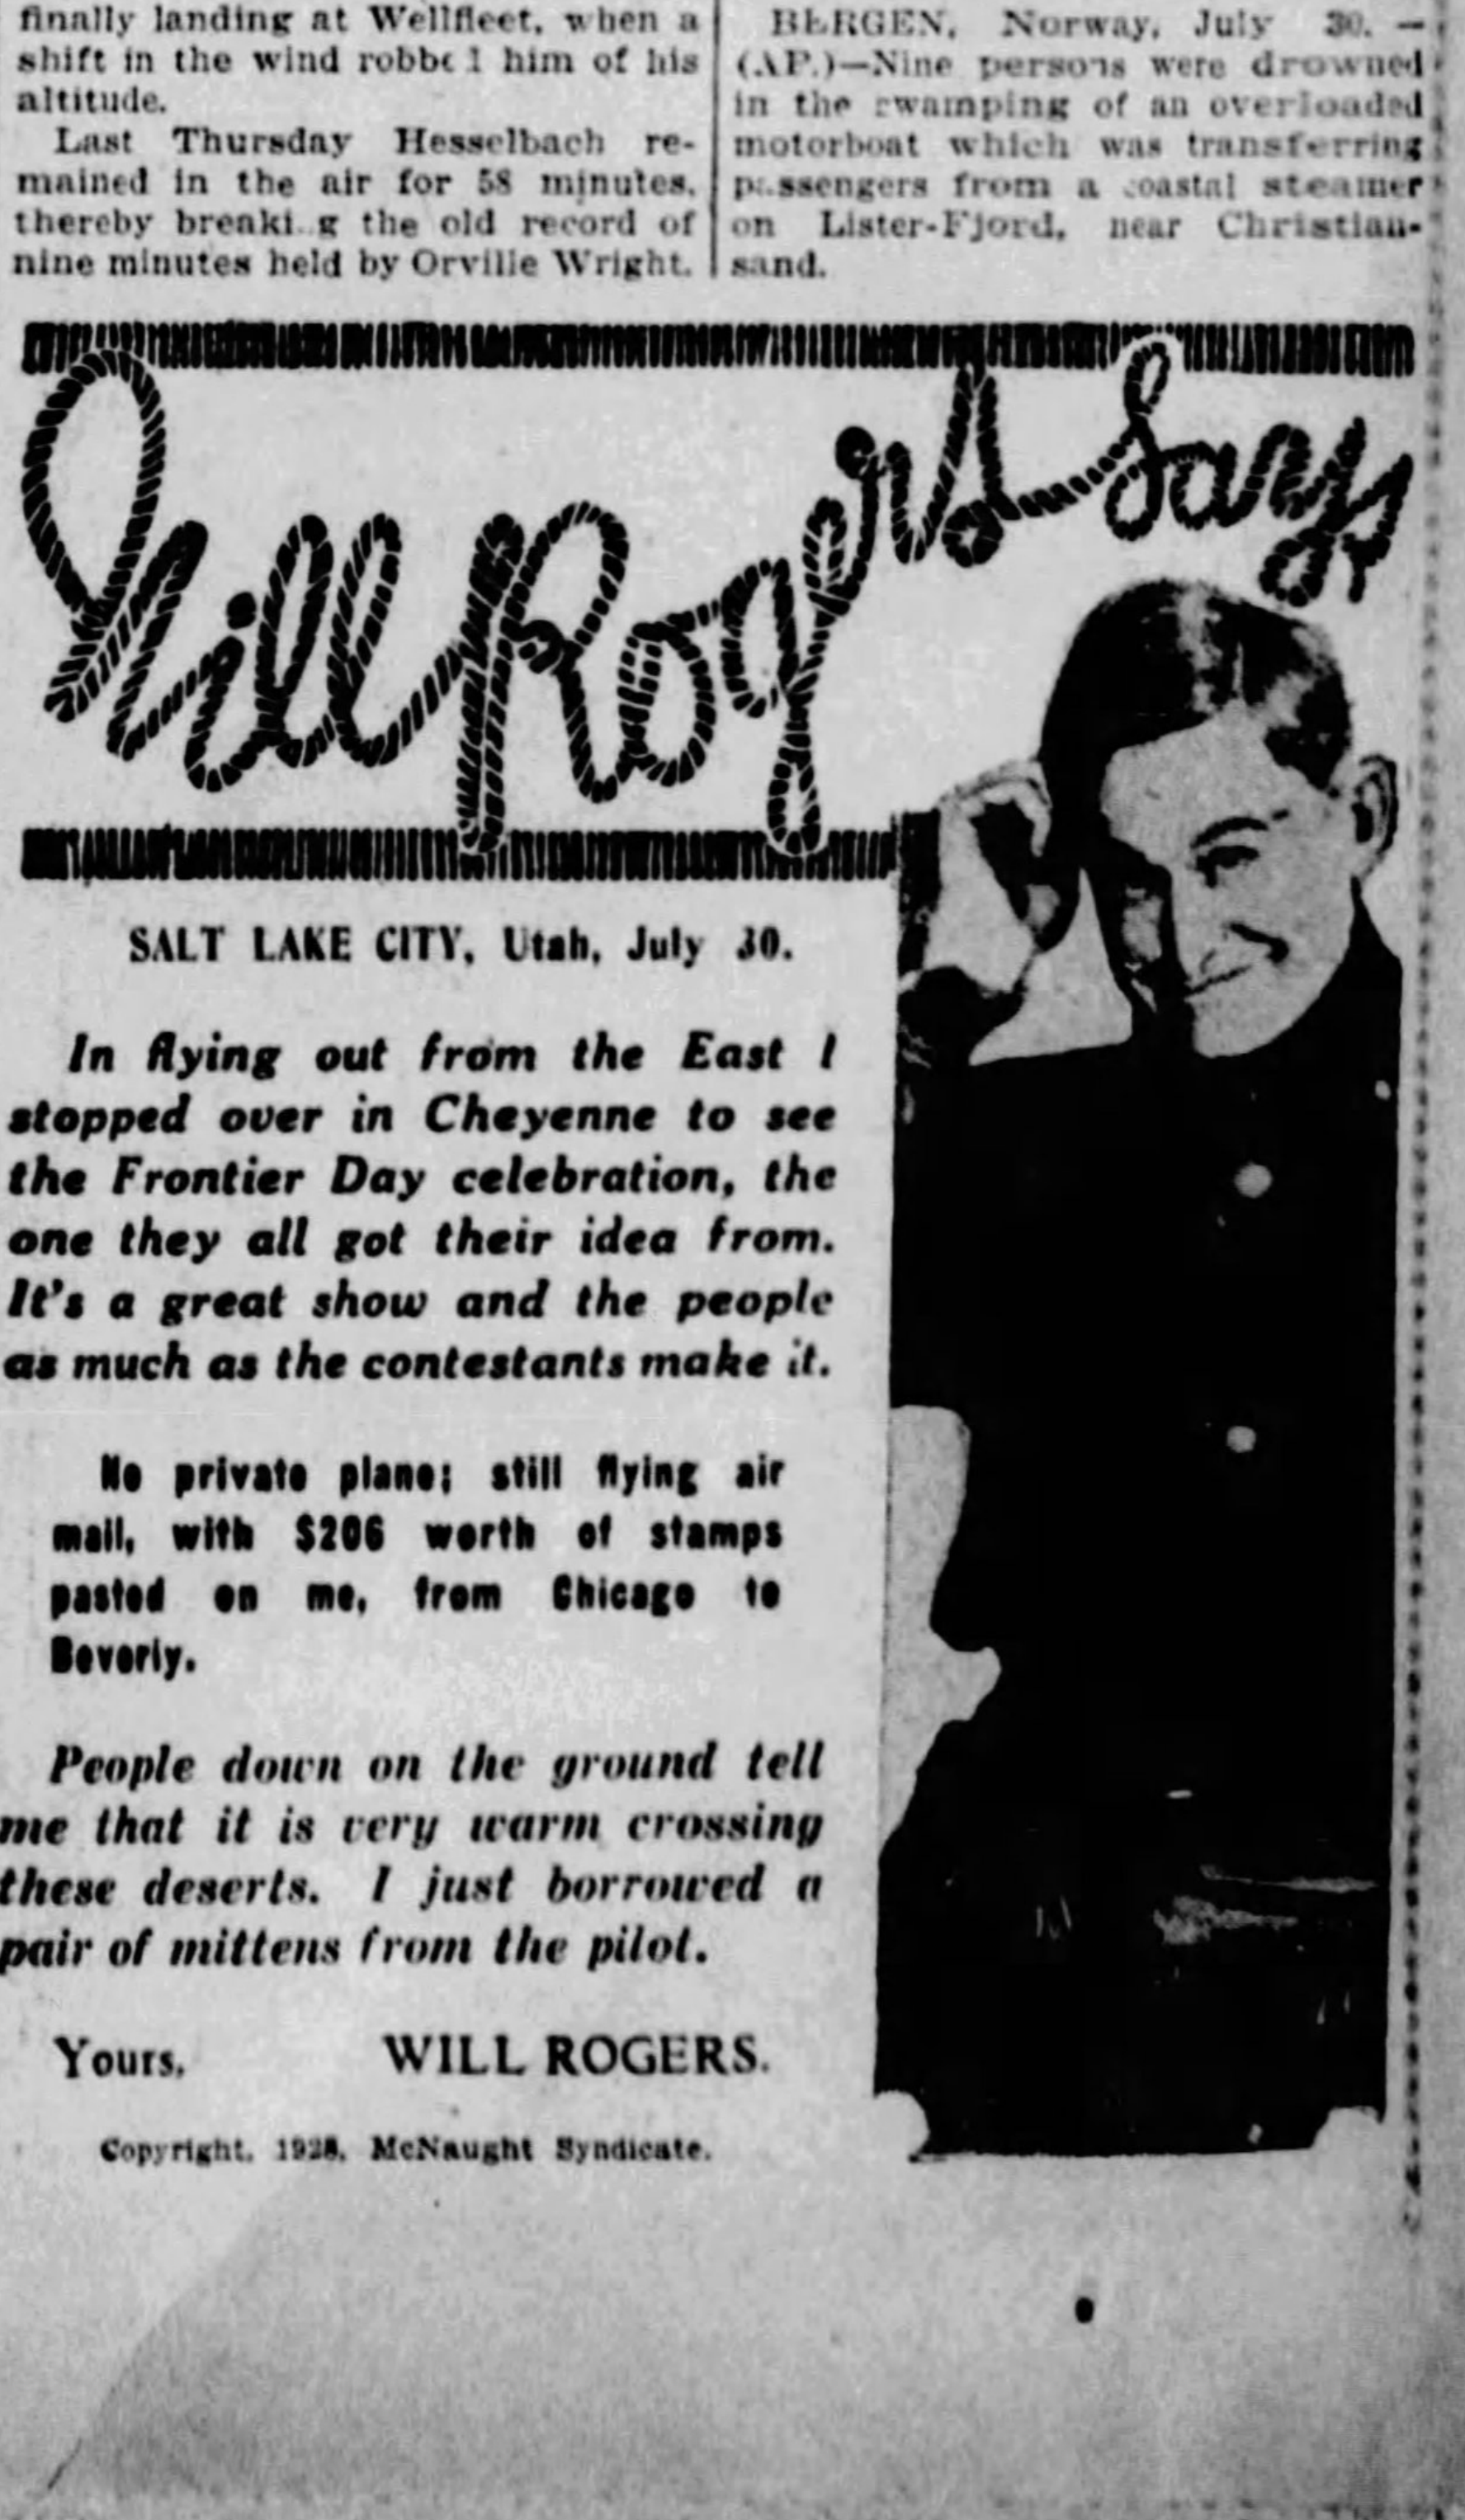
PROVINCETOWN, Mass., July 30.—(AP.)—For the second time within a week, the American endurance record for air gliders was broken when Peter Hesselbach, German flier, remained in the air four hours and five minutes yesterday.

Hesselbach took off from Corn Hill at 9:55 a. m. in his Darmstadt glider. Then he glided back and forth over a distance of approximately 10 miles, finally landing at Wellfleet, when a shift in the wind robbed him of his altitude.

Last Thursday Hesselbach remained in the air for 58 minutes, thereby breaking the old record of nine minutes held by Orville Wright.

NINE DROWN IN SINKING OF NORWEGIAN LIGHTER

BERGEN, Norway, July 30.—(AP.)—Nine persons were drowned in the swamping of an overloaded motorboat which was transferring passengers from a coastal steamer on Lister-Fjord, near Christiansand.



SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, July 30.

In flying out from the East I stopped over in Cheyenne to see the Frontier Day celebration, the one they all got their idea from. It's a great show and the people as much as the contestants make it.

No private plane; still flying air mail, with $206 worth of stamps pasted on me, from Chicago to Beverly.

People down on the ground tell me that it is very warm crossing these deserts. I just borrowed a pair of mittens from the pilot.

Yours, WILL ROGERS.

Estelle Taylor Makes Speed From Location to Go East For "Big Fight" Rehearsals

By REGINA CREWE.

(Copyright, 1928, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, July 30.

ESTELLE TAYLOR has taken the train for New York. Her picture, "The Singapore Mutiny," took longer in the making than had been supposed, and Estelle began to receive wires to report for rehearsals of "The Big Fight," which opens next month. Director Ralph Ince, who also acts in the picture, hurried things along as much as possible. But it wasn't until two hours before train time that it was definitely decided that the star could leave for the East. So it happened that there was a wild dash from location to the Dempsey home, and from the house to the station.

In fact the dash didn't end until Estelle ran down the platform and swung on the train just as the conductor's "all aboard" echoed through the depot. There were a half-dozen farewell parties arranged for 'Stell, but her need for haste spoiled all plans.

Nothing like realism in the movies! If you don't believe it ask Edna Murphy. Edna has been working in "My Man" with Fannie Brice. In one sequence the girls have a little misunderstanding, and Edna stopped one of Fannie's realistic swings with the point of her chin. When she came to the director decided that she was entitled to the afternoon off. "But I didn't mind a bit," says Edna. "A real sock films much more realistically than a faked one, and I'm sure we have a great scene. Besides I got a half-holiday."

While Edmund Carewe is considering the advisability of casting Sessue Hayakawa opposite Dolores Del Rio when the star makes "The Darling of the Gods," the famous Japanese player will appear in another film. It is called "The Bandit Prince" and it will be adapted for the screen from a story which Sessue, himself, has written. It is understood that Harry Hoyt will direct, and that the picture will have both sound and color.

O. O. McIntyre, who tells people to "go powder their spats" in the most widely read of all Broadway columns, has arrived in Hollywood to give the natives a sartorial treat, and also to regale them with wisecracks and witty sayings. If Mr. McIntyre doesn't watch out they'll have his name signed to a title-writer's contract some morning when he thinks he's signing the breakfast check.

Nigel De Brulier has been signed by Fairbanks to play the role of Cardinal Richelieu in "The Iron Mask." It is the same part this talented actor interpreted so well in "The Three Musketeers." Fairbanks is signing as many of the old cast as possible. But the roles played by poor Barbara La Marr and Geirge Seigmann will be in the hands of others.

New York continues to get the breaks as a motion locale. "Manhattan" is the name of another which will have the famous skyline as a background. It will be directed by Dorothy Arzner, who holds the distinction of being one of the very few feminine wielders of the megaphone. Richard Arlen and Nancy Carroll will be the featured players. But the entire cast had better look to its laurels, for Lilyan Tashman is to have a part, and she's liable to steal a picture any old time. Danny O'Shea has been requisitioned from Mack Sennett and signed by Paramount for this film. The engagement may result in a long-term contract.

"Show Boat" is now under full steam. Desultory shooting has been going on for a couple of weeks, but now the entire cast is on the lot and Harry Pollard is putting cinematic life into Charles Kenyon's adaptation of the story.

First of the Universal pictures to have dialogue via "movietone" will be "Lonesome." This, you remember, is the film with only two characters in the action. Other persons appear in the film, but only in mob scenes which form a portion of the background.

SPORT COMMENT

by JAMES J. LONG

Wagner Says It's Too Early to Get Line on Probable Pennant Winner—Still Gives Pirates Chance—McKechnie's Three Big Guns—Pittsburgh District Swimmers Fit For Olympics.

THE heart of the most famous Pirate of all time is still loyal to his old club, and his baseball judgment still gives them a chance in the National League pennant race.

Honus Wagner

Honus Wagner, the king of them all in his heyday, and who has continued to keep close tabs on the daily doings in the big league ever since he retired from the majors in 1917 and became the outstanding figure in semi-pro ball hereabouts, says it is not only too early to count the Pirates out of the hunt but too early to term any club a probable winner.

"IT'S a little too early to get anything like a definite line on the probable money clubs," said the grizzled veteran of 21 National League campaigns, when asked for his opinion on the outcome of the fight in the Heydler loop. "From two to three weeks from now will be time enough to try to figure the thing out.

"By that stage the league clubs will be divided definitely into pennant possibilities and impossibilities. The teams still having even an outside chance will begin to hustle harder than ever in order to land as high as possible, while those whose last chance for a money post has been shot will let down unconsciously, as clubs always do when there is nothing at stake for them.

"I CERTAINLY am not counting the Pirates out of it. It is a mistake for any one to say that Pittsburgh has not got a chance for the top or a place in the money.

"Why, the Pirates have 62 games yet to play, and you can't tell what a club that has as much strength as Donie Bush's boys possess under normal conditions is likely to do in that number of contests. The Buccaneers have had far more than their share of misfortune this year, but they're still in there fighting and there is no telling what they may accomplish."

AFTER watching the Cardinals in another series against the Dodgers, Thomas Holmes, Brooklyn critic, expresses the opinion that PUNCH is the factor that has kept the Redbirds in first place in the National League race, and that the second trio of hitters in Bill McKechnie's batting order is the ignition of the club. Jim Bottomley bats fourth and leads the league in most slugging respects. "Sunny Jim" is batting close to .360. Chick Hafey swings in fifth place, and George Washington Harper bats sixth. Hafey and Harper are batting between .310 and .320 and rapidly rising.

Jim Bottomley

BOTTOMLEY, Hafey and Harper are termed the most dangerous set of successive sluggers facing National League pitching today, and somebody seems to be on the bases every time one of them comes to bat. On normal occasions Frank Frisch, an inveterate starter of rallies, bats third. Taylor Douthit, the lead-off man, leads the league in base hits.

When the Cardinal lineup bats around without scoring a run, something is wrong. Bottomley, Hafey and Harper are driving hitters. They are not only good hitters and hard to fool, but fence busters of the first water. They spell plenty of punch.

WITH the track and field portion of the Olympic games at last reached in Amsterdam, the belief is stronger than ever that the American team is going to re-assert its old superiority in the flat running races.

Last year the Yankees won only a single running race, the lone athlete to win a first place in that branch of competition being Jackson Scholz, who finished in front in the 200-meter race.

This time it is going to be different, and throughout the country the feeling is strong that as the meet progresses Uncle Sam's running talent will show that it has regained its old knack of capturing first places instead of depending upon seconds and thirds.

PITTSBURGH district swimmers are likely to cut a considerable figure in the aquatic end of the Olympic schedule. A card from John T. Taylor of this city, who is manager of the entire American swimming team, says that Miss Susan Laird, Miss Josephine McKim, Paul Wyatt and Harry Glancy are all in their best trim. He adds this applies to the whole American squad of natators.

Jackson Scholz

THE connection of the late Rube Waddell with the Pittsburgh club nearly three decades ago is recalled by a query from a Sun-Telegraph reader as to how many games he pitched here and how he fared in the "won" and "lost" columns.

Waddell came here with Fred Clarke, Honus Wagner, Claude Ritchey, Tommy Leach, Deacon Phillippe, Chief Zimmer, Pat Flaherty, Tacks Latimer, and other Louisville players when the Pittsburgh and Louisville clubs were consolidated following the season of 1899. Waddell pitched here in 1900 and 1901, being farmed to Milwaukee for part of the season of 1900. In 1900 he pitched in 22 games for the Pirates, being credited with 10 victories and charged with 10 defeats. In 1901 he made only two starts, losing on both occasions, and was then released to the Chicago Nationals.

SWIM EVENTS HEAD HIGHLAND PROGRAM

Championship events in the waters of Carnegie Lake will be one of the features of East Liberty day at Highland Park Tuesday of next week, sponsored by the East Liberty Trade Association, when between 15,000 and 20,000 East Enders and their families are expected to attend. These events will be the low board diving contest and the canoe tilting contest, and both will be sanctioned by the A. A. U. Special prizes will be given the winners in both.

In addition, Chairman Paul E. Taylor of the sports committee said yesterday, there will be dozens of athletic and aquatic contests for men, women and children, for which 150 prizes have been arranged, ranging from fancy lamps and jewelry to orders for groceries and meats.

William F. (Bill) Serrick, of New York, who, by reason of having carried Kauffmann 37 holes in the final round for the National Public Links championship at Cleveland last year, is the favorite to dethrone him in this year's play.

CANADIAN DEFEATS COAST STAR

OLYMPIC STADIUM, AMSTERDAM, July 30.—(AP.)—A Canadian schoolboy from British Columbia, Percy Williams, sprang from obscurity to fame today by beating the world's greatest sprinters in the Olympic 100-meter final in 10 4-5 seconds.

Frank Wykoff, American favorite in the event, finished fourth, while Bob McAllister, "The Flying Cop," regarded as a dark horse, was sixth and last.

Williams, off to a brilliant start, withstood the terrific closing drive of his rivals in a sensational finish and was across the line a full yard in front of Jack London, the British Negro. George Lammers, the German, was third a step ahead of Wykoff.

The judges delayed the announcement at the close of the race as they disagreed over the last two places. They finally put Legg, of South Africa, fifth, and McAllister, last, tentatively awaiting photographs of the finish.

The hundred meters dash witnessed the worst setback American sprinters ever received in Olympic competition when they failed to get one of the three medals. Two false starts preceded the race and the second, made by Wykoff, seemed to rattle the young American.

McAllister started poorly and was unable to close the gaps as he had done previously, despite the fact that the time was slower than in either of the semi-finals when the Olympic record was twice equaled.

Lord David Burghley, famous Cambridge track star, scored Great Britain's first Olympic championship in the 1928 Olympics, capturing the final of the 400-meter hurdles.

The victory of the Englishman over the American pair of Frank J. Cuhel and F. Morgan Taylor, who finished second and third, furnished a sensational upset.

Bob McAllister equaled the Olympic record of 10¾ seconds in the first heat of the 100-meter semi-final today, closing in a great burst of speed for a victory over P. Williams, of Canada.

Lord Burghley was off to a good start and led virtually all the way. A staggering start made it difficult to guage the positions until the runners entered the stretch where all six finalists were closely bunched.

The American pair were neck and neck with the Briton over the last hurdle, but Lord Burghley sprinted at the end and won by two yards from Cuhel, while Taylor was inches behind. The time was :53 2-5.

Although the Americans were stunned by defeat in the event they had felt sure of winning, the Englishman's triumph was cheered vigorously by the Yankee contingent as well as throughout the stands as "Lord Davy" pink cheeked and smiling was carried off the field on the shoulders of his teammates.

Cuhel, the stronger of the two Americans, appeared the victim of a poor start, but was outrun in the final dash after pulling up even with the Briton.

YANKS DEFEATED

In a day in which they were beaten in all three finals the Americans gained small satisfaction by increasing their point lead. Totals showed the United States with 55 points, Britain 19, Finland 17, Sweden 16 and Canada and Ireland each 10.

A big upset came when Dr. P. O'Callaghan of Ireland won the Olympic hammer throwing championship with a toss of 51.39 meters. Skold of Sweden was second and the Americans, Black, Gwinn and Connor finished third, fifth and sixth, respectively.

O'Callaghan's winning hammer-throw translated into American terms was 168 feet 7½ inches, more than 10 feet short of the Olympic record made by Matt McGrath of the United States in 1912.

JOHNNIES' SALE IS DENIED

Despite information from a sound source to the effect that the Johnstown club of the Mid-Atlantic League had been sold to the Cleveland Indians, denial was made today by both clubs that such a deal had gone through.

Merle Beam, secretary of the Johnnies, wired the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph as follows:

"Johnstown club has no knowledge of sale to Cleveland."

Inquiry in Cleveland elicited the information that the Cleveland club denied purchasing the Johnstown club, but admitted that its scouts had looked over talent of the outfit. It was stated, however, that, owing to the baseball law which strictly prohibits the purchase of minor league clubs to be used as farms, but which frequently has been violated recently, the Indians probably would not admit purchasing the Johnnies if they had done so.

Pitt Opens Grid School

By JESS CARVER.

WANT to study a bit of football?

If you are inclined that way, just hike out to State Hall at the University of Pittsburgh sometime today, where you may enroll in Dr. John Bain Sutherland's football course, which opens today and continues for two weeks. Dr. Sutherland, head coach of football at Pitt, will give special instruction in the fundamentals of the game, in which he is capable of expert teaching, and will also touch on gridiron theory and offensive and defensive tactics.

Coach Frank Shea of the Panther track team finished a two weeks' course in track and field instruction at the university last Friday.

About three weeks after the grid course is completed, Coach Sutherland will lead his 1928 Pitt grid squad to Camp Hamilton at Windber, Pa., to start preparations for the fall campaign. The Panthers are scheduled to depart for the camp September 3.

A number of college and high school track and field stars will compete in the annual Philadelphia Company championship and open meet at Schenley Oval Saturday afternoon. One of the strongest contingents will represent the Beaver Valley Traction Company, which is under the tutelage of Heywood Taylor, track coach at Beaver High School and Geneva College.

The annual Pittsburgh Center junior and boys' tennis championship will get under way on the courts of the Pittsburgh Athletic Association and the University Club at 10 a. m. tomorrow. Winners in the respective events will be sent to Culver, Ind., by the Pittsburgh Tennis Association to compete in the national junior and boys' tournament to be staged at Culver Military Academy the week of August 13. This year's tourney will mark the first time in history that the nation-wide conclave has been held on clay.

TILDEN'S DOWNFALL DECIDES MATCH

the losing five-set doubles match in which he participated yesterday.

COCHET IN FINE FORM

Cochet was at his whirlwind best today and gave Big Bill the worst beating he ever received in Davis Cup play. Never before had Tilden been trimmed in straight sets in a challenge round for the trophy.

Realizing that his best chance lay in wearing down the American, the canny young player from Lyons kept him on the run constantly, deucing the sets and stretching them out interminably. Tilden made a brave attempt to win the second set and seven times needed only one point to gain it and square the match, but each time failed as Cochet steadily overhauled him. The third set saw Tilden again battling fiercely, this time in the hope of forcing the match to four sets, which would have given him the intermission at the end of the third set in which to rest. Cochet had other plans, however, and finished him off before the American could gain the coveted breathing space.

IDEAL CONDITIONS

The match began at 2:06 p. m., Cochet serving. There was a rather high cross-court wind but otherwise conditions for excellent tennis were favorable. The largest weekday crowd that ever attended a match on the historic courts was present, although it was short of yesterday's record gathering.

Cochet won his own service to start the match on two errors by Tilden and his own placements.

In the second game Tilden appeared worried and made a double fault on his first service. Then he served carefully, reducing his initial shots to much slower speed than his usual cannonball service. Deuce was called three times, but Tilden finally lost the game on an easy stroke which he sent out. This made the score Cochet 2, Tilden 0.

COURTS HEAVY.

The courts had been a bit too heavily sprinkled and both players were cautious on the rather slippery footing.

Taking time to study every shot, Tilden broke through Cochet's service after deuce was called, but the Frenchman applied pressure on the next game and captured Bill's service. This made the count Cochet 3, Tilden 1.

Tilden returned the compliment, with three successive placements off his backhand which helped him to win the next game and make the count Cochet 3, Tilden 2. Big Bill, now shooting his fastest service and acing Henri, won the sixth game, allowing Cochet only one point and making things all even at three all.

Cochet, taking a leaf out of Tilden's service book, made it four-three, acing the American who appeared to be standing still, so swift was the shot. Again Tilden won his service. This time at love and they were even up again, four-all. Neither man was taking any chances and it seemed peculiar to see such volleyers as Tilden and Cochet playing exclusively from the base line.

Big Bill again broke through Cochet in the ninth game, giving him the lead at 5-4. The tenth game was marked by the best tennis thus far, both men now coming to the net. Tilden was down, love-40, on his service but managed to deuce the game although he finally dropped it, making the score five-all. Breaks through service were many.

TILDEN TAKES LEAD

Cochet dropped the eleventh game and again Tilden was ahead, this time by 6-5. Both players served softly, husbanding their strength, preferring to play for their opponent's service rather than to make too strong an effort to win their own. Again each player broke through service and now five five successive games, neither man had won his own delivery.

Games went to 7-all and then Cochet won his service and followed it up by breaking through Bill's and the set was over, the Frenchman winning it by 9-7.

The point score, first set: Cochet, 4 7 4 4 1 1 4 0 2 6 1 4 1 4 4 4—51—9 Tilden, 2 5 6 2 4 4 1 4 4 4 4 2 4 2 0 2—50—7.

The fact that points were nearly even indicated the closeness of play. There was little to choose between them although Cochet appeared to be spending less effort than his opponent and was off to a faster start than is his usual habit.

The lanky American started the second set furiously, winning his service and breaking through Cochet's at love. Of the first three games Tilden had two and Cochet one. Both players found it extremely unhealthy to come to the net. When Cochet attempted it in the fourth game, Tilden passed him cleanly twice and the games were Tilden 3, Cochet 1.

COCHET WINS FIFTH

The little Frenchman put everything he had into the fifth game and won it on his own service, coming up to 3-2, but Tilden, not to be denied, renewed desperately his fight to stow the second set away and even the match. He put more pace on the ball instead of slicing and got results, capturing the next two games, the second a break through Henri's service. Tilden now was dominating the play and leading in this set by five games to two.

Cochet, apparently intending to make the sets last as long as possible, never gave up a single point, even when down five games to two, and his bulldog tactics carried the next two games. The Frenchman always kept the ball in play, maneuvering Tilden across the baseline and up and down the court, evidently aiming to tire him out. The Frenchman aced Bill for the last point of the ninth game in which Tilden's lead had been cut to 5-4.

Tilden was at set point twice when the score was 5-4, but was never able to push it across. Cochet twice passed him down the corridor and games were five-all, Tilden having lost both of his last two services. He wore a worried look but captured the eleventh game by a magnificent rally and led, 6-5.

WINNER GETS OVATION

There was a tremendous ovation from the thousands in the stands as Cochet won the final point for France. The victory was all the sweeter for the athletes of the tricolor as it was won over the best team the Americans could put in the court, Tilden having been allowed to play at their request despite charges of violation of the amateur player-writer rule pending against him.

Big Bill had set point no less

Like
Wheat at 50c
Cotton at a Nickel
Gasoline at 7c

The best rubber mileage is cheaper today than wheat at 50c per bushel, cotton at a nickel a pound, gasoline at 7c. Only such unheard-of low prices in these commodities can give an idea of the extremely low level of today's tire costs.

In this favorable price situation motorists are taking fullest advantage--selecting the quality that can be depended upon to carry through the next high-price tire period.

The saving in buying now will be cause for congratulation more than once in the seasons to come.

Tire Prices
Lowest Ever

With crude rubber selling below production costs, today there is no such thing as a high priced tire. Even the top quality tire is low priced now--costing less than was formerly paid for tires of ordinary service.

But economy isn't the only big feature of today's tire buying opportunity. Freedom from trouble is more important to tire users, in this fast moving age, than ever before--and the supreme safety and riding comfort, the serene peace of mind that goes with General's uninterrupted mileage, will alone sell you the top quality idea for all time--even should tire prices rebound to their highest peak.

State Trophy Play Today

PHILADELPHIA, July 30.—(INS.)—More than 100 pay-as-you-play golfers from all sections of the country will try out the difficult Cobb's Creek course today preliminary to the start of play in the seventh annual national public links championship tomorrow. While the late arrivals are testing the rock-like greens and difficult fairways, four six-men teams from Pittsburgh, Erie, Lancaster and Philadelphia will play 36 holes today to determine the Pennsylvania team championship

Philadelphia's team was the favorite to regain the trophy from the Pittsburgh titleholders as the players teed off at 9:30 o'clock this morning, but both the Erie and Lancaster teams were given an outside chance to win. The change from four-men teams to six-men teams has handicapped the smaller cities with their smaller number of golfers.

All of the entrants on the scene who have been over the rough course with its winding creeks agree that none will equal par of 71 and possibly none even equal the course record of 73. Par never has been equaled in a tournament since the course was completed 12 years ago.

Samuel Graham of Pittsburgh, Ed Schutte of Erie and Dr. I. Davis, of St. Louis, were among the low scorers in yesterday's practice rounds, all getting 78's.

Approximately 120 of the 136 entrants had arrived today.

DAVIS CUP

than seven times when the games were at 6-5 in the second set. At one stage he had a lead of 40-love in the twelfth game of the set, but Cochet played him uncannily with base-liners, drop shots and cross-court drives at sharp angles and brought the game to nine games all after five deuces. Cochet was playing with the utmost confidence, while Tilden seemed shaken and nervous. Cochet won his service at love to lead 7-6 and then pierced Tilden's delivery for the game that won him the set and gave him a commanding lead of two sets to none.

Cochet went after the third set at top speed and gained a lead of 5-4, needing only one more game to win the match and retain the Davis cup.

The point score, second set: Cochet—4 2 0 5 4 3 1 5 6 5 3 9 44—55—8; Tilden—0 4 4 7 1 5 4 3 4 3 5 7 0 1—48—6.

Tilden and Cochet continued the most careful play as the third set began, each carried his service and lost it once in the first four games, making the score 2-all. Rallies now were much longer and the shots lacked some of the sharp sting of the first two sets, but the style of play was still for the most part a baseline duel with an occasional chop or sliced stroke.

BOTH STORM NET

Cochet took the lead by suddenly rushing up to the net and apparently taking Tilden by surprise by smashing above Big Bill's head twice, winning the fifth game. Tilden responded with the same tactics. Both men stormed the net, volleyed and smashed for the entire sixth game which Tilden won on his service after it had been deuced and again they were all even. With straight set defeat staring him in the face, Tilden became more daring, but this appeared to be exactly what Cochet had been waiting for. He maneuvered Bill out of position and won the game.

With Cochet leading four games to three in the third set, Tilden made a spectacular effort and won his service at love, squaring the set at 4-all. But thereafter the Frenchman was supreme. He won his own service from 30, then broke through Tilden's for the final game of the set and match, passing Tilden with clean placements down the backhand when the score stood 30-all in the tenth and last game. Tilden received his full share of the cheering which greeted victor and vanquished.

The point score, third set: Cochet—2 6 4 2 4 3 4 0 4 4—33—6; Tilden—4 4 2 4 1 5 2 4 2 2—30—4.

LANDIS IS CALLED IN "FIXING" CASE

CHICAGO, July 30.—(AP.)—K. M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, said today he had received a telegram from Manager John T. Sheehan of the Elmira team of the New York-Pennsylvania League stating that a newspaper had charged several members of the team with throwing home games. The commissioner said he would not go to Elmira to investigate the charges until he has seen a copy of the newspaper, which is being sent to him by Manager Sheehan.

SPEAKING of SPORTS

by HARRY KECK
SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS EDITOR

YE SAD TAYLE OF YE GATE!

THIS is a personally conducted interview with a gentleman who has been in the limelight very much during the last week. His name is Mr. Gate. You heard considerable about his critical condition immediately before and after the Tunney-Heeney fight. Now he is able to sit up and take nourishment—and, what is worse, speak.

"Yes," he said, not waiting for the usual leading question, and with all of the zest of a woman reveling in the details of her latest operation, "yes, it was a tough siege. I have been through many hard battles, but I thought I was a goner this time. I am certain that nothing pulled me through but the brand of cigarettes I smoke.

"I took an awful kicking and don't like to alibi, but I do not think I am wholly to blame for what has happened. There were greatly extenuating circumstances, and I would appreciate it beyond words if you would sort of set me straight with my public.

"YOU know we Gates are of a rich blood and require certain fattening qualities in our foods to sustain us. These essentials were lacking in this crisis, and, in view of this, I think I deserve considerable credit for getting by as I did.

"Times have changed vastly in recent months and I do not think this circumstance has been generally taken into consideration. There are entirely too many projects going on to divert the attention of the people from the really important things of life, such as this Tunney-Heeney fight. Really, I am sure I do not know what this world is coming to.

"In the first place, after this fight was placed on the books and the responsibility for making a success of it put up to me, what should they do but ring in two National political conventions on me and crowd me right out of the newspapers. Then they had an assassination in Mexico, the first in years. And the women, bless them, had to crowd me some more by their foolish flying of the Atlantic. As if it wasn't tough enough for us veterans when they were swimming the Channel to get their pictures in the papers.

"And that wasn't all. Why did this have to be an Olympic year? The numberless elimination trials simply raised havoc with my old parking places in the sporting columns, and Charley Paddock had to grab his share of publicity as an honest but persecuted amateur athlete. And don't forget that little war over Bill Tilden and the Davis Cup tennis matches, that was taken so seriously that even I began to believe that maybe they meant it when they put Bill on the sidelines.

"YES, sir. I'll say it was tough. I couldn't get a break. In other words, I couldn't make the public conscious of my presence until just a few days before the fight, and then the reaction was to learn that I was deathly sick. Even before I reached the crisis, the scandal-mongers who write sports, but should be morticians, were plucking my bones and erecting tombstones to my memory. They said it was too bad; I had been a good fellow when I had it, but them days was gone forever. What I mean to say is that all I got was sympathy, and the tone of that was such that I suspect many were glad to see me suffering.

"I didn't dare to face my old pal, Tex Rickard. I knew he felt I had left his corner, and after all the fine boosting he had given me in the past. It used to be that he was forever talking with keen enthusiasm about his Gate, and this time he didn't hardly mention me until it was all over and then he put me on the pan and admitted I was a flop. I don't think he'll ever forgive me. And how can I defend myself? Oh, woe is me!

"OF COURSE, I have my own theories of what caused my severe illness. And it wasn't mixing cucumbers and ice cream, either. It was a complication of diseases, variously known as the Flying Age, the Olympics, Daviscupitis, Political Conventionitis, Hardtimes and Radiobroadcasting, compounded by Lackofinterest and Inferiorballyhoo. I am fairly convinced that the last-mentioned was the worst ailment of all. Well do I remember the Days Before Tunney, when a chap named Dempsey was heavyweight champion. Boy, it was the easiest thing in the world, then, to build up a Gate. The old Ballyhoo simply fed on itself and all I had to do was to take things easy and let the boys count me up at the finish. This time they counted me out.

"Everybody says there was nothing to ballyhoo about a Tunney-Heeney fight. That may be so, but I don't know. Notice how they're ballyhooing the Olympic games, with side fights and everything. And how they worked up the French by taking out Tilden and putting him back into the Davis Cup play to get a Gate? My old friend, C. C. Pyle, must be running those affairs. I can see his old familiar handiwork in every move.

"Consider the handicap under which I was working on this fight. Everybody said from the start that it was a punk match and they didn't even change their minds after it was all over. There was no scandal about it. No betting on it. Not a soul thought Heeney had a chance. There was no fixing or suspicion of fixing. No fighting about the referee. No anything. Nothing to ballyhoo. Golly, but I wish they'd bring back Jack Kearns or Leo Flynn, or do something else to perk things up.

"AND here I am, left holding the sack. Nobody getting any blame but me. I'm heart-sick, beaten, on the verge of ending it all. Woe, I repeat, is me! Do me a favor, Oldtimer, for the sake of Auld Lang Syne. Give my story to the world. Tell them the real story of The Gate. I may recover, but I'm sure I'll never, never be the same!"

TRIBE THUMPS YANKS, 24-6

CLEVELAND, July 30.—The Cleveland Indians handed Miller Huggins' New York Yankees the worst defeat the American League leaders have received this season here yesterday, when the Tribe bombarded the Gothamites for a 24-6 victory. The world champions were on their knees from the start, for the Indians tallied eight runs in the first inning and followed it up with nine more in the second.

George Pipgrass, Wiley Moore, Myles Thomas, Henry Wilson and Archie Campbell fell victims to the hitting barrage. Shaute allowed the Yanks 15 hits, although he pitched good ball. Ruth, homerunless, got four hits and two runs.

Money Ghost Won't Down Trade Sentiment Better.

By B. C. FORBES

THE bulls are at it again. They had more success last week than they had been having. On the New York Stock Exchange quotations advanced an average of between three and four points with gains in pet stocks much greater.

The industrial and general business news of the week was on balance, encouraging.

But the money ghost will not down.

BROKERS' loans were reduced only a little more than $10,000,000, whereas re-discounts increased fully $13,000,000 during the last week, bringing them to $1,025,000,000, up $400,000,000 from a year ago. Not only so, but there was a rather ominous advance in bankers' acceptance rates, and commercial paper was harder to place on the old terms. That and the firmness in time money, at 6 per cent, quite offset the 5½ per cent charge for call loans. The Federal reserve system's ratio of reserve gained only a fraction and still stands 10 per cent under a year ago. The New York reserve bank's reserve is almost 14 per cent under last year.

WHAT is bothering responsible bankers is the inordinate amount of "bootleg" call loans which have found their way into the hands of stock brokers. Whereas the total loaned to brokers by the New York banks is only $823,000,000, there is no less than $1,808,000,000 of "bootleg" loans now outstanding. Such loans again increased $36,913,000 last week. This total is greater than the amount ($1,552,000,000), being loaned for out-of-town banks.

NOW this colossal total of $1,808,000,000 is utterly unregulated and totally irresponsible money. The lenders are corporations, individuals and foreign interests. They merely employ New York banks, for a trifling commission, to act for them as agents in arranging the loans.

The New York banks obviously cannot exercise the slightest control over the calling of these outside loans. Those who have eagerly sent funds to Wall Street to reap the high rates recently ruling doubtless would not hesitate to withdraw their money the moment they became uneasy over some stock market development. Should any widespread calling of this irresponsible money be suddenly indulged in, the banks probably would not be able to prevent violent temporary disturbance.

This new menace is now receiving the active attention of leading bankers and some action by the Clearing House is looked for. There are influential bankers who do not hesitate to characterize this whole situation as one occasioning them much greater alarm than they care to express publicly.

SOME of the neophytes who have been conspicuous in bull speculation, impatiently call all such discussion "theoretical." They frown upon it and would wish that the facts were ignored. But financiers of maturer experience do not forget that the calling of, not $1,000,000,000, but $100,000,000 or less of loans in one day has sent the call rate up violently. Therefore, they can-not shut their eyes and close their minds to what might happen were several hundred millions of this unregulated outside money to be called without warning.

The time to take corrective steps is now, when everything is moving along smoothly. To wait for signs of disaster would be criminally shortsighted.

THE resumption of the upward movement in many stocks has been facilitated by the publication of quarterly and semi-annual reports of which the majority have shown increased profits. Even some of the better oil companies did distinctly better last quarter than they did a year ago—and there are mildly encouraging indications that progress will be made in modifying over-production and in obtaining less ruinous prices. Steel manufacturers, motor makers and construction companies continue gratifyingly active. Railway car loadings again showed a moderate gain over a year ago, an experience not enjoyed during the first half of the year.

Perhaps quite as important as actual developments is the more cheerful sentiment which is now coming to the front regarding general trade prosperity.

NOT so many doubts now are harbored that the second half of the year will show at least slight betterment. The resiliency exhibited by the stock market may have contributed to this more confident attitude. Whether the stock market will continue to contribute to confidence or act differently is another question.

It should not be overlooked that autumn demands for money are approaching and that the effect on rates may be sufficient to have an effect upon speculation.

HIGHER MONEY HALTS STOCK ADVANCE

NEW YORK, July 30.—(AP.)—Higher call money rates checked a brisk rally in today's stock market. Under the stimulus of pool operations and expanding public participation, prices were marked up 1 to nearly 8 points during the morning, but many of the gains were cut down or canceled by early afternoon.

Call money renewed unchanged at 5½ per cent, but advanced to 6 when banks called about $30,000,000 in loans in preparations for heavy month-end settlements. Trading turned dull on the decline, indicating the absence of any extensive forced liquidation.

Except for the publication of a few favorable semi-annual earnings reports there was little in the day's business news to influence the price movement. Chrysler and Dodge Brothers issues showed special strength on indications that the merger plan would be approved, although Dodge stockholders were still in session at Baltimore without having announced decision early this afternoon.

National Tea, American Machine and Foundry and Midland Steel Products preferred, all up 7 points or more, were in the vanguard of the early advance. Montgomery Ward crossed 180 to a new peak on predictions of record-breaking July sales. Eastman Kodak moved into new high ground on buying influenced by the successful demonstration of the new amateur motion picture film in color.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, July 30.—The cotton market opened steady today at a decline of 23 to 33 points in response to lower Liverpool cables, a favorable view of the weather news and expectations of bearish private end-June condition and crop reports.

The break brought in considerable covering and there were quick rallies of several points from the lowest, but the bulge met continued selling and the market was unsettled during the first hour. December sold off to 20.34c, with the general list showing net losses of about 32 to 34 points.

A private report issued after the opening placed the condition at 69.6 compared with 68.7 last month and 69.5 at this time last year.

The decline extended to 20.31c for December during the morning, with active months generally showing net losses of about 35 to 37 points. The volume of business tapered off around these figures and the market steadied on covering. The private condition figures of 69.6 were regarded by some of the local traders as pointing to a crop of about 14,700,000 bales. The failure of this report to stimulate more general selling probably led to covering of rebuying. The market at midday was quiet at rallies of 9 of 10 points from the lowest, with December selling around 20.41c, of aboue 22 to 26 points net lower.

GIRL ARTIST IS SUICIDE

NEW YORK, July 30.—Friends of Marvyl Egland, 25, who aspired to a career as an artist in New York, were making plans today to send her body back home to Glenville, Minn.

The girl from the little country town, who came to win fame with pencil and brush, killed herself while a guest of a group of girl friends of Columbia University in their apartment.

She had seemed despondent and had told one of her friends:

"Oh, dear, life is just one long failure for me. Everything is a failure. I can't make a go of it and I don't know what's the matter."

Miss Egland used a silk stocking to strangle herself.

NEW CASTLE MAN HURT WHEN AUTO HITS POLE

POTTSVILLE, Pa., July 30.—Norbit Bradley, 23, of Cresson, Pa., was probably fatally injured and his companion, Nicholas Fabula, 27, of New Castle, Pa., was seriously hurt yesterday when their automobile crashed into an electric light pole. Bradley suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries. Fabula was severely cut and bruised and may be suffering internal hurts.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, July 30.—Big receipts at Chicago today, together with favorable crop reports, led to a setback in corn prices today, after upturns at the start. A contributing bearish factor was weakness of the wheat market here ascribed to unexpected downturns at Liverpool. Corn opened unchanged to 1⅛c higher, but subsequently receded all around to below Saturday's finish. Wheat started ⅛c to ⅜c off, and later underwent a material further decline. Oats were easy. Provisions held steady.

At noon, corn was 1⅛c to 2¼c net lower and wheat 1¼c to 2c down.

With arrivals of corn here today aggregating 1,319 cars, and with likelihood of another huge influx tomorrow, buyers of corn today appeared to lack appetite. Commission houses demand at the start was soon satisfied and the whole market responded to somewhat aggressive selling of the July delivery. Meanwhile, news of adverse conditions for the European corn crop failed completely to offset the outlook for a large yield this season in the United States.

Downward swings of the wheat market here accompanied not only unlooked for weakness of Liverpool wheat conditions, but went hand in hand with news that the Liverpool decline was due to larger shipments from North America. Furthermore, advices were received that there had been but little increase of rust in Canadian wheat fields during the last week, and that there was lessening likelihood now that either the Canadian or domestic spring wheat would be unfavorably affected.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Higher Money Halts Rise.

Early buoyancy in the leading industrial issues gave way to a heavy market shortly after mid-day, when the call money rate was advanced from the 5½ per cent opening figure to 6 per cent, the first change in demand loan charges for a week. Banks called $30,000,000 up to noon. Month-end settlements were responsible for the rise, although the Street seemed somewhat disturbed by the firmer tendency, especially as demand on the money market for crop moving purposes is close at hand and manufacturers and merchants will be in the market for increasing amounts to finance holiday operations. The mail order stocks led the early advance on expectations of favorable July sales reports to come out later in the week. Their move was halted, however, as was that in Atlantic Refining, which was shoved up on rumors that pool interests were talking 160 for the shares. Steel and General Motors did not get above the previous highs on the movement but were in good demand. Steel's report, due tomorrow, will make a fine showing for the second quarter, but it is thought much of this development has been discounted by the recent advance which carried it up about 15 points from the low of the June break.

Buying the Rail Shares.

Railroad stocks were features of the market in the late forenoon, nearly all those issues being bought on a large scale, Chesapeake and Ohio advancing 5 points to 185. Erie first preferred also was in urgent demand, moving up 3 points to 59½. The widest movement was in Delaware and Hudson, which rose over 5 points to 195. The bullish influence in this group is furnished in the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission directing an increase of 15 per cent in trunk line postal rates and declaring the advance retroactive since 1925, entitling the rails to $45,000,000 back pay.

Mail Carrying Rates Raised.

The Interstate Commerce Commission today found present mail pay rates unreasonable. The commission increased compensation for carrying mail approximately $15,000,000 a year, making the total amount of compensation on a retroactive basis $45,000,000.

Rediscount Rates.

There has been talk of another advance in the New York rediscount rate. However, it is learned that the reserve officials are not thinking of such action and do not believe it will be necessary. They would be extermely averse to raising the rate further unless England and other European countries advance first and there are no indications in Europe that such action is likely. Furthermore, the reserve officials have received quite a number of protests and "warnings" as a result of the corrective measures they have taken thus far. In most instances the communications, it is stated, betrayed ignorance of the functions of the reserve system. Nevertheless they revealed a strong feeling of antagonism throughout the country to the measures thus far taken to curb the credit. The reserve's activities were necessary to prevent a bad smash in stock prices and the resulting unsettlement of business generally. While full correction of the credit structure of the market has not been accomplished, it is hoped to complete it without ultra-drastic measures. It is in time loans that the bankers are most strict and hope to gradually effect further correction. Several brokers report they have had considerable more trouble renewing time accommodations in recent weeks than they have had in several years. Furthermore, the banks are much more particular as to the collateral they will accept in granting such accommodation.

Fisher's Index Unchanged.

Prof. Irving Irving Fisher's commodity price index for the past week is 99.9 against 99.9 in the previous week and 98.4 a month ago.

Living Cost Lower.

Cost of living is decreasing, according to the Department of Labor. It is now at the lowest point since the period included in the price depression which ensued with post-war deflation. Averaging figures from 32 representative cities, living costs at the end of June were 70 per cent higher than in 1913. Six months ago they were 72 per cent above the 1913 level and a year ago they were 73 per cent above 1913. Two years ago living costs stood nearly 76 per cent above 1913 and three years ago nearly 80 per cent above.

Second Half Outlook Favorable.

The opening second half of the year finds business holding up remarkably well, according to the monthly business review of the First National Bank of Boston. The let-down from the spring peak has been moderate, and indications now are that business activity will continue on a fairly even keel during the summer months. This period of comparative quietness can be used advantageously to make the necessary adjustments following a period of high activity. Aggregate production for the first half of the year was approximately the same as a year ago. The so-called key industries—steel, building, and automobiles—have made an impressive showing, the first two establishing new high marks in production for the first six months of the year, while the automobile industry surpassed all previous corresponding periods with one exception. What is more significant, this high rate of operation was not a mere spurt which has spent its force, but prospects are that these industries will give a good account of themselves for the last half of the year.

"Ads" Aid Insurance Sales.

The use of national advertising increases by more than one-fifth the average sale of the life insurance salesman of average skill and experience, according to a "study of the buyer" for 1927, just completed by the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Company of Hartford; the exact increase in 21 per cent. Comparison with figures for former years shows that life insurance buyers apparently are becoming more receptive to selling ideas advanced through national publicity, for the difference in average sale to "national advertising" buyers and those not so influenced was substantially greater in 1927 than in 1924, when the last Buyer Study was made. The national advertising of the Phoenix Mutual, which has gone consistently on for many years, is presumed to be a regular part of every selling interview. The figures show that the salesman's failure to so use it inevitably costs him money in lost commissions.

California Packing Expands.

California Packing Company, through its subsidiary, the Utah Packing Corporation, has purchased the Morgan Canning Company of Utah.

Jewel Tea Sales Ahead of 1927.

Jewel Tea Company, Inc., sales for the four weeks ended July 14, 1928, totaled $1,223,969, against $1,054,897 in the 1927 period, and for the first 28 weeks of 1928 were $8,380,756, compared with $7,718,243 a year ago.

Ford of Canada Sets Record.

New production records are being set at the Canadian plant of the Ford Motor Company, where the former record of 500 cars a day was passed last week. Employment figures at the plant, which also set a record, show a total of 8,800 on the payroll.

California Oil Output Off.

Crude oil production in California for the week of July 28 totaled 643,000 barrels, as against 646,500 barrels in the week preceeding.

Johns-Manville Earnings Bulge.

Johns-Manville Corporation June quarter consolidated net income was $1,600,438 after federal taxes, etc., against $772,705 in the preceding quarter.

Mallinson Makes Good Showing.

H. R. Mallinson & Co. reports for the six months to June 30 consolidated net income of $460,164 after charges and federal taxes, equal after preferred dividends to $2 a share on 200,000 common shares, against $126,461 in the corresponding period in 1927.

Beacon Oil Eliminates Deficit.

The Beacon Oil Company reports June quarter net income of $550,387 after depreciation, etc., but before federal taxes, compared with a deficit of $405,920 in the preceding quarter and net income of $181,886 in the June, 1927, quarter.

Steel Prices Gaining.

Daily Metal Trade says: "While prices of steel bars, shapes and plates are tending upward, the movement is gradual. In many cases consumers are being advised that prices they are now paying will hold only to the end of July. Others are protected for a month or six weeks. Pig iron demand in Pittsburgh district is more active than for several weeks. Three eastern steel mills have closed for about 30,000 tons of basic iron. Industrial coal consumers continue to postpone buying following virtual ending of miners' strike, and are convinced supplies will continue ample with possibility that prices will go still lower. Reduced production is keeping the beehive coke market fairly stable despite exceedingly light demand. Large structural fabricators have good backlogs and expect a steadier market."

Paramount's Half Year.

Paramount Famous Lasky Corporation and subsidiaries for six months ended June 30, 1928, including undistributed share of earnings of Balaban & Katz Corporation, a 65 per cent owened subsidiary, estimated net profit of $3,870,000 after charges, federal taxes, etc., equivalent to $5.63 a share earned on 687,443 shares of no-par common stock. This compares with $3,532,325 or $5.60 a share on 575,406 shares of common stock in first half of 1927, after allowing for preferred dividend requirements. The preferred stock was all retired on February 1, 1928. Net profit for the quarter ended June 30 is estimated at $1,605,000 after above charges, equal to $2.33 a share on 687,443 shares of common stock, comparing with $2,264,149 or $3.29 a share on 687,379 shares in preceding quarter and $1,465,051 or $2.27 a share on 575,406 common shares in June quarter of 1927, after dividends on preferred stock.

Smaller Sugar Melt.

Total melt of 15 United States sugar refiners from January 1 to and including July 21 was 5,491,554,506 pounds, against 6,509,565,117 pounds from January 1 to July 23, last year.

Jay's Cotton Estimate.

J. W. Jay & Co. estimate the condition of cotton in the United States as of July 24 at 69.6 per cent, against 68.7 on June 25, 1928, and 69.5 per cent a year ago.

Studebaker Earnings.

Studebaker Corporation for quarter ended June 30, 1928, reports net profit of $4,603,423 after depreciation, federal taxes, etc., equivalent after 7 per cent preferred dividends requirements to $2.39 a share earned on 1,875,000 no par shares of common stock. This compares with $3,979,873 or $2.05 a share in preceding quarter and $5,069,446 or $2.63 a share in second quarter of 1927. Net profit for first six months of 1928 totaled $8,583,296 after above charges, equal to $4.44 a share, against $8,472,383 or $4.37 a share in the first half of preceding year.

Sinclair Boosts Wholesale Gas.

Sinclair Refining Company has advanced United States motor gasoline in tank cars ½ cent a gallon to 9 cents in group three territory, which is the Mid-Continent district.

Canadian Pacific Net Up.

The Canadian Pacific Railway reports June net earnings of $2,877,184, against $2,264,452 for June, 1927, and for six months $16,451,737 against $13,012,299 last year.

Lehigh Coal Merger Plans.

Under a plan to form a new corporation to unite under one management the business of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, with offices in Philadelphia, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and New York, and the Lehigh Valley Coal Sales Company, a committee has been appointed to receive deposits of certificates of interest in the capital stock of the coal company and stock in the sales company. The plan, approved by the boards of both companies, provides one share of stock in the new corporation for each deposited share of interest in the capital stock of the coal company, and one and one-fifth shares of preferred stock of the new corporation for each deposited share of sales company stock.

Big Gain for Missouri Pacific.

The Missouri Pacific reports for the month of June net operating income of $1,318,000, compared with only $685,000 in 1927. For six months the net was $8,603,000, against $5,871,000 in 1927.

Southern Pacific Seeks Equipment.

Holding Companies Not Evils in Themselves But Power Company Financing Frequently Is Unsound.

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

A WEEK ago we discussed the dangers to the general public and to investors of the pyramiding of holding companies in the electric power industry. There is nothing fundamentally wrong about the use of holding companies. It is their misuse which must be guarded against. Separate operating subsidiaries are frequently necessary in individual states where laws are conflicting and where the service is under control of separate regulating bodies.

THE financing methods used by some of the power companies, however, are neither necessary nor sound. One of the largest holding companies has a capital structure and a definite financial policy which could well be copied by the electrical industry. The American Telephone and Telegraph Company is in a different business, but its operating conditions are comparable to those of the power companies. It works under charters and in most localities enjoys a monopoly under the supervision of a state board. It is engaged in both interstate and intrastate service.

PRESIDENT WALTER S. GIFFORD in his annual report for 1927 admirably defines the function of a public utility.

"The American Telephone & Telegraph Company accepts its responsibility for a nation-wide telephone service as a public trust," he said. "Its duty is to provide the American public with adequate, dependable and satisfactory telephone service at a reasonable cost. To attain this end, it is the policy of the company to pay only reasonable regular dividends and, for part of the new capital needed, to offer from time to time new stock to its stockholders on favorable terms, for it believes this method of financing will provide the money needed for the business cheaply in good times and bad with more certainty than any other.

"THE safety of principal and regular dividends have been the compelling motives that have led to the widespread ownership of the stock of the company. At the end of the year there were 423,580 stockholders, an increase during the year of 24,459. No one of these stockholders owns as much as 1 per cent of the capital stock.

"THE nation-wide ownership of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company means ownership of the Bell system for, taking the associated operating telephone companies as a group, the American Telephone & Telegraph Company owns 93% of their common stock, and in the case of the Western Electric Company, Inc., it owns 98¼% of the stock. Dividends paid to the American Telephone & Telegraph Company by these companies, together with profits earned from its long-distance lines, are used for the payment of the regular dividends to the American Telephone & Telegraph Company stockholders and the protection of their investment. There is, in effect, one profit paid by the system and that profit is not and should not be large.

"THE aim of the management—and it is the only aim that will protect in the long run the safety of the investment of the hundreds of thousands of stockholders—is to continue to furnish the best possible telephone service at the least cost to the public. Extra or special dividends are entirely inconsistent with this aim and would be unsound. Earnings must, of course, be sufficient to permit the best possible telephone service at all times and to provide a reasonable payment to stockholders with an adequate margin of financial safety. Earnings in excess of these requirements will either be spent for the enlargement and improvement of the service furnished, or the rates charged for the service reduced."

IF THE American Telephone & Telegraph Company fully lives up to this creed it is more than a public utility; it is a public institution. Mr. Gifford recognizes the justice of giving the public its fair share in the savings from expansion and modern invention. This is treatment the public should expect in return for the granting of a monopoly. The power companies are lacking in such a sense of justice.

AN examination of this company's financial structure also shows a striking contrast with that of electric holding companies. The common stock of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company constituted 50% of the capital obligations of the entire system. Funded debt of the holding company amounted to 17% and funded debt of the underlying companies to 24%. Stocks of the underlying companies accounted for only 9%.

THE power companies frequently report only a trifling proportion in common stock of the holding company. Both the holding company and the subsidiaries usually have enormous outstanding amounts of preferred stocks and bonds. Instead of one holding company actually owning the operating units, there are often holding companies owning holding companies owning still other holding companies.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, July 30.—While no sales were reported in the raw sugar market early today, the undertone was easier and sugars were available at concessions of 1-32c, or on the basis of 4.11c for spots, duty paid.

The raw sugar futures market opened 1 to 4 points lower in response to the disappointing London market and reports of rains in Europe, where the crop was believed to be suffering from drought. The decline brought in some covering, but the demand was not sufficient to absorb the offerings, which appeared to come from trade and European interests. After the call the market declined further, with mid-day prices about 3 to 4 points net lower.

In refined the demand continued of a hand-to-mouth character. Buyers were not inclined to buy ahead, owing to the unsettled state of the raw market. Prices were unchanged at 5.55c to 5.60c for fine granulated.

NO IMPORTANT CHANGES IN LEADING SECURITIES

Mid-summer dullness continued to rule on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange at the opening of the new week today. Trading interest was apparently at the low points of the year with the first hour producing only two transactions, and both of these in normally inactive stocks.

An add lot of Petroleum Exploration changed hands at 36½, a gain of half a point over the last previous sale, and 15 shares Merchants Savings and Trust sold at 80, unchanged from the preceding sale.

Petroleum Exploration was listed on the board here this year. It operates a compression gasoline plant and a carbon black plant in Kentucky as well as being a producer and marketer of gas in the blue grass state. It also has lease interests in Oklahoma, Kansas, Arkansas and Tennessee. The company was incorporated in 1916 and has paid varying dividends since 1919. Capital consists of $3,985,700 of $25 par stock. There are no bonds or preferred stock. Recent firmness in the shares is attributable to the raise in the price of western Kentucky crude oil last week.

Lone Star Gas was handled in moderate volume around 53, unchanged from the average level of the latter part of last week. Pittsburgh Brewing sold again at 5, the figure to which it rallied last week on announcement that the permit of the Liberty avenue plant had been restored. Suburban Electric Development was quiet and unchanged at 18.

Byrd and Trio Battle Way Across Atlantic Amid Dense Fog

Radio Proves Big Advantage

CHAPTER XXIX.

I HAD studied thoroughly the velocity and directions of winds over the Atlantic. So far as I could learn, no reliable data had been procured upon the winds' strength at high altitudes, but several meteorologists of the Weather Bureau as well as I believed that a plane could fly high enough to get strong winds from the west, even though there might at the same time be easterly winds on the surface.

So that whenever any of us took the wheel we flew as high as possible. If we could have the winds with us, we should easily make Europe; if not, we should fail far short of it, if Noville's estimate of the gasoline on hand was correct. I also knew, from Dr. Kimball's weather map, which I had spread before me on the chart board, that I now was flying at first on the southern side of the storm area and later would be flying on the northern side of a high-pressure area.

Safety Depends on Winds

Our safety depended upon winds behind us. It was a strain, I must admit. Only an aviator knows what it means to fly 2,000 miles without seeing the ground or water beneath. I doubt whether any other plane had ever flown blindly for half that time.

One notation in the log stated: "Ice is forming on the plane." We were at a dangerous temperature. That was to be expected, flying two miles high in fog, because the temperature decreases considerably with altitude. I passed a note to Acosta warning him to make every effort to get out of the clouds, which he very soon did.

Acosta and Balchen deserve great credit for their fine work during this critical period.

During the night, between turns at the wheel, Bernt Balchen had some sleep. As he moved restlessly in the restricted space from time to time, his foot nearly touched the handle of the gasoline dump valve. I watched him closely without awakening him, because if his foot should kick that, we should lose all our precious fuel.

Several times I took my turn at the wheel and realized what a strain Acosta and Balchen must have been under, steering for hours entirely by instrument.

Terrifying Views

During the day we had some terrifying views: there were fog valley's dark and sinister, hundreds of feet beneath us. At times distant cloud peaks took on shapes and colors of rugged Arctic land and mountains.

I found myself again thinking of Maitland and Hegenberger. So confident was I that they would arrive safely I sent them a radio of congratulations. They got both messages we sent them!

I had another bad time when I discovered a leak near the bottom of one of the main gasoline tanks. We had provided against such an emergency by bringing along some of a patent putty-like substance. This nearly stopped the leak but a little of the precious fuel kept dripping out.

Along toward morning the leak stopped of its own accord. This I told myself could mean but one thing: that the fuel had got down to the leak. This meant further that we had only fuel in the four wing tanks. It checked up with what Noville had told me about over-consumption of gas, and confirmed the disagreeable fact that we should never reach the other side.

I was living again now the same sort of time we had over the Polar Ocean, from the bad oil leak, only this time I had the responsibility of three men's lives instead of one. That sort of makes a big difference.

I could have been saved much anxiety had I only known that the leak was somehow stopped from inside the tank after all, and that the tank was far from empty at the time.

In Dense Clouds

At one time Noville reported he had a message from a steamer somewhere beneath us and our signals were so clear that we must have been very near it. We were in dense fog at the time.

He asked for conditions of weather at the surface and the ship reported fog. We got its position and a radio bearing. This showed we were on a certain line and indicated we had been right in judging that the wind had drifted us to the south.

A little later we had the position of another ship, the S. S. Paris, and this information put us somewhere on another line. Where the two lines intersected was our exact position. We were certain then that we had been drifted to the south, so instead of bucking winds to go to Ireland, we set our course directly for Finisterre, France. Indeed, by allowing ourselves to go with the wind we had made better speed toward our objective. I could now, however, allow for the wind to a nicety and knew exactly where we would hit land, although we were still several hundred miles away.

We must give Noville credit for this radio information. It was a remarkable feat and another triumph of science at which to marvel. Surely our whole flight was worth while, to demonstrate this one thing alone which we had been so anxious to prove.

Our position indicated that we had been assisted by the wind about 30 miles an hour all the way from Newfoundland. We had made splendid speed.

I wanted to find out the worst about the gasoline, so asked Noville for an exact estimate. He came to me in a few minutes and wrote:

"I made a mistake in the first estimate. We have enough gasoline left to fly to Rome."

"Wish I had known that 18 hours ago," I wrote back.

The error was caused, I think, by the fact that the tail of the plane was somewhat down on account of the weight and the gasoline gauge did not register accurately.

Not long after that in the afternoon of the second day, we came out of the thick, solid cloud layers in broken cloud fields and we could see the water beneath us. Though it was fairly rough it was a most welcome sight. We could see it only every now and then, but that was enough to allow me to get my drift and to verify the fact that the wind was blowing from the northwest.

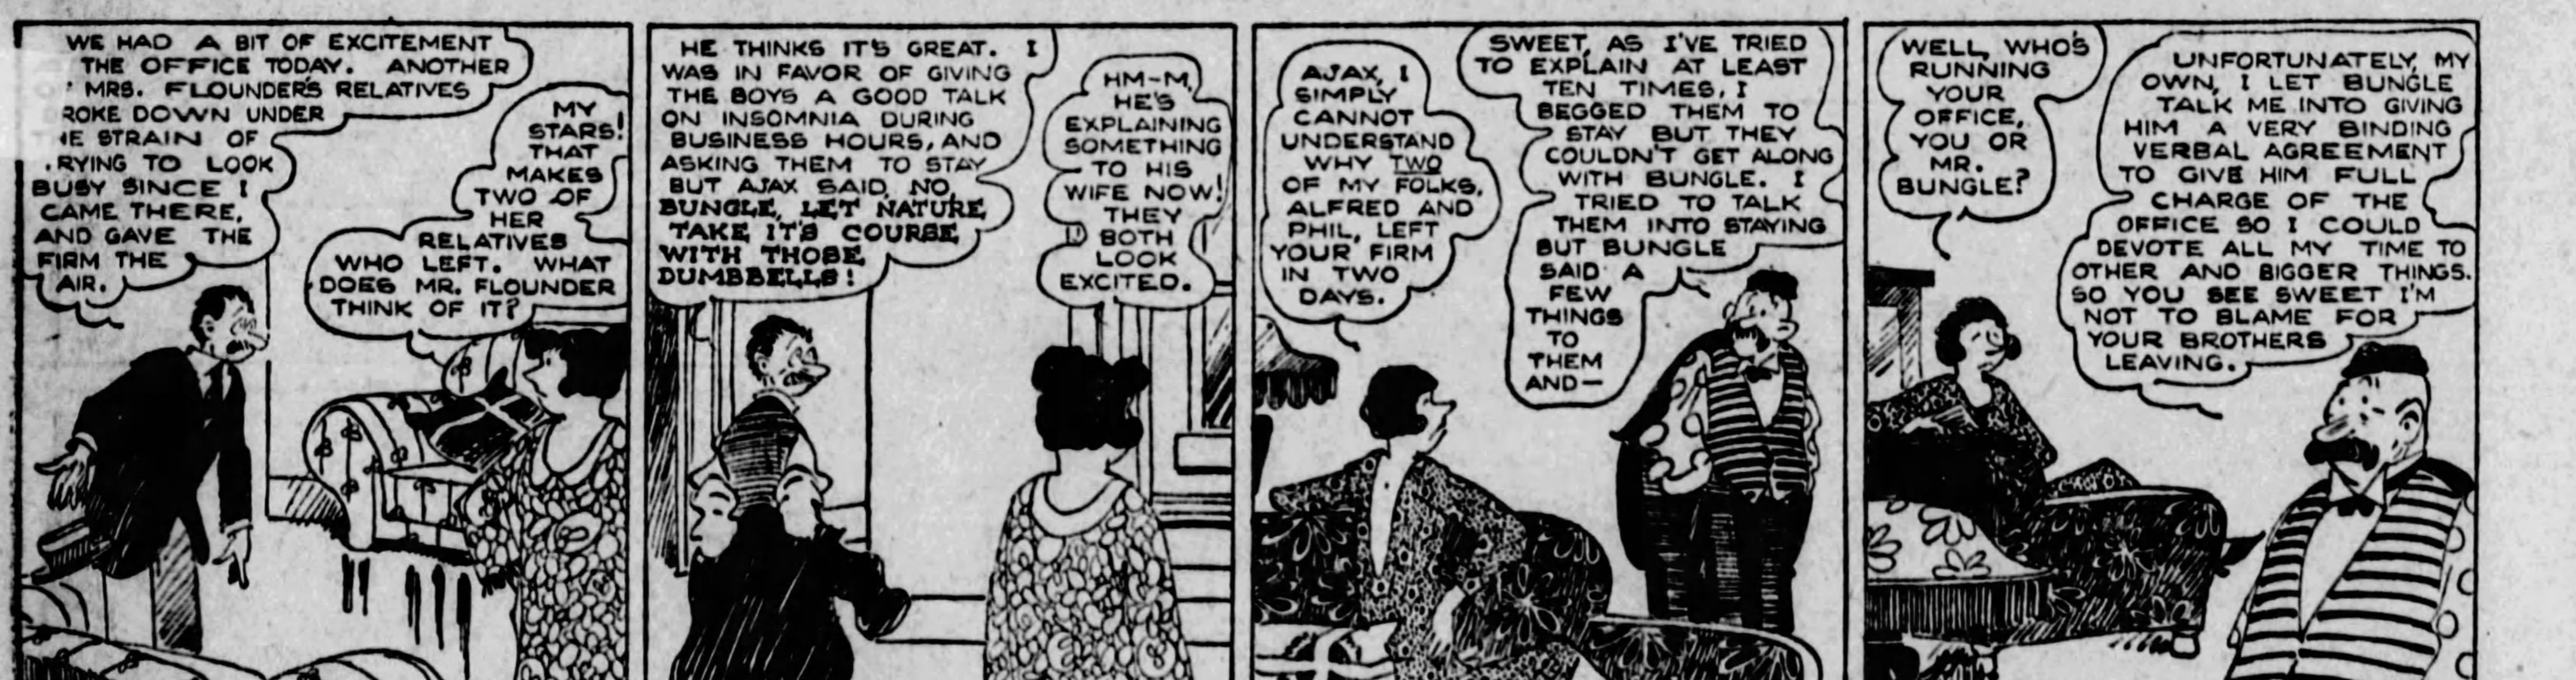
THE BUNGLE FAMILY

Guiltless Ajax



WE HAD A BIT OF EXCITEMENT AT THE OFFICE TODAY. ANOTHER OF MRS. FLOUNDER'S RELATIVES BROKE DOWN UNDER THE STRAIN OF TRYING TO LOOK BUSY SINCE I CAME THERE, AND GAVE THE FIRM THE AIR.
MY STARS! THAT MAKES TWO OF HER RELATIVES WHO LEFT. WHAT DOES MR. FLOUNDER THINK OF IT?
HE THINKS IT'S GREAT. I WAS IN FAVOR OF GIVING THE BOYS A GOOD TALK ON INSOMNIA DURING BUSINESS HOURS, AND ASKING THEM TO STAY BUT AJAX SAID, NO, BUNGLE, LET NATURE TAKE IT'S COURSE WITH THOSE DUMBBELLS!
HM-M, HE'S EXPLAINING SOMETHING TO HIS WIFE NOW! THEY BOTH LOOK EXCITED.
AJAX, I SIMPLY CANNOT UNDERSTAND WHY TWO OF MY FOLKS, ALFRED AND PHIL, LEFT YOUR FIRM IN TWO DAYS.
SWEET, AS I'VE TRIED TO EXPLAIN AT LEAST TEN TIMES, I BEGGED THEM TO STAY BUT THEY COULDN'T GET ALONG WITH BUNGLE. I TRIED TO TALK THEM INTO STAYING BUT BUNGLE SAID A FEW THINGS TO THEM AND—
WELL, WHO'S RUNNING YOUR OFFICE, YOU OR MR. BUNGLE?
UNFORTUNATELY, MY OWN, I LET BUNGLE TALK ME INTO GIVING HIM A VERY BINDING VERBAL AGREEMENT TO GIVE HIM FULL CHARGE OF THE OFFICE SO I COULD DEVOTE ALL MY TIME TO OTHER AND BIGGER THINGS. SO YOU SEE SWEET I'M NOT TO BLAME FOR YOUR BROTHERS LEAVING.

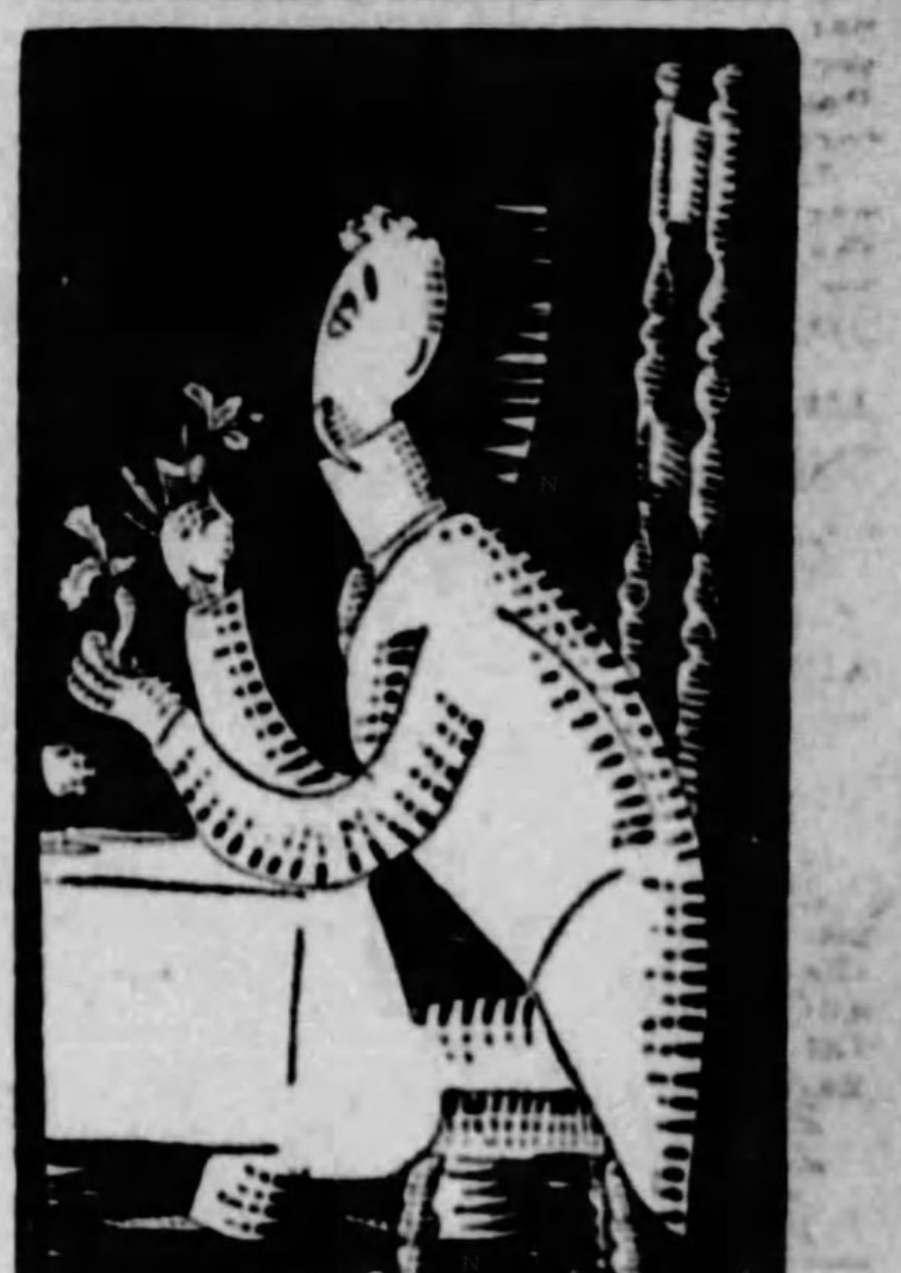
"LONDON SOCIETY"

Or Mr. Hardcastle's Friendly Attentions, and What Came of Them.



SYNOPSIS—Elsie De Vaux, happy with babe, fears her husband, Sir Harry Doncaster, is worried about business. Whale oil! Sir Harry is flushed with the prospect of seeing his old childhood lollypop, Miss ——, who has just returned from gay Vienna, and sent word to Harry to call around at the first opportunity.

"THE STILL SMALL VOICE."

HOW absent-minded Sir Harry was!—how abstracted!—he seemed to toy with his dainty food, although Elsie had been all morning preparing his favorite dish—spinach croquettes.

"Never mind," said the gentle little wife to herself; "he has some business perplexity that he is too thoughtful to annoy me with," as she passed her hand caressingly over his perspiring brow. Suddenly and without warning, he cried, "Don't do that!"

The puzzled wife, now ashen, stepped back, and in doing so accidentally—

"The Federated City" Implies Community Unity

"The Federated City" was the title of an address before the building and loan council of the Chamber of Commerce by Morris Knowles, vice chairman of the Metropolitan Commission. The topic of his discourse was support for the amendment to the state constitution which would permit the adoption of the Metropolitan plan of government for Allegheny county.

"The Federated City"—We like the term. It suggests expansiveness, unity, strength. It connotes a totality of civic endeavor toward a broad community interest, such as Mr. Knowles said warranted the support of all citizens of the county in making the Metropolitan plan possible for the great district, the minor divisions of which have so much in common.

As Mr. Knowles pointed out, voting for the adoption of the amendment does not mean the immediate setting up of a Metropolitan district. It merely means that the way will be opened to legislation toward that end. The matter of a charter for the district is one for later consideration.

"The Federated City"—a blazon of enlightened progress! Get behind the Federated City—the city embracing all of Allegheny county, but preserving the independence of all of its cities, boroughs and townships.

How to Protect Workers

Protect Them from Competition Until They Get Started.

Listen to the marvelous production of the silk worm. The poor little caterpillar, born to be boiled alive in its cocoon, produces a thread far stronger in tensile resistance than any steel thread that men can make of the same size. These little worms produce every year 93,343,999 pounds of raw silk, of which this self-indulgent country consumes 80 per cent.

The silk industry supports two million families in Japan, 142,271 workers in the United States. Silk goods manufactured in the United States alone are worth more than $650,000,000.

In discussing the tariff remember that France leads in silks and velvets, because a wise Frenchman, years ago, after the "Field of the Cloth of Gold," forbade the importation of silks entirely, saying, "If Frenchmen want to wear them, FRENCH WORKERS SHALL MAKE THEM."

If Mohammed Returned

Kemal Would Hear from Him.

If Mohammed came back, retaining his ancient power, he would doubtless perform a few miracles that would be unpleasant and annoying for Mustapha Kemal, his successor as boss of Turkey.

Having taken the fez from the heads of Turks and veils from the faces of Turkish women, Kemal now decides that the mosque must have pews, no more squatting on mats or rugs, in bare feet.

And the droning of the Koran by the Mohammedan priests will be supplemented by organ and choir music.

The next step probably will be to equip the picturesque Muezzin on top of the minaret with a loud speaker or broadcasting outfit.

It is amazing what the will of one man can accomplish.

Where French Fought

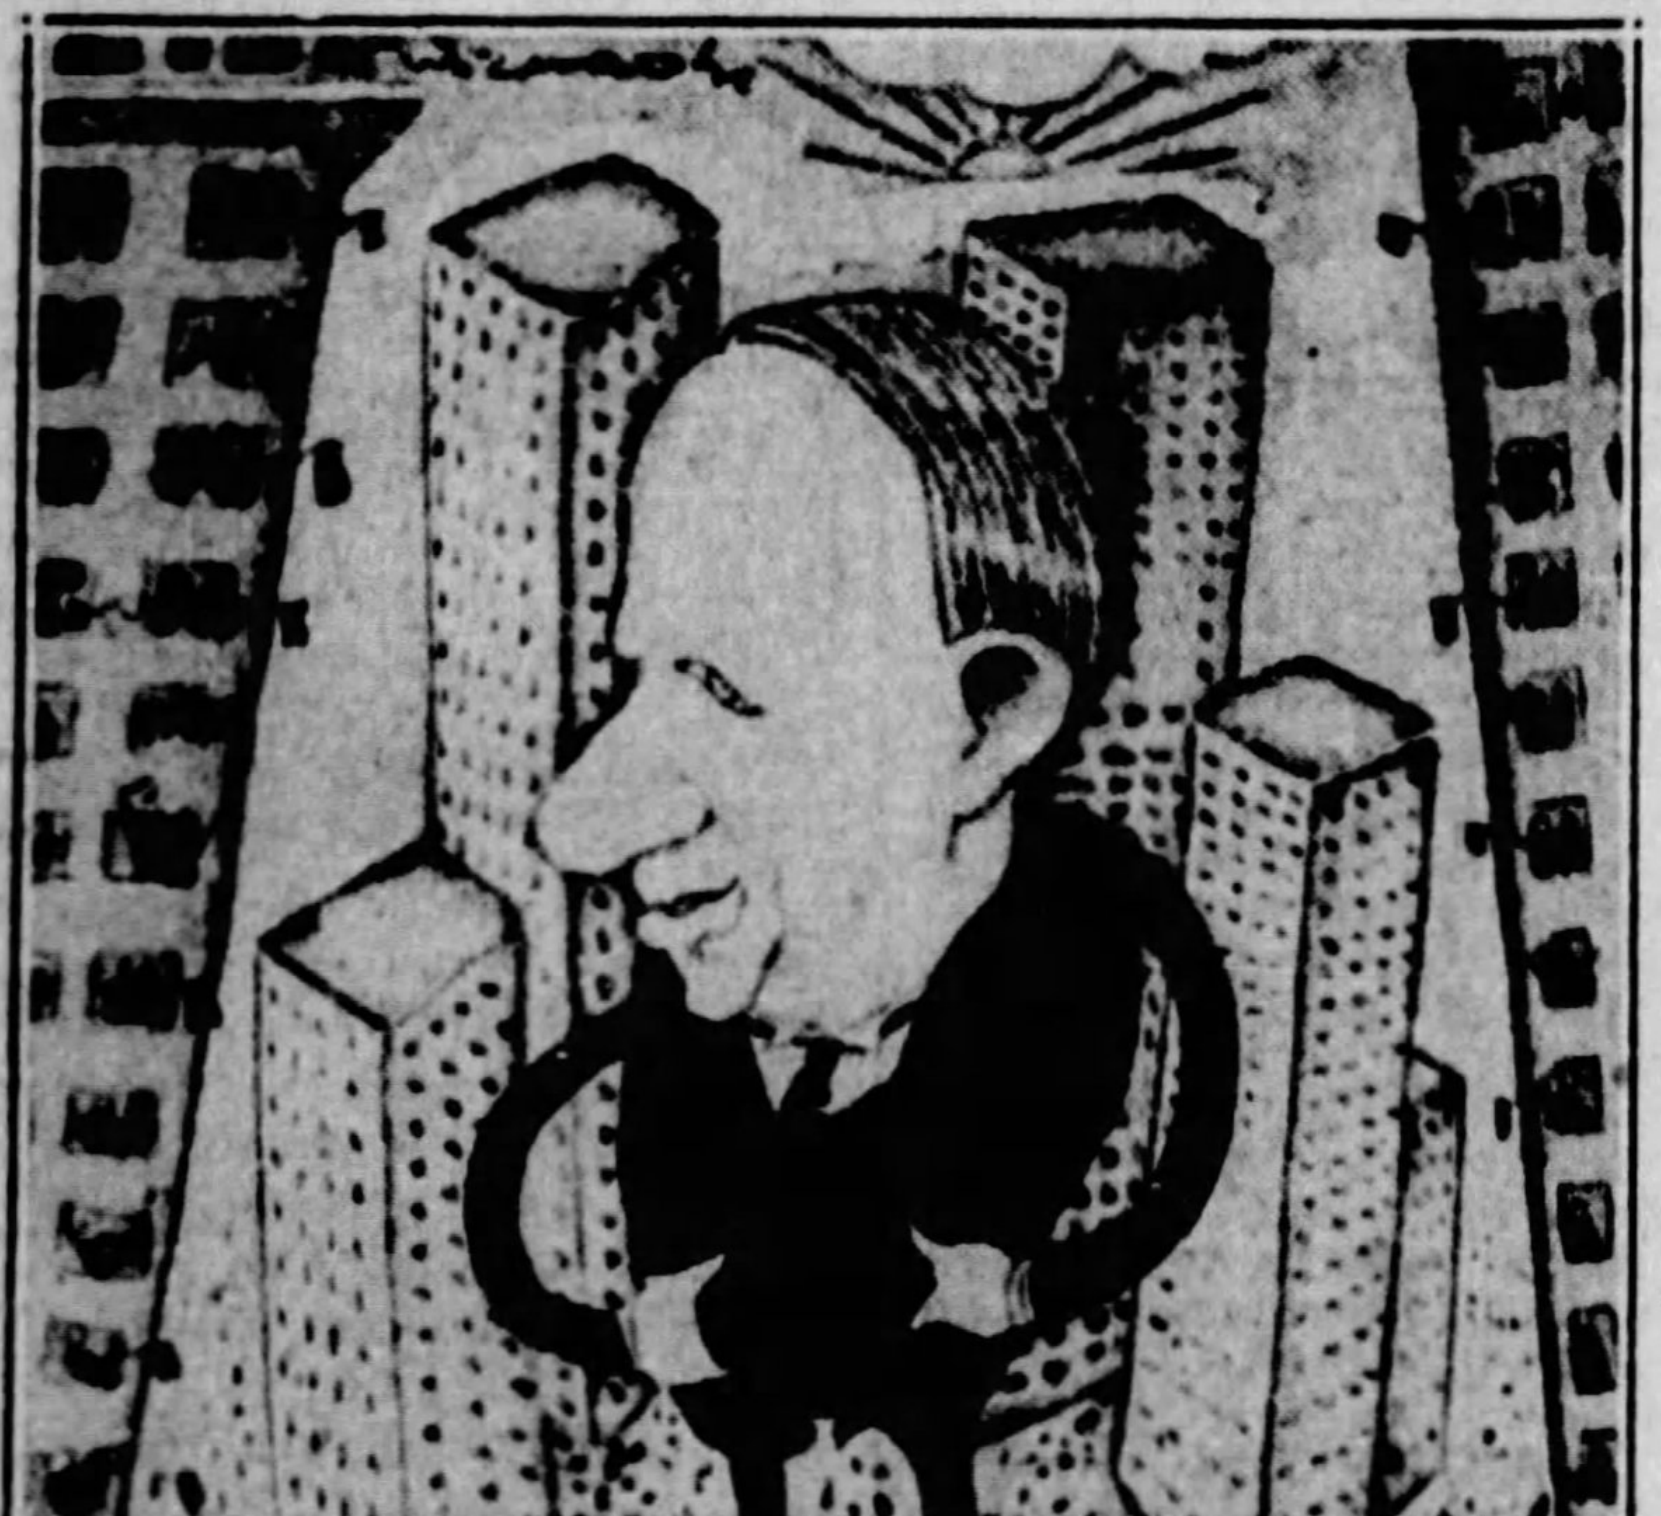
Romance Dwindles.

A railroad tunnel under the Pyrenees, connecting France and Spain, would amaze and interest the great Charlemagne, who took his soldiers over the Pyrenees and left his best man, Roland, to split the rock with his sword, and die, blowing his horn in the Pass of Roncesvalles.

They were sentimental in those days, the "Song of Roland" tells you in interesting old French that when Roland died 100,000 men fell to the earth in a faint.

Britain Sees Al Smith

But Sees Him Inaccurately.



A BRITISH CARTOON OF GOV. AL SMITH

To see ourselves as others see us is sometimes enlightening, even an inaccurate picture may convey information.

This picture shows how the British "Sphere" sees Gov. Al Smith, of New York, with skyscrapers for a background, mobs at his feet.

Those that know the real picture of Gov. Smith know how different it is from this. Different ears, different forehead, different face. But our own ideas of foreigners are at least as ridiculous as the foreign idea of our prominent men.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

The Winds

"Will you kindly explain to me why the earth's rotation affects the direction of the winds as it does?" —H. S., Reedsburg, Wis.

I CAN give you an elementary explanation. It is this: The atmosphere rests upon the solid globe, and, as a whole, turns with it in its rotation from west to east. Consequently the air like the ground beneath it has an inertial motion eastward. But this motion of both air and earth is swifter on the equator than at points north or south of the equator. It diminishes regularly with distance from the equator, and at each pole it vanishes, or becomes zero.

But, the air being fluid, its particles are free, as those of the solid earth are not, to move among one another, giving rise to currents and winds flowing, or blowing, in various directions over the earth's surface.

The Earth and the Winds.

Now, suppose that, as shown in our picture, a wind, blowing directly north, starts near the equator, at the point marked "A." The air constituting the wind has, to begin with, the same eastward motion as that of the ground, which, at the equator, is about 1,000 miles per hour. But as the wind continues northward it passes over regions of the solid surface where the speed of rotation is increasingly less than that which the moving air carries with it, by inertia, from the place where it began to blow. Consequently, to an observer on the surface beneath the wind comes not directly from the south but from the southwest, and its course over the earth is turned toward the northeast. Follow the long arrow from "A" and you will perceive how as the wind pursues its northward way the rotation of the earth continually shifts its direction eastward or toward the right hand of its original course. If it should get as far as 60 degrees north the surface under it would be moving only 500 miles an hour eastward, while it would still retain much of the higher eastward motion that it had, with the ground as its place of beginning.

A corresponding arrow from the point "A," south of the equator, shows how a wind starting toward the South Pole is similarly shifted into a southeastward course, veering in this case toward the left instead of the right hand of the observer.

Now, go to the point "B" near the latitude of 60 degrees north, and consider a wind starting from there to blow directly toward the equator. In this instance the air composing the wind moves from a region where the eastward movement which it shares with the earth is only 500 miles per hour, and it moves toward a region (the equator) where the rotary motion is a thousand miles an hour. Consequently as the wind goes southward the surface beneath it is moving eastward at a rate increasingly faster than its own inertial movement in that direction. Thus the course of the wind is changed so that it comes from the northeast.

On the south side of the equator, a similar wind is shifted into a course from the southeast. In a general way it may be said that these winds coming from the direction of the poles are composed of cooler, heavier air than those starting from the equator so that they blow near the surface, and as they approach the equator from opposite sides they form two westward-blowing currents, famous as the "trade-winds" because of the aid they afford to navigators.

Your Vacation

DOES a hurried, anxious spirit predominate when you start on your vacation?

In your automobile trip do you lay out a course which means a stiff run to keep up with planned arrivals?

And then do you race through the country more intent upon making time and avoiding accidents than you are upon seeing the beauties of nature?

When you reach home from such a trip, you wonder why you seem less rested and fit for work than you were before you started.

It should not be difficult to explain this after-effect.

Driving all day at fast speed is hard on the eyes, mind and nervous system.

You are physically tired at the end of each day, but under the impetus of covering ground you cannot relax sufficiently.

It is not until you return home that it comes over you, the strain that you have been through.

A real vacation has no far-away goals each day, but permits stopping at places of interest, when and as the mood dictates.

A well-mapped-out route, casual, easy progress, time to digest the new ideas presented, and you come home a new person.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

Praise of Folly

WHILE some frothy bit of folly
Can defeat old melancholy
And can leave a trail of laughter in its wake,
Who would let his days be gloomy
When the world is all so bloomy
And its joyousness is wholly his to take?

Wisdom is a solemn matter
And at times mere idle chatter
Can do more to make the hours
swift and gay
Than the lore of saints and sages
Who have blessed earth through all the ages
Since the dawn of learning flowered in Cathay.

For the need of something merry,
Something that is light and cheery,
Wakes and stirs sometimes in every human heart,
So I sing the praise of folly,
Laughter, song and all things
jolly;
May no wisdom ever come to take their part!

Great Passages from the Bible

The Ten Commandments

(Exodus 20; 1-17)

AND God spake all these words, saying,

I am the Lord thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage.

Thou shalt have no other gods before me.

Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth:

Thou shalt not bow down thyself to them, nor serve them: for I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me;

And shewing mercy unto thousands of them that love me, and keep my commandments.

Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain; for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain.

Remember the sabbath day, to keep it holy.

Six days shalt thou labour, and do all thy work:

But the seventh day is the sabbath of the Lord thy God: in it thou shalt not do any work, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, thy manservant, nor thy maidservant, nor thy cattle, nor the stranger that is within thy gates:

For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them is, and rested the seventh day: wherefore the Lord blessed the sabbath day, and hallowed it.

Honour thy father and thy mother: that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.

Thou shalt not kill.

Thou shalt not commit adultery.

Thou shalt not steal.

Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbour.

Thou shalt not covet thy neighbour's house, thou shalt not covet thy neighbour's wife, nor his maidservant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor anything that is thy neighbour's.

Tales that are Told

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

SOMETIMES you can reform a guy, and other times you can't. Well, for instance, there was a prison where they had a course of lectures for convicts that expected maybe to be let out inside of the next year or so. The warden brought in men of all kinds of trades and professions to talk vocational guidance and such things.

After each lecture the convicts was allowed to ask questions, so they could learn something about whatever kind of a job they was interested in. One speaker was a banker, and he explained all about the kind of jobs trustworthy men could get in banks, and how money could be saved a little at a time by depositors. After he was through and questions was started one big bum spoke up and says:

"I been in here a long time, mister, and I've missed out on a lot of progress. Is anything been invented yet that will cut through them manganese steel vaults without making too much noise?"

What Brand?

IN THE club a man was holding the attention of a small knot of men by announcing the fact that he could tell any brand of spirit by just tasting it.

Several glasses of different spirits were put before him, and each time he gave the correct answer.

Then suddenly a youthful member offered him a glass containing a white liquid and asked him to taste it.

"Good heavens, you idiot!" shrieked the other, after the first sip. "That's petrol!"

"I know," came the imperturbable answer; "but what brand is it?"

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 30.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Out in the weltering heat and a teamster stopped to hold a pack of ice to a horse's head and it somehow brightened the day. And in a midtown block a fire was raging, the first I have witnessed in a year.

In the afternoon to call on Annette Harvey and her mother, once neighbors in my home town, and also to see Gene Markey, although a Chicagoan, is a gazetteer for quaint eating places in Manhattan. Afterward for a benzine buggy ride with Pat and Bob Brinkerhoff.

To dinner with Albert Keller and his wife and Josef Stransky, the orchestra leader, and his wife, and afterward we looked at the Keller collection of porcelains, bronzes and primitive paintings, probably the most unique for its size in the world. So to bed.

There is the story of a vaudeville trapezist whose act was climaxed by swinging out over the audience suspended by the back of his head. He had been opening shows for years with never a round of applause. One evening while he was in the climax of his act a famous man entered the box of the theater. There was a wild burst of applause. And the acrobat took a bow.

Another little story with a wisp of drama concerns one of the most beautiful actresses on the stage. She was divorced from her husband but remained friends. Several years later he married again and telephoned to ask if he might bring his bride to call. She acquiesced and selected the oldest and most unbecoming frock she owned. This she donned, removed all cosmetic artifices, arranged her hair in a most unattractive manner, and greeted her visitors. She explained afterward it meant only a few moments in her life and she desired to make her wifely successor as comfortable as possible.

A famous New York landmark passes in the tearing down of the red-bricked Spanish flats facing Central Park on Fifty-ninth street. They were the first apartment houses in a city that now has little else. The flats were 10-storied, and a big hue and cry arose that such tall buildings were depriving the city of sunlight.

Theaters here are now built without stage boxes. In another day boxes were considered the choicest locations, even though they only gave a quarter view of the stage. In late years they are occupied chiefly by out-of-town dramatic critics and friends of the management who think they should see the show free.

Writing for the movies looks easy, but either it is about the most difficult of all writing or requires a special gift. The Private Secretary

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

In a sense the private secretary occupies a position that is closer to you than that of any relative.

If she is an observant person she not only knows your habits and your little peculiarities, but she knows the nature of your mind, she knows about what you will do under certain circumstances.

Sometimes her advice is more valuable to you than would be that of a wiser person.

A good private secretary is loyal to you and to your interests. She looks after details that would be annoying to you.

She has her own life to live and her own interests to conserve, but in every way she places your welfare above her own.

If you have such a good and faithful secretary you are to be congratulated. It is she who will be responsible for much of your efficiency.

A man at the head of things must keep his eyes, necessarily, upon the main issues, and he is apt to overlook the details, but often it is these details that are of extreme importance.

If you forget some engagement or fail to answer a certain letter it might cause you considerable embarrassment. It is she who prods your memory and sees to it that these things are not overlooked.

Often she is one of the most important employes in your establishment and her place could not be easily filled.

It is well, therefore, to respect her personality and to pay her well. That you will always treat her courteously is assumed as a matter of course, but we are all too selfish and sometimes are inclined to impose upon those nearest us simply because they are always faithfully at their post.

Let her ever be reminded that you regard her with human sympathy and respect.

If possible let her have some little interest in your business in order that she may still more regard your affairs as her own.

It may not be necessary or inevitable for you to fall in love with her, but at least you can treat her with all that respect which is due a woman.

Because of that womanly mind she perhaps understands you in some ways better than you do yourself, and because of her womanly intuition she can see pitfalls before you to which you would be blind.

She can have a genuine interest in your welfare without being in love with you. She can admire and respect you and still love some one else.

Who can tell how much the ways of business have been smoothed and bettered because of the private secretaries!

As with every other relation in life your relation with your private secretary cannot be kept wholesome unless you yourself are decent and straight.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

JOHN R. VOORHIES, of New York Board of Elections, 99 years old, says even if it brings the whole feminine world down upon his head he must say that women are derelicts of humanity, shunning the great work for which God put them on earth.

He is probably right. But it would be interesting to note how many children would be born if the men bore them. And it is also interesting to note that at the time the children are born about nine-tenths of the fathers stay away from home.

A few visits to lying-in hospitals might make these critics a little softer toward our sex.

A prize fight in the summer time, when there is a nice cool porch at home, with a radio in one corner, might explain a slight drop in gate receipts. The women like their fights this way. They get all the thrills of a close-up view, and none of the bluggy part that so distresses them.

Twins born on the day of the fight were named Tom and Gene. By their father you may be sure. Wouldn't it be comical if they grew up to be preachers and thought prize fighting an unholy spectacle? By the time they have grown everybody will feel just about that way.

The "one-man university" says: "The silhouette is the fashionable figure, so get your rubber suits, ladies, and begin to perspire—unless you have common sense."

But a fat woman is what nobody loves, and no woman wants to have common sense as long as that is true. Women with too much common sense always trail along at the end of the procession.

Men wish all women had common sense. Then they would be safe from invasion. They are scared to death of the women with pretty faces, lovely clothes and insinuating manners. They mow them down.

A high school girl came home the other day and told her mother: "My mathematics professor is in love, mother, with a woman who likes cave men. So he has taken up handball."

If he doesn't win on that, there is still ping pong and croquet.

Thanks, Judge!

A CHICAGO judge has ruled that no woman may equitably sue another woman for alienation of a man's affections unless the evidence is unmistakable that the woman sued went out after her prey with harpoon and a dragnet, so to speak.

In other words, according to the judge's view, man is normally the hunter in this sport and woman the hunted.

This is a view which does credit to the judge's chivalry and at the same time voices his admiration for man, strong-willed man. What becomes of Shaw's "superman" theory—which is woman? Or of Byron's "Man's love is of man's life a thing apart; 'tis woman's whole existence"? But we go along with the judge. He has paid a compliment to the male sex.
